COUNTY APPROVES MARINA PROJECT

A $25 million marina-resort project on Richardson Bay at the foot of Waldo Grade won a unanimous green light from the Marin County Board of Supervisors late yesterday. (See other supervisors stories, page 12.).

The go-ahead from the supervisors means that developer Tom E. Nowell Jr. will be able to send his plan on to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission with the county's official blessing.

The bone of contention in the plan, drawn up by architect Robert A. Bennighof, was the size of an island which would contain an 800-room hotel, convention facilities and multi-deck parking building.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker was holding out for a three-acre island at most, whereas Nowell and his attorney, Albert Bianchi, argued that a nine-acre island should be included as an option to take before BCDC.

Bianchi, who had appeared before the planning commission and the supervisors a half dozen times, arguing long and eloquently for some flexibility on the size of the island, was speechless for a change when Supervisor Peter H. Behr suddenly agreed to either the three or the nine-acre island.

"It's time to move ahead in Richardson Bay," said Behr. "We're not doing the applicant justice." He moved that the county support the Nowell pro-

Another Deputy For West Marin

Crime-plagued West Marin residents yesterday won approval from the Marin County Board of Supervisors for an additional deputy sheriff and patrol car.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos had asked for two additional deputies and two more cars on Aug. 27, but could not get the necessary four votes to authorize the expenditure from contingency funds.

H estimated the cost for the 10 months remaining this fiscal year at $11,550. Supervisors dropped a propsal that the cost be met by forming a police services area.

Mountanos' request was backed by petitions signed by 282 West Marin residents, and by supervisors Thomas T. Storer, William A. Gnoss and Peter H. Behr. Board Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen, however, held out for only one additional deputy.

Supervisor John F. McInnis said the burglaries in West Marin that sparked Mountanos' request "are almost regular, predictable developments" throughout the county. Nothing has changed since the supervisors' budget hearings, in which Mountanos' request for five additional deputies was rejected, and nothing more should

SUGGEST ALTERNATIVE

Demos Won't Back Tax Relief Package

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Senate Democrats flatly refused today to accept Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed $250 million tax relief package, but offered an alternative.

The Democrats, following a caucus, said they would support a proposed constitutional amendment to give tax relief to homeowners only through a rebate on the state income tax.

Sen. George Miller Jr. of Martinez immediately went to confer with Reagan and to determine whether the governor would put the subject of tax relief before the current special session of the Legislature.

Sen. George Moscone of San Francisco, the Senate's Democratic leader, said there was "no chance at all" of passing Reagan's plan in the Senate.

Reagan said he needed some assurance of approval of the plan before he would put the subject on the special session agenda.

Moscone said the virtually unanimous feeling was that Californians would get more tax relief if nothing is done by the Legislature. In that case, the state sales tax automatically drops back from five cents on the dollar to four and a half cents on Oct. 1.

Moscone said it was possible to get Miller's proposed constitutional amendment on the Nov. 5 election ballot — where it would compete with the Watson initiative to drastically cut taxes.

The GOP governor already had a basic pledge of support from Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh and fellow Democrats in the lower house, although Unruh was growing impatient that Reagan hadn't put the item on the agenda. Only the governor can determine what subjects are considered during a special session.

Reagan proposed a $250 million tax relief package Monday but yesterday said he was willing to accept any reasonable plan "so long as it results in giving this money back to the tax-

WALLACE PROTEST — While American Legionnaires hold their noses in displeasure, an anti-Wallace demonstrator holds a sign in New Orleans today, calling the third party presidential candidate: anti-Catholic, anti-black and anti-Jewish (UPI Telephoto).

Wallace Would Seek More Vietnam Arms If Talks Fail

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — George Wallace told cheering American Legionnaires today that if the peace talks in Paris break down "we should seek recourse to the military strength in this country." (See page 8 for other political stories.)

The third party presidential candidate said, as he has before, that he is hopeful that an honorable peace can be negotiated. But if it fails, he said, "We have only one recourse: that is to rely on the Joint Chief of Staff, and if they believe we can win the war militarily, then I'd like to see us win it with conventional weapons and bring our boys home."

The former Alabama governor was the first of three presidential candidates scheduled to address the national convention of the American Legion.

Wallace said the United States must remain strong as a safeguard against another world war and that this nation "should never be second in national defense."

The auditorium where Wallace spoke was heavily guarded by Secret Service agents and local police. A heavy guard held back a crowd at New Orleans International Airport when the third party candidate landed in his chartered plane, and the highway into the city was cleared of traffic.

GEORGE WALLACE
Before Legionnaires

Uniformed guards were stationed periodically along the way.

As Wallace reached the auditorium, some 35 pickets marched outside the building, chanting "Help the black struggle. Boycott Wallace."

The former Alabama governor made no mention of those pickets in his speech, but brought cheers from the veterans when he renewed his demand for law and order, denounced rioters and looters as "trash" and defended the nation's police.

He said that federal authorities have been unwilling to prosecute what he called "anarchists" who take to the streets. One reason, he said, is that "they have been too busy trying to jail some law abiding school board member who doesn't want to bus children from one part of town to another."

Again denouncing rioters, he said, "I'm sick and tired of that kind of trash having so much influence over the affairs of our country."

Senate Passes Military Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent to the White House today a bill authorizing $21.6 billion for military procurement in the current fiscal year.

It was approved by voice vote with eight members on the floor. The House passed the compromise measure yesterday.

The measure includes new authority for sales of surplus weapons to local police and fire departments, along with approval for purchase of planes, ships, weapons and other military supplies.

The spending total is $759 million under President Johnson's request.

Actual appropriations to implement the measure are included in a $72-billion money bill scheduled for House consideration later this week.

The authorization measure lists among its major items $8.3 billion for planes; $7.2 billion for research and development programs and $3.5 billion for missiles.

Government Asks Restraint In Auto Price Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers said today the nation's auto manufacturers could and should exercise prudent restraint in pricing their 1969 models.

Arthur M. Okun gave his views in a letter to Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., who had written Okun to say he had been disturbed by speculation 1969 car prices would be raised substantially.

Magnuson, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, said he had heard the increases might be as much as $200 a car and added: "Such price increases would cost the American consumer close to $2 billion next year."

Okun replied that he agreed with Magnuson that car prices "will be one of the most crucial pricing actions in coming months."

"In 1967," he pointed out, "factory sales of passenger cars were about $20 billion, about 2½ per cent of our gross national product."

Okun said the auto industry has had a good record for price stability in recent years, and the wholesale price index for cars is still almost exactly at its 1957-59 average.

However, there was "a regrettable departure from the earlier performance" last year when a 2 per cent price increase was put into effect, Okun said.

It was hard tosee how this was justified, Okun wrote, in

Hamilton Airman Slain In Incident Bound By Secrecy

A young Hamilton Air Force Base security policeman was shot and killed early yesterday during an incident cloaked in secrecy by base officials.

The victim, dead of a bullet to the brain, was A/1C Wesley A. Dorman, 20, of Phoenix. Base officials said he was shot while standing on the flight line near 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron headquarters.

A second security policeman, Airman John E. King, 20, of West Plains, Mo., was held in jail at the base today in connection with the shooting. No formal charges have been filed, officials said.

News of the fatal incident was not released by base officials until they were questioned this morning about rumors of the shooting. They would not say whether it was considered a crime or an accidental shooting.

HAVE WITNESS

Base officials say they have a witness, Airman Christopher J. Autieri, 21, also with the security police.

Security police would not comment on the case other than to state that all three men were on foot and on duty at the time of the shooting.

The weapon was a .38-caliber Smith and Wesson revolver, standard side arm of the security police, officials said.

DIES AT HOSPITAL

Officers declined to state how long the airmen had been assigned at Hamilton.

Dorman's body is at the California Funeral Home in San Francisco, pending funeral arrangements. Dorman died shortly after arriving at Letterman Hospital in San Francisco.

Plane Blows Up, Crashes In Storm

NICE, France (UPI)—An Air France Caravelle jet exploded into a ball of fire today and crashed into the Mediterranean while the pilot fought to make an emergency landing at Nice. All 95 persons aboard the twin-engine jet were killed.

The pilot radioed Nice airport that one of the engines was on fire barely 10 minutes from Nice on the 30-minute flight from Ajaccio, Corsica, and that he would try to make an emergency landing. Fire engines lined the airstrip but the plane never arrived.

A fisherman braving stormy waters off the French Riviera reported hearing a "violent explosion." Witnesses in St. Raphael said they saw a "ball of fire" in the sky just west of where the wrekage was found, 12 miles from Cap D'Antibes.

Charred bodies and burning debris were found floating in the choppy waters. Helicopters and rescue ships searched the sea for bodies, but were hampered by high waves, strong winds and poor visiblity.

IN-FLIGHT BLAST

After examining the wreckage French aeronautics authorities said the plane must have exploded in flight.

It was the worst air disaster since a South African Airways Boeing 707 crashed at Windhoek, South Africa, last April 20, killing 123 persons.

It was not known immediately if any Americans were aboard but the plane was reported laden with tourists. Authorities said 13 of the 89 passengers were children. There were six crew members.

The plane, the latest model Caravelle, was only recently put into service. But the pilot radioed shortly before the crash one of the engines attached alongside the tail was on fire. Then there was silence.

It was the seventh fatal Caravelle crash and brought to nearly 400 the number of persons who have lost their lives in the crashes.

SIX LOST

Six Caravelles had been lost with 300 passengers' lives before today's crash. The first came in 1960 only a year after introduction of the 500 m.p.h. plane. More disasters followed in 1961, 1963, 1964 and twice in 1967.

A Sud Aviation spokesman said the 246 Caravelles built since the first prototype flew in 1955 have flown a combined total of three million hours, the equivalent of 342 years.

The plane, regarded as the bright star of the French aviation industry, has been sold to 34 different airlines.

Enemy Attack May Be Opening Of Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — Fighting raged northwest of Saigon today as the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese drove deep into the city of Tay Ninh, and American forces killed 95 enemy troops in repelling a night attack on a unit of the 25th Infantry Division.

Farther northwest along the Cambodian border, North Vietnamese gunners shelled a dozen allied camps, but casualties and damage were reported light. U.S. intelligence officers foresaw no immediate attack on Saigon.

Moving under cover of a heavy mortar attack, enemy infantrymen charged the 25th Division camp 14 miles southeast of Tay Ninh. They were driven off after nearly three hours by a massive barrage from armored personnel carriers, helicopter gunships and artillery. Six Americans were reported killed and 22 wounded.

Meanwhile, South Vietnamese paratroopers and militiamen skirmished with hundreds of enemy soldiers who invaded Tay Ninh, a key provincial capital 45 miles northwest of Saigon.

AP correspondent John T. Wheeler reported from the U.S. combat center in Tay Ninh that a Communist defector told interrogators there were three regiments—about 7,000—in and around the city.

Wheeler reported some firefights during the afternoon, but the big battle for the city of 200,000 evidently had not yet started. Enemy troops frequently pulled back when South Vietnamese paratroopers moved in.

Wheeler said some North Vietnamese troops coming into the city asked directions from local residents, particularly to the big church which is the headquarters of the Cao Dai religious sect.

All major installations in Tay Ninh, including the U.S. compound, were reported in allied hands. "It looks like everything

Sex Education Is Approved

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Despite threats of lawsuits, the board of education voted 5-2 today to launch a sex education program in San Francisco public schools.

Doctors and others testified the material to be used was appropriate for young children.

However, some revisions were made. These included dropping the controversial sex education film series "Time of Your Life" and inclusion of an option for parents to keep their children out of sex classes if they chose.

Board member Edward Kemmitt, who opposed the program, said he thought it would undermine moral values. He said he wants God back in the schools.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Pledges To Lead

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Rev. Ralph David Abernathy says he will lead Atlanta's striking garbage men in major demonstrations despite a court injunction ordering the men back to work.

Abernathy, successor to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said he may call for support from across the country for the 1,000 garbage men in their bid for a $2.50-per-hour minimum pay.

"We've got some good friends in this country. We don't have to march by ourselves," Abernathy declared, speaking at a meeting of more than 400 persons held at an Altanta Negro Baptist church last night.

Abernathy and union leader Morton Shapiro, negotiator for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union, were among the 80 persons arrested earlier in the day in demonstrations involving the strike. Abernathy and Shapiro were released later on bond.

Nab Refugees

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong authorities arrested 33 refugees from Red China last night and some 400 more refugees were reported waiting in fishing junks just outside Hong Kong waters for a chance to sneak into the British Colony.

The 33 refugees, picked up by marine police yesterday, said they were part of a group of about 400 who fled Red China almost six weeks ago.

Efforts of the refugee armada to enter Hong Kong territory were thwarted a number of times by marine police patrols, but the 33, on four Communist junks, apparently slipped into British waters in darkness.

Resigns Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Henry Clineschmidt, Redding, has resigned from the state Fish and Game Commission, Gov. Ronald Reagan's office said yesterday.

Clineschmidt, a Democrat, told Reagan in a letter he was quitting the unsalaried post "with a great bit of regret" to devote more time to his family and business, a Redding cocktail lounge.

The Gold Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — France's hush-hush sale of gold to the United States in June, a humiliating act for the government of Charles de Gaulle, turns out to have been far larger than speculation indicated.

The upper limit of guesses as to the size of the sale, necessitated to bolster the suddenly wobbly franc, was about $100 million.

But the Treasury Department's quarterly report on monetary gold transactions, released yesterday, showed the actual figure to be $220 million.

The report also showed that despite the big purchase from France the United States experienced a $21.9 million outflow of gold during the second quarter.

School Racism

SUMMIT, Ill. (AP) — All schools remained closed in this suburb southwest of Chicago today following sporadic incidents of racial trouble triggered by a fight between Negro and white high school pupils.

Forty-one persons had been arrested since noon yesterday.

Mayor George Janchenko imposed a 1 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew for youths 17 and under after the first fights yesterday involving 500 pupils at Argo Community High School. He also ordered an 11 p.m. to dawn curfew for adults.

Mystery Bomb

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police and FBI agents are probing the twisted remains of an Army recruiter's car for clues in the fifth mysterious explosion in less than two weeks in the metropolitan area.

An explosive charge that police said was set off under the fuel tank of the auto, left a crater in the concrete and shattered five windows at an Army recruiting station last night on the city's northwest side. No one was injured.

Leader Fined

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — Adolf von Thadden, leader of West Germany's rightist National Democratic Party, today drew a suspended one-month jail sentence for drunken driving.

A Hannover court also fined him $566.25 payable to the Federation Against Alcohol in Road Traffic. In addition, the party leader had his driver's license suspended for three months.

Racism Charged At Berkeley

BERKELEY (AP)—The University of California has been accused of "white racism" by four unions which claim discrimination in employment and enrollment on the Berkeley campus.

The unions are two locals of the Teachers Association, representing faculty members, librarians and graduate students, and two locas of the Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

They declared at a news conference yesterday that less than 2 per cent of the university's faculty members and less than 3 per cent of the students are from minority groups.

A legal baseball must weigh not less than five or more than 5.25 ounces.

Protest Closing

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Some 500 students, including whites and Negroes, gathered at the University of Illinois Student Union last night to protest a 7 p.m. closing, then left without incident.

A rampage in the Illini union lounges Monday night resulted in the arrest of 300 Negro students on charges of mob action.

Police who made the arrests after the students refused to leave the building at closing time also confiscated such makeshift weapons as screwdrivers, metal rods and pipes, said Chief Harvey Shirley of the Champaign police.

Arson Blazes

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Arsonists touched off three fires in Syracuse last night and early today. Three more arrests were made as the city underwent its third night of disturbances in predominantly Negro sections.

Fire officials blamed arsonists for three fires, two in empty houses and a third at a grocery store.

Said he could not discern any said he could not discern any cause for the disturbances, even after talking with residents of the neighborhoods involved. He said most of the troublemakers were teen-agers.

Ray's Fund

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray, charged with murder in the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has received $25,000 that will be applied to his defense.

William Bradford Huie, a novelist from Hartselle, Ala., said he has paid that much to Ray so far for the rights to Ray's life story.

Bishop Rescinds Ouster Demand

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bishop C. Kilmer Myers yesterday rescinded his demand for the resignation of the Very Rev. C. Jilian Bartlett who had resisted his efforts to have the Episcopal Church Diocese of California take over Grace Cathedral.

Bartlett is dean and chief administrator of the cathedral atop Nob Hill which has a congregation of 900 and financial problems.

Myers had moved towards having the diocese take over the church's administration. After hearing from a lay and clerical committee, he took back his demand for the resignation and told his staff to restore the separate and independent status of the church.

Hanoi Held Favorable To Kennedy Plan

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — The North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks has told a group of American academicians they were interested by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's proposal last month to end the war, one of the professors said yesterday.

Jonathan Mirsky, director of the East Asian Center at Dartmouth College, said the North Vietnamese were "scornful" of the American delegates in Paris because they speak "in the words of President Johnson."

The Kennedy proposal, Mirsky said, attracted the North Vietnamese because it imposed no conditions for a bombing halt.

Kennedy, in a speech at Worcester, Mass., suggested an unconditional bombing halt and the eventual withdrawal of all foreign troops from South Vietnam as among steps toward ending the war.

Mirsky was one of five professors who met with the North Vietnamese for 13 hours last Thursday and Friday at the invitation of David Dellenger, a lader of U.S. antiwar groups. Dellinger has been to Hanio an has met with North Vietnamese officials.

Harriman To Hanoi: Victories Propaganda

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said today allied forces since Aug. 18 have inflicted "crushing defeats" on the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong despite Hanoi's boasts of "great military victories."

The American diplomat told Ambassador Xuan Thuy at the Paris peace talks that "further defeat, destruction and death" await the Communist command if it persists in pursuing a goal of total military victory.

"Hanoi's spokesmen would have the world believe that your forces are winning victories," he told Thuy. "This propaganda has concealed from the North Vietnamese people the awful truth that the leadership in Hanoi is prepared to bleed its youth endlessly in an attempt to discredit the government in Saigon and to weaken the resistance of the South Vietnamese people to aggression."

Harriman said the battles in the past 24 days had cost the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong 12,000 dead. He charged that the North Vietnamese were playing the leading role in the battles of South Vietnam.

Turning to mortar and rocket attacks on Saigon and other cities, Harriman said the shells have fallen only on "innocent civilians while they slept." He called such attacks "acts of terror and of wanton and random destruction, impossible to defend."

It was one of Harriman's strongest denunciations of the North Vietnamese since the talks began here four months ago.

Thuy replied by calling again on the United States to halt bombing and all other acts of war.

"Only yesterday President Johnson again declared that there will be no total cessation of bombing aaginst the North without reciprocity," Thuy continued "We repeat: There can be no reciprocity."

Thuy spurned suggestions that Hanoi is waiting for a change in U.S. presidents in the hope of achieving concessions.

DEPUTY

be done until next eyar's budget hearings, insisted McInnis.

The number of burglaries in West Marin rose 360 per cent in the past two years, Mountanos previously reported, yet some days he can deploy only one deputy of the six in the area — which comprises almost half the area of the county.

One West Marin woman in the audience said a nearby house had been burgled seven times in the past year.

Storer cited the "enormous influx" of tourists as reason enough to have more than the six deputies now in the area. He said an estimated 2.4 million persons visit West Marin annually, "and it can only get worse."

Yosemite National Park gets 2,380,000 visitors a year, he noted.

It has been seven years since the number of deputies was increased in West Marin, added Storer.

Mountanos promised the supervisors he would be back before them "again and again" to build up his force "so we can at least provide a certain plateau of protection."

Kettenhofen suggested that Mountanos report back to the supervisors in 60 days on the results of having an additional deputy. If another deputy proves warranted, then perhaps one more should be hired then, Kettenhofen said.

$40,000 In Art, Jewels Taken In Carmel Burglary

CARMEL (UPI) — Burglars pried their way into the home of a Carmel artist last night and made off with paintings and jewelry worth an estimated $40,000.

Mrs. Rosemary Miner, a well-known seascape painter, told police she returned from a visit with friends in Pebble Beach and discovered the theft.

She said the burglars passed up furs, silverware and costume jewelry for more valuable items, including a star sapphire ring, pearl necklace and pearl earrings. The unframed paintings were stored in an attached garage.

Hearing Held On Robbery Attempt

James Melvin White, 18, of Marin City, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of attempted armed robbery and assault with a deadly weapon Sept. 2 in Marin City.

Bail was set at $10,000 and White was ordered to appear again today to plead to the Sept. 2 charges and to be arraigned on a charge of burglary Monday in Marinwood.

White was arrested Monday in Tiburon after the burglary report. He had been sought by deputies for a week in connection with the shooting and attempted robbery Sept. 2 of Diller Ryan, 18, of Ross.

Ping Pong Balls, Plane Make History

IUKA, Miss. (UPI)—A plane loaded with ping pong balls made aviation history in 1928, piloted by H.T. "Dick" Merrill, a native of Iuka.

Merrill completed a round trip trans-Atlantic flight to England in a plane loaded with the balls in 1928. He made the flight with Pitcairn Aviation, now Eastern Airlines.

Richardson Bay Marina Wins Supervisors' Backing

posal with either the three or the nine-acre island.

Zucker stuck tenaciously for the smaller island to the bitter end. "This does obvious violence to the county's master plan for Richardson Bay," said Zucker. "Seems to me we are setting a dangerous precedent."

He asked for a delay until studies have proved that the smaller island will not provide enough land area on which to dump the spoils from dredging Saucelito Canal.

"You're denying by delaying," Chairman Kettenhofen told Zucker.

Behr's motion, seconded by Thomas T. Storer, carried unanimously.

Architect Bennighof presented a model of the proposed project, which show pier structures jutting out into the water near the present heliport. A motel, commercial establishments, a high rise building, and a transportation center for boats and a helicopter pad are planned on the pier structures. A separate island to the south would be connected by walkways to form a landlocked lagoon whose water level could be controlled.

"It will be $25 million project," beamed Nowell.

The supervisors authorized the planning director to negotiate with other property owners along Richardson Bay, including George Kappas and Donlan J. Arques, to see how much of the spoils from the Saucelito Canal dredging can be dumped on their land. In the negotiations, the planning director should also enforce any zoning regulations that are being violated, supervisors declared.

is under control," said one officer. But a senior U.S. officer on the scene said the enemy had penetrated farther into the city than he did in another big attack Aug. 17, when a sizable portion was held for 30 hours.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese began pushing into the city about 1:30 a.m. under cover of a 200-round mortar attack that hit the city and a U.S. artillery base on the northeastern edge. Militia units in the city put up only light resistance or none at all.

At the same time, according to reports from South Vietnamese headquarters, as many as 500 enemy troops attacked a cluster of three hamlets on the southeastern and southwestern outskirts of the city. Other enemy troops knifed into Northeastern suburbs. These were roughly the areas attacked last month.

South Vietnamese paratroopers were rushed into the city and American jets and helicopter gunships went into action. The invaders were digging bunkers and throwing up fortifications to hold on.

U.S. intelligence officers said the Viet Cong possibly was trying again to draw allied troops away from Saigon's defenses to open the way for an attack on the capital.

The Viet Cong drove a pie-shaped wedge into the heart of Tay Ninh in the August attack but withdrew after more than 200 of the invaders were killed.

Murder, Penalty Trial Delayed

The penalty phase of the Joaquin Antonio Herrera murder trial was delayed this morning in Marin Superior Court when a prosecution witness was unable to appear. The trial was recessed until this afternoon.

Herrera, 23, of San Rafael, has been found guilty of first degree murder in the Jan. 9 slaying of Ronnie Lee Washburn, an Army cook, in San Rafael, and has been found legally sane at the time of the crime.

The penalty phase will determine whether Herrera is to serve a life sentence or die in the gas chamber.

Quiet Siren

VENLO, The Netherlands (UPI)—The fire brigade of nearby Sevenum got new quarters, but is not allowed to use the siron on the roof because a local chicken grower threatened to sue the municipality on grounds the siren would mortally frighten his chickens. The old siren, which is farther away from the chicken farm, will continue to serve the town.

The industry has continued to enjoy profit rates well above the average for all manufacturing, Okun said, asserting that total profits after taxes have more than doubled in the last eight years.

"The automobile manufacturers have an opportunity and a responsibility to the American people to contribute to the restoration of the price stability so essential to our continued prosperity," he said.

Enrollment At College: 6,000

Enrollment at College of Marin swelled yesterday to 6,000 students, an 8 per cent increase over last year's fall enrollment of 5,562.

Accounting for the increase was a big jump in the number of full-time students, those taking 12 or more units. This group rose 17 per cent, 3,085 as compared to 2,280 last year.

The number of students registered for less than 12 units decreased from last year, according to Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students. These figures are 652 students taking 9 to 11 units (854 last year) and 2,263 less than nine units (2,428 last year).

Diamond said that a few more late registrations are expected.

Negro Sit-In Closes School

EAST PALO ALTO (AP) — An all night sit-in by up to 150 Negro students forced the closing of Ravenswood High School in predominantly Negro East Palo Alto today.

Malcolm Taylor, white principal of the school which is 75 per cent Negro, said he sent some 1,000 students home shortly after the opening bell "when it became obvious to me that classroom instruction would be a waste of time today."

The sit-in group, which is demanding the resignations of Taylor and four white teachers, remained outside the principal's door.

Disarmamnt Of Police Discussed

Police disarmament alone may not be enough to counteract civilian alienation caused by increasing militancy, a group of Marin County residents have agreed.

Meeting Tuesday night in the Tiburon offices of designer Charles Warren Callister, the group did not suggest any other measures which should be taken to counteract the increasing alienation, Callister reported.

Five Marin City leaders of the Black Panther Party met with the group of 17 residents to discuss problems of police militancy, Callister said.

George Gaines, a Black Panther captain, told the group that many citizens in the black community view the police as an enemy rather than as someone appointed to protect the black citizen, Callister said.

Gaines said that armed police have ringed Marin City for the past few days, apparently expecting an outbreak of violence following the conviction Monday of Panther leader Huey Newton, and that submachine guns have been aimed at his front door, Callister reported.

The group agreed that they and other Marin County residents Must work together to remedy the situation, Callister said.

A committee was named to visit the sheriff's subdivision in Tiburon upon the invitation of Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and Capt. William Johansen.

The group also named committees to ask the Tiburon and San Anselmo city councils to discuss the question of who sets police policy at open city council meeting.

Callister said those two councils were chosen because residents from the two communities were at the meeting.

The group's next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Sept. 24 in Callister's office, 1865 Mar West, Tiburon.

TVs Valued At $1,250 Stolen

A $950 color television console and a $300 black and white portable television were taken in a daylight burglary at a San Rafael home Monday, police reported today.

Felice R. Shatz, 206 San Marino Drive, reported the television sets were taken between 10:15 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Police said entry was gained by forcing a window.

In a second burglary, six to eight ounces of gold nuggets and gold dust, worth $500; a $75 gold wedding band, a $60 gold nugget necklace, a pair of garnet earrings and about $30 in loose change were taken from the home of Bruce M. Whittaker, 64 Martens Boulevard, between 8:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday.

The items were taken from bedroom drawers by someone who gained entry through an unlocked sliding glass door, police said.

TAXES

payers in the form of at least some measure of reduction or relief in their property tax payments."

After deciding on tax relief, Reagan said he then would determine the prospects for passing a bill to aid the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District. The district needs $144 million to finish building its 75-mile transit system in San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

If chances for approval appeared good, he said he would add the BART question to the agenda, too.

The package Reagan announced Monday would return $155 million in general property tax cuts; trim tax bills of senior citizens another $20 million; provide $40 million in business inventory tax relief, and eliminate the tax on household furnishings such as refrigerators and television sets.

The average homeowner in Los Angeles County would save $47.75 a year under such a plan if all the savings were passed on by the counties to the taxpayers, Assembly tax experts estimated earlier this year.

The same family would save only $13.90 from a lower sales tax levy, the experts said.

School Alarms Plan Reviewed

Marinwood fire commissioners will sound out the Dixie School District on the possibility of installing a direct fire alarm hookup between the firehouse and the schools.

At a meeting last night in the firehouse, commissioners voted to send a letter to the Dixie District trustees to see if they are interested.

The fire commissioners also recommended that a new $190 refrigerator be purchased for the firehouse. The recommendation will go to Marinwood Community Services District directors.

Commissioners also authorized the fire chief to replace two fire extinguishers which were stolen from the firehouse sometime during the latter part of August.

The work force of the Panama Canal was at its peak in June, 1913, when 43,350 persons were employed.

Trustees Plan Sex Education Parent Survey

Parents will be surveyed to determine if they want their children to watch sex education films at school, Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees, decided last night.

According to Supt. Clarence B. Larison, everyone at the meeting favored sex education, but some wanted the school to provide it, some preferred watching the series — called "Time of Your Life" and produced by KQED-TV — together with their children in the evening.

He said the survey would be completed before the station's daytime presentation, aimed at school viewing, begins Sept. 24.

Children whose parents did not want them to see the films would be excused.

The trustees also set the rate of pay for substitute teachers at $30 a day. No action was taken on proposed revisions of school board policy.

Civil Disaster Period Ends In Berkeley

BERKELEY (AP) — City Manager William Hanley ended Berkeley's week long ban on loitering and public assembly yesterday, partly defusing a rally of protest from young activists in the university city.

The rally was held as scheduled, however, with protests against police and demands that the law be changed so that the city manager could not again declare a "state of civil disaster."

Hanley had proclaimed the emergency during the Labor Day weekend after two nights of violence in which a policeman was shot and wounded and a building under construction was dynamited.

An estimated 175 persons jammed into the city council room and a like number listened over loudspeakers outside as protesters were allotted 40 minutes to air their views.

Jack Bloom, leader of the Independent Socialist Club, told the city council that even though the ban on gatherings had been lifted, activists demand that the law which makes possible the declaration of a state of civil disaster be repealed.

Two Policemen Fired After Panther Shots

OAKLAND (AP) — Two white policemen charged with shooting up a Black Panther store-front headquarters were fired yesterday by City Manager Jerome Keithley.

Keithley acted after Police Chief Charles Gain signed complaints against Richard V. Williams, 28, and Robert W. Farrell, 26, both of whom have been members of the force since 1965.

Bullets from a squad car had riddled the black militants' empty headquarters early yesterday morning.

The patrolmen, jailed and then released on $3,000 bail each, were ordered to appear before Municipal Court Judge Martin Pulich today for arraignment on felony assault charges.

Chief Gain said the men were on duty, in uniform and had been drinking.

The Panther headquarters is in the same west Oakland area where a white policeman was killed, another wounded, and Black Panther leader Huey Newton was shot and arrested last Oct. 28.

His trial, at which the prosecutor asked for a first-degree murder conviction, ended Sunday night with a verdict of voluntary manslaughter. He was acquitted of trying to murder the second officer.

The shooting yesterday began at 1:30 a.m. when witnesses said a police car paused in front of the Panther headquarters and fired a volley. They said the car went to the end of the block, turned around, and came back to fire another volley.

Mrs. Margarita Ramos, awakened by the shots, said she saw two officers firing from the patrol car.

No one was injured, as the headquarters on the ground floor was unoccupied.

Youth Is Booked On Auto Theft

A 16-year-old Forest Knolls boy was in Juvenile Hall today on felony charges stemming from a car theft Monday, sheriff's officers said today.

Officers said he stole the car of Anne G. Titus of 75 Manor Road, Fairfax, from Montezuma Way in Forest Knolls and was captured by a deputy in San Rafael a short time later.

While searching the lad, officers said, they found a bag of marijuana in his boot.

The board also agreed to present a proposed amendment to the articles of incorporation to the general membership for approval, she said.

Mulford Calls San Francisco Commuter Tax Not Legal

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Don Mulford, citing an opinion from the legislative counsel, said yesterday there is "no question" that San Francisco's new commuter tax ordinance is illegal.

The Piedmont Republican sponsored a new state law designed to stop San Francisco from placing the tax on commuters who work in the city and live in the suburbs.

Mayor Joseph Alioto contends the law does not apply to his charter city. Officials of surrounding communities plan to challenge the tax in court.

Legislative Counsel George Murphy told Mulford in an opinion that he held "serious doubts" about the validity of any local tax aimed strictly at nonresidents.

"We find nothing in San Francisco's ordinance which serves to allay these doubts," Murphy said. "Both the state and federal constitutions guarantee persons the equal protection of the law..."

Airbus Helps Raise Backlog

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lockheed's board chairman says the new L1011 airbus has helped double the firm's backlog and provided a market potential of $10 million through the next decade.

Daniel J. Haughton told the Los Angeles Society of Financial Analysts yesterday that the trijet's success has caused the company to accelerate its growth goals. The aircraft can carry 250 to 345 passengers.

He said that in 1966 Lockheed "established a goal of doubling sales to $4 billion within 10 years. We have now accelerated this goal to the eyar 1974."

The firm now employs 93,000 Haughton said, and this figure is expected to top 100,000 in two years.

TV Watching In Line Of Duty

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — Police in this southwestern New York community will spend their evenings watching television—but it will be in the line of duty.

The city council yesterday signed a contract with All-Band Cablevision Co. to install six television cameras along the city's North Union Street business district so that one policeman seated at a desk in headquarters can keep an eye on the five-block-long area.

A spokesman for the company said the system, which cost the city $6,500 per year, probably was the first of its kind put to this use.

Pipe Band Told Not To Wear Knives

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The Secret Service has told members of the Charlotte Caledonian Pipe Band not to wear the traditional Scotsmen knives in their belts today during Richard M. Nixon's visit.

The band of bagpipe players usually wears the knives for decorative purposes.

Russian Visit Is Protested

NEW DELHI (AP) — Leading opposition members of Parliament shouted "Long live Czechoslovakia!" and "Russians go back!" today as Minister of State B. R. Bhagat welcomed visiting members of the Soviet Union's parliament.

The demonstrators included the leaders of the Freedom party, the People's Socialist party and the Hindu Jan Sangh party.

The Russians will talk for three days with members of the Indian parliament. Subjects to be raised by the Indians include the occupation of Czechoslovakia, arms sales to Pakistan, and broadcasts from Moscow which the Indians consider anti-Indian.

Trial Is Scheduled On Marijuana, LSD

A Marin Superior Court trial for Fred Mark Ambrozic, 30, of no fixed address, was set yesterday for the week of Nov. 4.

Little Hope Of Beating Reagan Veto

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Democrats had virtually abandoned hope today of overturning any of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan's 57 vetoes of bills passed during the regular session of the Legislature.

Democrats in the Senate prepared an effort to overturn at least one Reagan veto, of a bill to open California's presidential primary to all recognized candidates. But there was little or no chance of success.

Assembly Democrats gave up yesterday after losing the last of six selected bills they hoped to push through over Reagan's veto.

But it takes a two-thirds vote of 54 in the 80-member Assembly and 27 votes in the 40-member Senate to override the governor.

The Assembly voted 73-0 yesterday to adjourn the veto session as of noon today.

The Legislature hasn't overriden a governor's veto since 1946 when lawmakers pushed through a bill over the objections of a Republican governor, Earl Warren.

Reagan vetoed the presidential primary bill on grounds it would weaken party responsibility and possibly put some politicians in an embarrassing position by placing them on the ballot when they didn't want to be there.

Such a primary, as conducted in Oregon, would virtually preclude a Californian from running unopposed as his state's favorite son presidential candidate as Reagan did this year and other governors have done before him.

Proponents argued that voters should have a free hand to vote for their man for the nomination from a full field of potential candidates.

Education Board Calls Watson Plan Threat

Passage of Proposition 9 would threaten the ability of public schools to function, the San Rafael Board of Education said last night as it opposed the proposition.

Proposition 9 (the Watson amendment) would limit property tax levies to 1 per cent of market value and phase out the use of property tax revenues for schools and welfare over a five-year period.

Board members unanimously passed a resolution stating that passage of the initiative would be the end of local control of education.

It would cut property tax revenues without providing an alternative source of financing, and would require increases in personal income, sales and other taxes to replace the lost revenue, the board noted.

Board member Paul Jones said there would be chaos from a redivision of taxes.

Mrs. Alice Gately, representing the San Rafael Teachers Association, said passage "would virtually destroy the public school system, jeopardize jobs, salaries and educational opportunities."

The initiative also would limit the bonded indebtedness of school districts, cities and water districts to a total of 20 per cent of assessed valuation.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

NEW ADMINISTRATOR — Appointed Joseph Brighenti, a former teacher at Terra Linda High School, as administrative assistant at San Rafael High, succeeding Angelo Colombo, who asked for reassignment to classroom work.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Heard a report from Martin Parlan, principal of Laurel Dell Intermediate School, on the 1968 summer school session which was attended by 3,150 students from the high school and elementary districts.

COURSE OF STUDY — Heard a report from James B. Nelson, assistant superintendent of instructional services, surveying facets of curriculum and a proposal from Supt. John F. Plank that the district retain the present course of study for the 1968-69 school year. At the same time the staff will investigate changes that can be made under new legislation (George Miller Jr. Act) which gives the district greater control of curriculum, Plank said.

LEGAL ADVICE — Heard comment from Herman L. Childress that Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino, who handles school matters, is capable and the schools don't need an attorney of their own at this time. Pass Or Fail Grading Plan For Students

San Rafael High School students will have a choice of taking a pass or fail grade instead of the traditional A to F grading in selected courses.

The San Rafael Board of Education last night approved the pass or fail grading on an experimental basis.

The idea is to reduce the pressure on students and stress the intrinsic value of learning, explained Alan Ellsberg, principal of San Rafael High School.

Students who choose the pass-or-fail system must have permission of parents and they have one week to decide, he said.

Board Member Paul L. Jones said the system "if handled properly" can be effective," but also could be "out of laziness, a throwing of the time and course away."

Ellsberg said that although there wouldn't be regular grading, there would be "evaluation of the student just the same."

The pass or fail grading will be offered in the following courses, Ellsberg reported:

Business education, bookkeeping 1, 2, 3 and 4, business math, merchandising 1 and 2, notehand, typing 1 and 2, English, literature and writing, drama, home economics, foods 3 and 4, clothing 3 and 4, advanced clothing, social science, sociology and boys and girls physical education.

It also will be offered for girls physical education at Terra Linda High School, he said.

High Decibel Level Closes School

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The noise level in Westchester Elementary School, located directly under a jet flight line to International Airport, reached 104 to 112 decibels this summer. Decibels of 110 normally create pain to hearing.

The city board of education voted yesterday to close the 25-year-old school and transfer pupils elsewhere.

Dubcek, Moscow's Man In Prague, Closeted For Talks

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovak Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek met again today with Moscow's man in Prague amid reports of further Russian complaints that Dubcek's regime is not doing enough to check "counterrevolutionaries."

A small crowd that had waited for hours cheered Dubcek as he entered the meeting with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov, who came to Czechoslovakia Friday.

Premier Oldrich Cernik said last night he informed Soviet leaders in Moscow that "certain effective measures will be realized in our country which will have a favorable influence on the further development."

Apparently he referred to the reimposition of press censorship and a ban on formation of new political organizations. These measures await the certain approval of the National Assembly Friday.

The country's reformist liberal leadership has stressed, however, that the measures will be temporary and reassured the population there will be no departure from what one newspaper termed "Dubcek socialism with a human face."

In Communist Romania, whose independent-minded leaders have backed Czechoslovakia, British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart ended a three-day visit today. He and Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu urged an East-West detente for the sake of world peace.

Czechoslovakian government leaders assured their people last night that due process of law will be observed despite the Soviet occupation and appealed for the return of refugees from abroad.

There have been rumors of arrests since the Soviet bloc troops invaded Aug. 20, but the leaders' proclamation said: "We reiterate that we shall never allow deformations of violations of our legal code such as we were witness to."

This apparently referred to the nation's 20 years of Stalinist-type rule, which ended in January when Dubcek became the Communist party chief.

Dubcek and other top leaders proclaimed Tuesday night: "Personal immunity is guaranteed. . . . No one can be taken into custody except in cases foreseen by law and following the decision of the court or the prosecutor."

Strategy Set At Columbia

NEW YORK (AP) — ABout 200 students and others, led by Mark Rudd, the sparkplug behind last spring's Columbia University campus disorders, held a no-reporters-allowed meeting at the school last night to map "fall strategy."

Rudd, Columbia chapter chairman of the leftist-leaning Students for a Democratic Society, was chairman of the meeting, and told reporters no one would answer questions afterward.

Two reporters were later asked to leave an outside hallway as they waited for the meeting to end.

The case of Thomas Felix Barca, 19, of Mill Valley, was accepted yesterday for handling by Juvenile Court. Barca was charged with possessing marijuana and contributing to the delinquency of minors Aug. 11 in Bel Aire.

Viet Contradiction Upsets Humphrey

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey's press secretary said today withdrawal from Vietnam of a "temporarily assigned troop unit" hailed by the Vice President as verifying an earlier prediction of U.S. withdrawals, "in no way indicates any general American withdrawal of troops."

The statement was issued to newsmen by Press Secretary Norman Sherman after Humphrey held a lengthy discussion of the Vietnam situation with Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford.

"The withdrawal of the temporarily assigned troop unit from Vietnam as reported in the press yesterday in no way indicates any general American withdrawal of troops," Sherman said, emphasizing that the statement was being made by him, not the Vice President who had indicated earlier during a brisk walk through downtown Houston that he would have something to say on the matter.

Humphrey, smarting at a questioner's assertion last night President Johnson had "contradicted" his prediction of early troop withdrawal from Vietnam, waved a newspaper at a Texas audience and said, "It verifies what I said."

But the article reporting departure of a Marine regiment also said the unit had been on temporary duty, and had been replaced by another and that "the move was not part of a general withdrawal."

Asked why Humphrey had cited the newspaper article as verifying his prediction, Sherman said, "I don't have an answer to that question." The development occurred as Humphrey campaigned in the second day of his first national tour.

NIXON

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon today heard three powerful New York Republicans who lead the GOP's liberal wing pledge their wholehearted support for his presidental candidacy.

The Republican candidate sat smiling while New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Sen. Jacob K. Javits and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City rose one by one to tell newsmen they'll do all they can to elect the Republican ticked.

Pleased with the display of party unity following a big welcome last night, Nixon said New York's Republican leadership offers a wide array of talent and "we will be depending on that talent and that ability in the next administration."

Rockefeller, who's going to speak for Nixon in San Francisco Sept. 19, said, "The Republican party has closed ranks for victory for the entire party from top to bottom."

Also on the platform was Charles E. Goodell, the Republican congressman who has just been appointed by Rockefeller to the U.S. Senate to fill the seat of the late Robert F. Kennedy.

WALLACE

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Third party candidate George C. Wallace's attempt to get on the November election ballot in all 50 states has received a boost from the U.S. Supreme Court.

The court has agreed to hear an appeal of a three-judge federal court ruling which denied Wallace a place on the Ohio ballot. Justice Potter Stewart said yesterday the appeal will be heard on Oct. 7, the first day of the new session.

GEORGIA

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Negro attorney is challenging Democratic Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, heir to a political organization that dates back to the 1930s, in the state's first two-party primary today.

Talmadge supporters predict victory in his contest with Maynard Jackson, 30, but acknowledge that a light voter turnout —or even a heavy switchover to Republican ranks—could harm the senator's chances of winning a third consecutive term. The Democratic nominee will face Republican opposition.

The 55-year-old senator is a former governor who inherited a political machine fashioned by his father, the red-suspender-snapping Eugene Talmadge who won the governor's chair four times in the 1930s and 1940s.

WISCONSIN

MILWAUKEE, Wis., (AP) — Bronson C. La Follette, whose family name has wrought political magic in Wisconsin for much of this century, will test it in the November election against Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who swept up more than 56 per cent of the vote in yesterday's primary.

The turnout of 482,000 was the smallest in 24 years, since a total of 448,544 ballots was cast in the wartime primary of 1944, preceding President Franklin D. Roosevelt's election to a fourth term.

EQUAL TIME

WASHINGTON (Pa) — The House Commerce Committee approved today a suspension of equal time provisions of communications law that could clear the way for televised debates between presidential candidates this year.

The vote was 16 to 14.

The committee made only one minor change in the proposal, already passed by the Senate, to suspend the equal time proviso for candidates for president and vice president in the 1968 campaigns.

The three major radio-television networks have offered Nixon and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey time for face-to-face debates but hinged it on Congress lifting the requirements.

ARIZONA

PHOENIX (AP) — Roy Elson, an aide to retiring Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., will face Barry Goldwater in a battle for the seat vacated by the veteran legislator.

In yesterday's primary, Elson defeated Robert Kennedy, a state tax commissioner, and Dick Herbt, a corporation commissioner, for the right to face the former senator and 1964 Republican presidential nominee.

VIOLENCE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Chicago attorney working here with the President's commission on violence is himself a victim of street violence.

George Newton Jr., 37, told police four Negro youths beat and kicked him and took his wallet and wrist watch Tuesday night.

NIXON JOBS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch has named Frank Jorgensen of Hillsborough, a longtime campaigner for Richard M. Nixon, as head of the California executive committee for Nixon and his running mate, Spiro T. Agnew.

Finch, Nixon's acting California campaign manager in the 1968 presidential race, also named Robert D. Nesen of Camarillo as Nixon-Agnew California campaign director and Albert T. Harutunian Jr. of San Diego as chairman of California Citizens for Nixon.

CRANSTON

PASADENA (AP) — Alan Cranston, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, said the voting age should be lowered to 18.

He told Pacific Telephone Co. employees yesterday who recently turned 21, that young people should be able to vote on policies "that force them to offend their consciences by killing people in Asian jungles."

RAFFERTY

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican U.S. Senate candidate Max Rafferty says he has asked for U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel's support and received a "cordial reply" — but no endorsement so far.

Rafferty defeated Kuchel in the June 4 primary election for the Republican nomination. Alan Cranston, former state controller, is the Democratic nominee.

TRAVEL

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan plans to spend up to nine days outside California campaigning for Republican candidates this fall, beginning with a trip to Ohio and Illinois next week.

But Reagan repeated at his news conference yesterday he would exert most of his effort trying to elect the GOP ticket, from the Legislature through president, in California.

Reagan flies to Rockford, Ill., Sept. 18 to speak on behalf of Richard B. Ogilvie, the Republican candidate for governor, and then on to Ohio the next day.

Other out-of-state appearances tentatively are planned for Texas, the Rocky Mountain states and possibly North Carolina, Reagan said.

Fairfax Poll Is Readied

A questionnaire to gather opinions on many phases of life in Fairfax will be distributed to all homes on Sept. 21 to determine topics for the Dec. 7 Fairfax Congress for Community Progress.

Developed by a special committee, the forms will be distributed door-to-door by Fairfax Boy Scouts and should be returned by mail to a special post office box within 10 days of receipt.

Topics to be covered on the questionnaire will include civic services, business health, civic image, transportation, culture-recreation and youth-education.

Results will be tabulated and analyzed at the Oct. 21 meeting of the special committee headed by Jack Haley Jr.

Liquor License

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state Department of Alcoholic Beverages Control today announced transfer of an off-sale general liquor license to Silvio Bianchini, 175 Belvedere Street, San Rafael.

McCarthy Holds Off Any Humphrey Nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said today he will delay for at least three weeks any statement of whom he will support for president in the November election.

Defeated by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic nomination, McCarthy said at the close of the party's Chicago convention that he could not support either Humphrey or GOP nominee Richard M. Nixon.

Asked in an interview today if he possibly could back Nixon when he makes up his mind, the Minnesota Senator replied: "I don't think so."

McCarthy conceded in an informal news conference, after he had presided over a closed meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on African Affairs, that he is under "some pressure" to endorse Humphrey despite their disagreement over Vietnam policy.

But he said he is taking off shortly for a two-week vacation in Nice, France, and will have no statement until after his return.

McCarthy disagreed with Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, the Republican vice presidential nominee, that Humphrey is turning "squishy soft" on Vietnam in an effort to recapture support from Democratic dissidents who, Agnew said, wanted to end the Vietnam war with a U.S. pullout.

"I don't think his (Humphrey's) position has changed," McCarthy said. "He took a pretty hard line at the convention and I don't think there is much of a change in his position."

Bench Warrant

A bench warrant was issued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for the arrest of Judith Hinojosa, 23, of San Francisco, after she failed to appear for preliminary hearing on a charge of possessing marijuana Aug. 11 in Mill Valley.

Better Fire Protection Discussed

Possibilities of improving fire protection in East Corte Madera were dicussed last night by representatives of the Mariner Cove and Marin Estates homeowners associations with a town council committee.

The group decided to talk to Corte Madera Police and Fire Chief Frank L. Nelson about increasing the number of paid firemen. Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher said that the town's two paid firemen are aaugmented by a volunteer force.

Since the fire rating for the town is due soon, Usher said, the group decided not to make any decisions until this is available.

Usher and Councilman Harold B. Wagstaff represented the town at last night's meeting. Mayor Edward . Colthurst, the other member of the fire and police committee, was absent because of illness.

EARTHQUAKE

Still No Message From Family In Iran

There was a note of uneasiness in the voice of a San Rafael woman today as she reported she still hadn't heard from her daughter, son-in-law and three grandchildren, all of whom were in Iran when it was rocked by a series of devastating earthquakes 10 days ago.

"No one has heard. Naturally we're concernd," said Mrs. George W. Davenport of 20 Scenic Avenue.

Her daughter, Janice, and son-in-law John Bugbee, a civil engineer employed by the Shapour Drilling and Engineering Co. of Teheran, and the couple's three children, Tommy, 16, Teresa, 12, and Barbara, 8, flew to Iran several weeks ago.

Mrs. Davenport said she sent a letter to the U.S. Embassy in Teheran a week ago and has so far received no reply.

She said she does not know in what part of Iran the Bugbees were residing, since the only letter from her daughter, written before the earthquake, was on the Shapour company's stationery and did not give an address. The earthquake affected a large portion of eastern Iran.

Finances Discussed For Possible Merger

The operations and finances of the Tiburon and Richardson Bay sanitary districts were outlined last night at a two-hour joint meeting of both district boards.

The boards met to discuss the political and financial feasibility of consolidating the two districts as recommended in the Brown and Caldwell report on county sanitary district needs.

Edward P. Ward, Tiburon board secretary, said directors outlined pump station capacities, the number and duties of employees, contractual arrangements, assessed valuations and tax rates of each district.

Board members agreed that consolidation would be desirable if true economies and betterment of service could be achieved in the district, Ward said.

Directors also agreed they could merge or one board could take over the operations of the other district — with the consent of the district residents —if consolidation proved feasible, Ward said.

A preliminary outline of each district's contractual agreements indicated that contracts of either district could prove to be an unfair burden to the residents of the other district, Ward said.

Directors appointed Robert A. Sterling from the Tiburon district and Kurtis T. Webb of Richardson Bay district as a committee of two to study the proposed consolidation.

$3,900 Worth Of Jewelry Stolen

A San Rafael woman yesterday reported to police the apparent theft of $3,900 worth of jewelry from her home sometime in the past year.

Marie McNeil of 12 Amalphi Place told officers a $3,000 platinum solitaire ring, containing an emerald and two diamonds, and a $900 diamond earring were missing from a box in a closet in her home, along with $142.50 in gold coins.

Redwood Park Expected To Win Congress Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is on the brink of final action for a 58,000-acre redwood park in California.

The House is expected to give its approval tomorrow and the Senate is scheduled to act Monday.

The measure is a compromise, increasing acreage previously voted by the House but not including as much timerland as sought by conservationist groups.

Both the Sierra Club and the Save the Redwoods League, however, hailed the park as a workable compromise.

Officials of timber companies said the park would hurt the North Coast economy.

"The people who will suffer are the ones who don't have jobs any more," a spokesman said. "The people who own the land will be compensated."

Creation of the park will involve acquisition of more than 28,000 acres of land owned by timber companies. The rest of the area will be parks donated by the state.

In Sacramento, the plan has won praise from Gov. Ronald Reagan for one of its provisions.

But Reagan said yesterday he wants to study the 58,000-acre park plan and its direct effect on Humboldt and Del Norte counties before reaching any conclusions.

The governor said he was pleased the plan includes some 14,000 acres of land that would be traded to timber companies in exchange for redwood acreage in the park area.

Blinds Rustle, Thief Strikes

Paul B. Wiener, 35, of Cleveland, Ohio, told police he was asleep in his room at the Bermuda Palms Motel, 737 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, at 10:15 p.m. yesterday when he was awakened by rustling of the Venetian blinds.

He said he opened his eyes in time to see two bare arms reach in through the open window and grab a wallet which was on a desk top near the window.

He said he ran out the door but was too late to see a vehicle he heard speeding away. The wallet contained $90 and several credit cards, he said.

Junipero Serra Freeway Fuss Held Local Issue

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Public Works Director James A. Moe said today the federal government should keep out of the controversy of where to locate the Junipero Serra Freeway near San Francisco.

"The long standing controversy over the routing of the Junipero Serra Freeway in the vicinity of the Crystal Springs Reservoir is a local problem that should be settled on the local level," Moe said.

Moe was appointed public works director last week by Gov. Ronald Reagan to replace Samuel Nelson, who resigned. He is acting director until Oct. 10, the effective date of the appointment.

Good Will Calms Fairfax Council, Bringing Apologies, United Votes

By JOANNE GRANT

The Fairfax City Council, brimming with gentle good will, did an abrupt about face last night and professed cooperation.

Warring council factions united on every vote — but the real test of the new fellowship, second reading of an ordinance to pay each councilman $150 a month, was held over, along with 17 other items.

Union followed an opening blas by the usual council minority, Frank J. Egger and Mrs. Adelaide P. Wilson.

Egger, in a prepared statement, charged, "Since the election of Robert R. Souza as mayor, the city council has ceased to function as a city council."

He and Mrs. Wilson accused the mayor of setting policy and cited several instances where the mayor had acted alone.

They were especially critical of Souza's permitting city crews to do work on private property, namely restriping work done recently at St. Rita's Catholic Church.

"I think Mr. Souza has confused leadership with dictatorship," Egger said.

Souza, calling the charges "far out," outlined a traffic problem at the church and said he had asked police to check it. He reported St. Rita's would get a bill for $57.

"When I feel there is a problem, I contact a department head," he said.

City Atty. Wallace Myers told the council that no individual member has the authority to give an order or a direction to a city worker, though each member has the right to point out things that may need to be done.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell commented, "I think we've been childish," and called for teamwork. "We can pull together," he said.

Later, after watching the council agreeably proceed, Stanley W. Little, a member of the parks and recreation commission, apologized publicly for letters he had written to local newspapers.

Then, Mayor Souza apologized and Egger followed suit.

Souza reinforced his harmony theme later during a discussion of revised business license fees.

The revisions had been supported by several businessmen but Souza suggested last night they be changed again before final passage.

He said he believes the fee schedule is unfair and is so complicated it would make extra work for city employees.

Councilman Egger objected to the proposed revisions, pointing out they would mean substantial fee increases for some businesses.

Souza withdrew his amendment and the ordinance passed.

In other business, the controversial Deer Park development plan was discussed briefly when the mayor announced he had received a telegram from the board of supervisors at 7:25 p.m. urging favorable action.

The council earlier rejected the plan because of objections by residents of Porteous Avenue who believe the development would create heavy traffic on their street.

Souza said Pierre W. Joske, director of the county planning commission, asked if the council would get together with the county to discuss the development.

The council directed City Clerk Francis Lestanguet to set up a meeting with the board of supervisors for another go at Deer Park.

First Aid Course To Begin Sept. 26

A five-week standard first aid course will be offered free by the Marin County Chapter, American Red Cross, starting Sept. 26.

The classes will cover basic first aid, including mouth-to-mouth resuscitation skills, and will be held Thursday nights from 7:30 to 9:30 at the Chapter House classroom, 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael. Persons interested may call the chapter to register.

Pupils Return To School As New York Strike Ends

NEW YORK (AP) — The city's schools opened their doors to 1.1 million pupils and returned to near normal today after a two-day teacher strike sparked by a community control fight.

The opening of the fall term, which was to have started Monday, came after teachers voted overwhelmingly to accept a settlement worked out between the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers and the Board of Education.

The precipitating factor in the crisis, which delayed the fall term opening for two days, was the refusal of a locally governed experimental school district in Brooklyn to reinstate 10 white teachers it had dismissed.

Underlying the specific dispute was the union's fear that teachers would not be given adequate job security in the new citywide decentralization plan which is to take effect shortly.

The settlement provided that the 10 teachers could return to their former schools in the predominantly Negro-Puerto Rican Ocean Hill-Brownsville district if they desired. Another 200 teachers who walked out in support of the 10 may also return.

On the larger citywide issue, the union won a three-member arbitration board to which any school employee who is dismissed or disciplined by a local board may appeal.

During the day only 228 of the city's 900 schools were open and about 41,500 pupils attended. Only 4,300 of the city's 57,000 teachers were in their classrooms.

During the current walkout, schools in the Ocean Hill-Brownsville district and in a similar experimental district in Harlem continued to operate, as their teachers defied the union.

Both projects are aimed at establishing a measure of community control over local schools.

Parks Master Plan Funds Are Budgeted By Fairfax

Funds for a long-awaited master plan for parks were budgeted last night by the Fairfax City Council.

The same request — for $3,500 — was rejected last summer in budget slashing sessions. The council did not explain why it decided to include the money now.

Approval last night was with the stipulation that the money not be spent until after the firehouse site selection committee makes its decision, probably by January.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell explained the committee is currently considering a site in a park but gave no details.

The council also approved park and recreation commission requests for $635 to install pipes and a meter for a sprinkler system in Cascade Park and $1,150 for materials for installation of lights in the tennis courts.

Resignation of another park commissioner, Frank L. Blake, was announced. Last week, Chairman Richard P. Jones resigned.

Blake said he was resigning because of the "press of business" and in a letter to the council urged them to do things now, even if it means raising taxes slightly.

He noted that Fairfax will probably continue to grow and there will be more traffic through the city to Point Reyes National Seashore.

He said certain things will have to bo done, such as park improvements, widening streets and building city facilities. It will mean a tax increase sometime, he added.

The council approved hiring Mrs. Betty Erickson at $200 a month to work with Recreation Director Ronald C. Samet.

The Fairfax City Council also:

OLEMA GLEN — Approved preliminary plans for development of Olema Glen, as requested by the owner, Robert Dill of Vallejo. The 7.8-acre development would retain natural assets of the area, including a creek, and would have a 150-bed convalescent hospital, a 62-unit townhouse complex and a restaurant.

USE PERMIT — Granted a special use permit to Kathie Anderson to use an office at 11 Bolinas Road in connection with her business, Coffee Unlimited at 9 Bolinas Road.

FESTIVAL — Allocated a budgeted amount of $350 for the Fairfax Festival.

COUNCIL CHAMBERS — Delayed discussion of revamping the council meeting room, but took advantage of part of the proposed changes by sitting on the stage last night.

MEETINGS — Agreed to meet with the county planning commission to study the city's general plan at a date to be set and directed the city planning commission to meet with the county separately; and planned to hold an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Sept. 23 at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Thieves May Be In Hot Water

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Herman Bynum reported that a crated bathrub fell off his truck as he was driving on Interstate 40.

Bynum said he stopped to retrieve the 70-pound tub but three men picked it up and placed it on their truck before he could get to it.

Bynum said he followed the getaway truck but it eluded him.

Tredogo Road Wins New Lease On Life

Tredogo Road in Tiburon, which appeared doomed because many of the residents want a name change, will live on for the time being. (See other supervisors stories, page 1.)

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday decided to drop the request for a name change because the road has never been dedicatef to the county and the county has no legal jurisdiction over it.

The road has plagued supervisors since July 9 when they changed the name to Teaberry Lane. A majority of the residents wanted a change. Tiburon firemen urged a renaming because some residents used Paradise Drive addresses whereas their access road was Tredogo.

The name change was nullified when the county forgot to post advance public notices of the change along that street. On Aug. 28 when they tried to legalize the name change, supervisors ran up against a challenge from Gene Erickson of 2191 Paradise Drive, who uses Tredogo for access but wants to keep his Paradise Drive address. Erickson's attorney, Julius H. Selinger, argued that the county could not force Erickson to give up his Paradise Drive address.

Selinger sat quietly but sharp-eyed at yesterday's hearing, then walked out with a quiet "thank you" when the supervisors tabled the matter.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

OAK MANOR — Set a hearing for 1:45 p.m. Tuesday on complaints from Oak Manor residents who want the county to replace gutter fills to ease access to driveways. Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said even steel plates would obstruct street sweepers, but Mrs. Margaret Maloney of 184 Oak Manor Drive insisted she had seen a sweeper only twice in nine years.

SAUSALITO — Referred to staff Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen's complaint that Sausalito police were telling hippies living in cars within the city to relocate in unincorporated areas at Waldo Point. The hippies' disregard for law and health is "scandalous," said Kettenhofen.

VETO — Asked Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, to seek a two-thirds override vote in the Legislature of the governor's veto of a bill to increase state aid to nursing homes.

MUTTS — Contracted with the City of Novato to provide the city with a full-time animal control officer and vehicle, the $7,397 cost for the remainder of this fiscal year to be paid by the city.

ARCHITECT — Contracted with Marquis and Stoller, San Francisco architects, to design the Novato branch library, the firm's fee to be 10.5 per cent of the cost of construction and furnishings, estimated at $350,000.

EMPLOYEES — Hired Karl J. Clark as a administrative analyst in the county clerk's office at $809 a month, and Norman W. Todd as administrative analyst in the sheriff's office at $849 a month. Both positions are new.

CLAIM — Rejected a $52,500 claim by Craig L. Lieber of San Francisco, who alleged that sheriff's deputies beat him during an arrest May 31 near Muir Beach.

PROGRESS — Paid $49,531 to Ghilotti Bros. for site development for the Hall of Justice.

MENTAL HEALTH — Paid $32,789 to Christensen and Foster, general contractors for the Community Mental Health Center, as a progress payment.

PRE-SCHOOL — Approved the Pre-School and Head Start programs from Sept. 16 through next June, and voted a county appropriation of $4,750 for the coordinator of volunteer workers.

SCHOOL BUSES — Approved a resolution transferring title of school buses from the County of Marin to the County Superintendent of Schools, as provided in the Education Code.

AUDITORIUM — Approved 15 change orders, increasing the cost of the Veterans Memorial Auditorium by $4,894.

EXTRA HIRE — Approved a $1,217 outlay from the contingency reserve fund to pay for extra hire clerical help in the planning department, with the understanding that this amount will be saved elsewhere in the planning budget during the year.

Last Roundup For Novato's West Fete?

Novato's Western Weekend may cease to exist as a community celebration next year, John Gilmore, president of Western Weekend Inc., reported today.

Lack of community interest and support was one of the main reasons for considering abandoning the celebration, he said.

He said that several board members have agreed that the event might best be dropped. The board will discuss it at a meeting within three weeks, he said.

"There are 20 member organizations, and we have a hard time to get even a few of them out to the board meetings," he said. "We have no permanent location, and finding a place for the carnival grows more difficult each year."

The celebration, which was started by the Novato Horsemen's Association, was run for many years by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce with the horsemen handling the rodeo.

Various service clubs and other organizations began to run the booths and other parts of the celebration. When it grew too big for the Junior Chamber of Commerce to handle, these organizations formed a nonprofit corporation to run it.

A year ago the corporation went $1,029 in the red. It took several community fund raising efforts and donations from some organizations to pay off the debt so that last year's celebration could be staged, he said.

"We will probably make about $1,200 from last summer's event," he said. If the organization decides to quit the celebration, this money will revert to the Junior Chamber of Commerce, he said.

Lloyd Loftus, president of the Novato Horsemen's Association, said that there definitely would be a rodeo in June next year whether or not there was a Western Weekend celebration as such.

Supervisors Voice Disfavor Of Tennessee Valley Dump

An 8.5-acre valley on Tennessee Valley Road, opposite the entrance to Marincello, is no place to put a trash dump, the Marin County Board of Supervisors ruled in a 4 to 1 decision yesterday.

The lone dissenter, Thomas T. Storer, said a debris and rubbish dump would have no adverse effect at this time, and conditions could be attached so that the county could review the site, if and when the area is developed.

But he was over-ruled by his four colleagues on a motion by Peter H. Behr. Behr predicted that a dump on the Allan Olds Ranch, next to the 1,200-acre Dean Witter ranch and Marincello, would become a "substantial nuisance" because Tennessee Valley Road is the main access through the valley. "Our interest is for proper zoning and proper use and no adverse effect on neighboring properties for at least the next 15 years," said Behr.

The county approved Marincello, John F. McInnis pointed out. "I simply cannot vote in favor of putting a dump in front of one of the major residential developments in the county."

William A. Gnoss said he objects to the dump site, not only because of planned residences but also because a high school is planned across the road from the site.

"If there's any one valley that I drive through and admire, it's Tennessee Valley," said Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen. "I can't do it to that valley."

The decision against the dump came after a two and one-half hour discussion by a battery of attorneys, both pro and con.

Albert Bianchi, representing Carrol D. Madsen, asked for the dump permit. Among organizations which want the dump are the Sausalito Planning Commission, Mill Valley Planning Commission, Tamalpais Valley Community Services District, Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club, Tamalpais Valley Fire Protection District and the Sausalito Citizens Council, Bianchi reported.

Zumwalt To Talk To Marin Group

Clerin W. Zumwalt, naturalist at the Audubon Canyon Ranch at Bolinas, will report to the first fall meeting of the Marin Audubon Society in the supervisors' chambers in Marin Civic Center Oct. 4 at 8 p.m.

In addition to his report on the 1968 season at the ranch, Zumwalt will show color slides taken over the past two years at the ranch.

To be introduced at the meeting is Dennis Rinehart of Sacramento, new executive director of Audubon Canyon Ranch.

Pleads Innocent

Sandra J. Reagan, 25, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of car theft in San Rafael Aug. 30. Preliminary hearing was set for 2 p.m. Sept. 24.

McInnis Explains Vote On Project

County Supervisor John F. McInnis yesterday said that he had conditioned his vote for rerouting a Kent Woodlands portion of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project on a vote "by the local people."

McInnis raised the point during the supervisors' meeting yesterday. A check of the minutes of the Sept. 3 meeting, however, disclosed no record to such a provision.

Supervisors grumbled about an editorial in the Independent-Journal asking "What's So Different About Kent Woodlands."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said the editorial was "compounding a felony . . . based on an inaccurate news report in the same paper." He failed to specify inaccuracies.

Innocent Plea To Having Marijuana

Troy Edward Rhodd, 20, of no fixed address, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing marijuana Aug. 24 in Fairfax.

Preliminary hearing was set for 9:30 a.m. Oct. 1.

Density Hike Passes For Enchanted Knolls

A density increase from five to eight dwelling units per acre for the 73 undeveloped acres on Enchanted Knolls was approved last night by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Commissioners voted 4-1, with Commissioner Edward J. Boessenecker dissenting, to increase the density as requested by developers Eugene Harder and Warner R. Odenthal. Commissioners Normand Black and Robert E. Burton were absent.

The commission's reversal of a July 22 denial of the increase came after a subcommittee said the lower density would not be economically feasible, secretary Jeanne McLean reported.

The subcommittee was appointe to study the development's finances after the city council ordered the commission to reconsider.

Two Enchanted Knolls residents in the audience urged caution in increasing the density presently allowed in the East Mill Valley, master plan but voiced no specific objections, Mrs. McLean said.

Boessenecker said he was voting no because he was not convinced of the eceonomic hardship.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission Also:

CLINIC — Granted a use permit to Dr. D. C. Innes for a veterinary clinic at Lomita and Ashford avenues.

SLOPE POLICY — Asked Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon to study and report on the city's slope and substandard lot ordinances.

EXTENSION — Granted a 60-day extention of Southern Marin Auto Body's permit to park on the Shapiro lot at 493-503 Miller Avenue.

DOLAN'S CORNER — Took no action on a request by the county planning department to comment on the new traffic flow pattern at Dolan's Corner since no one could agree.

AMENDMENT — Agreed to amend the zoning ordinance to require a use permit for businesses catering to drive-in or drive-up cutomers.

Residents Hear About Annexation

About 80 property owners from the Paradise Drive area in Corte Madera jammed the Corte Madera Town Hall last night to learn about a proposed annexation of their area to the Corte Madera Sanitary District.

Homes in the area beyond the Uplands Apartments now have septic tanks and the Marin County Health Department has asked that sewage facilities be provided because some of the tanks are failing.

Individual costs of the project are not available yet, Richard C. Aberley, consulting engineer for the district, told property owners. He showed them on maps, however, the plans for the sewers.

The district attorney, Robert M. Haight, described the steps necessary to form an assessment district to pay for sewage facilities.

No action on the project was taken at last night's meeting.

Court Hearing Date Set For Suspect

After a preliminary hearing yesterday in Marin Municipal Court, Ray C. Rayburn, 34, of San Francisco, was ordered to appear for arraignment Monday in Marin Superior Court on a charge of forgery.

For 101 Project

The state Department of Public Works yesterday awarded a $62,263 contract to Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael for increasing the banking on two southbound curves of Highway 101, 2.8 miles north of Novato.

Gunman Surrenders In Hijack Cuba Lift

MONTREAL (AP) — A passenger with a revolver forced an Air Canada Viscount to land here today to refuel to take him to Cuba, and then walked off the plane holding two crewmen at gunpoint for more than three hours.

The gunman, identified from the passenger list as a Mr. Garvey, left accompanied by a Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer and the Cuban consul general in Montreal. He was taken to immigration headquarters at the airport.

The four-engine turboprop was flying to Toronto from Moncton and Saint John, N.B., when the gunman took over. The plane made an unscheduled landing here after the crew persuaded the man they could not fly him to Havana without refueling.

The 17 passengers and two stewardesses were allowed to leave the plane in Montreal. But the man remained on board with his gun trained on the pilot, Capt. Ronald Hollett, and First Officer Dennis Leach.

The gunman, whose nationality was not known, first pulled a gun on a stewardess and forced her to accompany him to the cabin, where Hollett and Leach were at the controls.

At first he demanded to be flown directly to Cuba, the airline said. Told that there was insufficient fuel, he consented to a refueling stop.

The airline spokesman said the gunman told the crew that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency was after him.

The stewardesses were Beverly Atkinson and Chirs Waud. All four crew members are based in Toronto.

Fire District's Tax Rate Set

The Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District board last night heard that its 1968-69 tax rate has been set at 65 cents per $100 assessed valuation by the Marin County auditor-controller's office, Fire Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. reported.

The tax rate represents a decrease of 8.5 cents over last year's 73.5 cent rate. The board had requested the lower rate when the budget was submitted in June to the county, Heynen said.

The district's assessed valuation for 1968-69 is $18,968,547, an increase of 9.14 per cent over last year's $17,382,218 valuation, he said.

Brockman's Attorney Ends Case

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The defense rested its case today in the trial of Jack Brockman, 21, accused of murdering a Santa Rosa College student and raping his companion, drawing a concession from the district attorney there is doubt on the rape charge.

Public Defender Marteen Miller called Dist. Atty. Kiernan Hyland to the stand and testified that medical tests taken on the alleged victim showed no positive evidence of rape.

Also called to the stand were attorneys for Kenneth Preston and Johnny Lee Sommerhalder, Santa Rosa men accused of the same murder and rape. Dennis Keegan, Preston's attorney, and Lewis DeCastle, defending Sommerhalder, both testified that if the defense called their clients to the stand and would advise them to remain silent. Miller rested his case at that point.

Judge Joseph P. Murphy will hear arguments on legal points this afternoon.

The U.S. Post Office department has operated the parcel post service since 1913.

Tam Services Board Hits Marin On Denial Of Dump

The Tamalpais Community Services District board last night blasted the Marin County Board of Supervisors for denying yesterday an appeal on a proposed refuse dump in Tamalpais Valley.

The dump would have been located near the entrance to the planned community of Marincello.

The services district, which has said a dump is needed in its area, favored the project, because when completed it could be converted into a nine-hole golf course providing additional recreational facilities for residents of the district.

According to board member Gale E. Bishel, Arthur L. Crebassa, chairman, expressed the feeling of the entire board last night when he said:

"This is just another example of county officials derogating the needs and interests of many to the nebulous wishes and convenience of the few. I feel it is an ivory tower solution, based on a disregard of hard facts, truly a decision formed in a vacuum."

The board previously had blasted the Marin County Planning Commission for not seeking the advice of local boards when the commission halted plans for the dump in a stalemate vote Aug. 12.

Glenn Lambacher of Mill Valley was appointed to replace Francis M. Small Jr. also of Mill Valley, who resigned in other business.

Minorities Increase In California

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The number of Negroes and other minority group members in California increased by more than 1.4 million from 1960 to 1967, the state Finance Department reported today.

During the same period, the state's total population increased from 15.7 million to 19.5 million. The increase in minority groups thus accounted for more than one third of the state's total population increase during those seven years.

The population research section of the Finance Department said today's figures are provisional. However, it released the estimates on minority group population:

Negroes — 883,861 in 1960, 1,402,400 in 1967; Spanish-surnames, 1,426,538 in 1960, 2,162,100 in 1967; Orientals, 252,917 in 1960, 389,600 in 1967; Indians, 39,014 in 1960, 58,400 in 1967.

Trio Is Nabbed After Attempt To Siphon Gas

Three young men were arrested by Fairfax police last night after George Mosconi of 423 Scenic Avenue reported that they had attempted to siphon gas from his car, parked in his garage.

At 11:30 p.m. Mosconi heard a noise in the garage and went to investigate. Three youths ran to their car and drove off, but Mosconi was able to get the license number.

A few minutes later, Patrolman Paul Simpson stopped the car, and arrested Richard Ronald Lines, 19, 90 Upper Briar Road, Kentfield; Guy Philip Runnels, 19, 200 Bolinas Avenue, Fairfax, and Jimmy Lee Clemons, 20, of 20 Walnut Avenue, Larkspur.

The trio was being held for investigation of car tampering in Marin County Jail this morning with bail set at $289 each, and Mosconi was to sign a complaint at 11 a.m.

Hoard Of Hitler Fan Mail Shows Admirers, Haters

LONDON (AP) — Adolf Hitler kept his fan mail—even when it was insulting.

Letters and postcards showing this belong to a former British serviceman, Les Brown, who found them in a room adjoining Hitler's study in the battered Chancellery in Berlin at the end of World War II.

One of the postcards was posted in Madison Square Station, New York, in 1938. It said hopefully: "For your last Christmas." The card was addressed to Adolf Hitler, Berlin, Germany.

Another postcard, illustrated with a donkey's head, was posted in Yugoslavia. The message: "In the name of all the asses of this world, heil Hitler. Heil fuehrer, sieg heil. Heil."

There is one brave postcard from France, mailed through the Paris central office, written in a fine hand which says: "This is your last birthday, you brute. The rendering of accounts is drawing near."

It was politely addressed to "Monsieur le Chancelier Hitler."

There also were messages of adulation. One, from the Sudetenland, said: "We are free. Our dear good fuehrer. Many cordial thanks that you have fetched us into the German Reich. The good Lord may grant you a very long and happy life. With best regards, family Klaus."

Another complimentary card from Rio de Janeiro said: "I offer you excellency the best wishes and congratulations of a humble member of the public unknown to you." It was signed "An Admirer."

Brown, now 43 and an assistant supervisor for the Greater London Council, said he took the mail home as souvenirs, then forgot about it.

"I hadn't given this stuff a thought till the other day when I was rooting around among some papers," he said.

"A few days after the war ended I was stationed in Berlin helping to make out weather reports for allied VIP aircraft.

"The Russians gave us passes to visit various parts of the city and on one of these expeditions I went to the Chancellery.

"I really only went in there looking for foreign stamps. I didn't think I would pick up a piece of history like this."

Palace To Museum

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI)—The Syrian government plans to convert a Roman palace with mosaic floors, discovered recently at Shahba in southern Syria, into a museum representing successive civilizations in the area, says Abdel Kader al Rimawi, director of the Syrian Antiquities Department.

Brush Fire Destroys Half-Dozen Buildings

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new brush fire raced across 2,300 acres in Riverside County, destroying a half-dozen buildings including summer homes. Meanwhile, three other major fires were believed nearing containment.

Fire fighters evacuated 120 persons late yesterday in the path of the new blaze high in Riverside County's San Jacinto mountain ranges as the flames burned northeast toward Twin Pines.

In its path were more cabins and the county Twin Pines Detention Home for Juveniles.

The pilot of an aerial tanker being used to drop fire retardants escaped injury in an emergency landing. But a fireman caught in a sudden flash of flames suffered second and third-degree burns over 30 per cent of his body and was hospitalized.

The blaze, which started in Poppet Flats settlement, was 40 miles from a major blaze under control in the San Bernardino Mountains.

In Los Angeles County, northeast of Hansen Dam in Pacoima Canyon, firemen fought a 2,800-acre blaze fanned out of control by hot, dry winds but later reported 50 per cent contained.

Sir Francis Drake Widening On Agenda

Charles R. Leitzell, San Anselmo city engineer, will discuss proposals for widening of Sir Francis Drake and Center Boulevards at a meeting of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce at 12:15 p.m. tomorrow.

The chamber is meeting this month and next in Alexander Hall at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, not the Pepperwood restaurant as incorrectly reported last week in the Independent-Journal.

College Testing Exam Due Monday

Only Sonoma State College applicants and new students will be given a special administration of the American College Testing entrance examination Monday at 8:30 a.m. at the college.

Over 50 students have registered for the examination. College officials said those who need to take the test but have not registered should do so immediately.

Also being given on Monday is the political science placement test, required for students who wish to enroll in Political Science 203 or 205.

Cornish Pasties A Marin Specialty

CORNISH PASTIES are being featured in the bake sale in connection with the Mill Valley Community Church Club's annual opportunity sale held today through Sunday. As club president, Mrs. Ewald Katzung (left) fills the dough, Mrs. Agnes Reid, who provided the recipe, dabs water on the edges to make them stick together when the pasties are sealed.

Today when Triple C (Community Church Club) opened the doors for its annual opportunity sale, there was a special feature — Cornish Pasties. These baked goods are on sale for the four days of the event, which runs through Sunday.

Cornish Pasties are the specialty of Mrs. Agnes Reid of Mill Valley, who first learned about them when her husband was superintendent of a talc-mine in Death Valley.

There were many Cornishmen working there in the mine, and they described the Cornish Pasties to Mrs. Reid. After talking to several of them, she was able to create a recipe for the pasties. They were immediately successful, and the miners began taking them in their lunches instead of sandwiches.

Later when Mr. and Mrs. Reid opened a resort at Panamint Springs, Mrs. Reid baked Cornish Pasties on Sunday. Golfers and vacationers would stop on their way home from Furnace Creek to buy a pastie to eat then or take several home to freeze.

Mrs. Reid and some of the other Triple C members have made a large supply of the pasties for the opportunity sale.

CORNISH PASTIES

Dough

5 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 pound shortening

One egg, broken into measuring cup; add 3 teaspoons vinegar and fill with cold water.

Mix flour and salt. Cut in shortening until pieces are size of a pea.

Add egg, vinegar and water mixture slowly until dough is easily handled. If necessary a little more water may be added.

Break off about ½ cup of dough. Form into a ball and roll out with rolling pin into circle about 7 or 8 inches across.

Filling

Small piece of suet, ground by butcher
1 large potato, peeled and cut in cubes
1 medium onion, diced
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix together steak cubes, potato cubes and onion. Add 1 large tablespoon suet, salt and pepper.

On one side of dough put about 2 tablespoons of mixture. Moisten dough on one edge, fold over and press together. A 2 pound coffee can makes a good cutter to round off edges. Place on greased baking sheet and bake about 1 hour at 375 degrees or until dough is nicely browned.

For Greenery

A delicate green dish is made with brussels sprouts and watercress. Saute 2 (10-ounce) packages of frozen brussels sprouts, thawed and halved, in ½ cup of butter with 1 teaspoon of salt and ¼ teaspoon of caraway seed Add 1 cup of snipped watercress and saute, stirring, a few minutes longer. Garnish with sprigs of watercress. Makes 6 servings.

Suggestions To Help Fill The Lunch Box For School

The phrase "back-to-school" means many things to many people. To a small boy, it's the end of a fun-filled summer. To a little girl, it's the beginning of a school year of story books and helping her friend the teacher.

But to a mother, it's the responsibility of a myriad of school lunches to be packed.

A typical lunch box meal that will make a hit with hungry children is American cheese slices on white bread sandwich, carrot sticks, bananas, cookies and a bottle of milk.

RULES OF SANDWICH MAKING

Spread both sides of the bread with softened butter to prevent the filling from soaking through.

Burger buns and hot dog rolls are good for holding moist fillings. Scoop out some of the inside to allow room for more filling.

Filling should be moist, but of a consistency to stay in the sandwich.

Use several thin slices of meats and cheese in place of one thich one — makes a tastier sandwich and is easier to eat.

Lettuce, water cress, tomatoes, onions, pickle slices should be wrapped separately to add to sandwich when eaten.

Avoid filling with a strong odor for sandwiches in the pack and carry lunch. Avoid flavor transfer to the rest of the lunch.

Make sandwiches when the leftover roast, chicken are fresh. Wrap individually, freeze and use within two to three weeks. When ready to use, remove from freezer and place in lunch. They will thaw in time for lunch.

Canned or frozen boysenberries sweetened slightly, may be packed in a container, with a tight fitting lid.

When buying bread, read the label carefully to be sure it is enriched to provide your family with additional nutrients. It means extra food value for your money.

This cheese spread is sure to become a lunch box necessity. This basic recipe combines both the nutrition and storing capacities of cheese to make it one of the handiest foods in the refrigerator.

Hot, open face sandwiches can be made simply by spreading buns with butter; adding crumbled cooked ground beef to cheese spread and spreading each bun half generously with this mixture. Place the bun halves under a broiler or in a hot oven (400°F.) until bubbly.

CHEESE SPREAD

(Can be stored in refrigerator for several weeks)

1 small can evaporated milk
½ lb. (2 cups) mild Cheddar cheese, grated
½ cup butter
1 teaspoon onion, grated
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon paprika

Place ingrediends in heavy saucepan. Stir over low heat until cheese is melted and all ingredients are blended. Cool. Store in covered container in refrigerator. Makes about 1½ cups spread.

SANDWICH FILLING variations: Mix into cheese spread — crisp bacon; ground ham, bologna, or frankfurters; chopped red or green pepper; finely diced celery; shredded carrots and chopped raisins. Continue the list with your own imagination, employing the family's favorite flavors. Vary the bread you use with this spread and it will remain the most requested item on the lunch box menu.

375 THIRD STREET SAN RAFAEL

Charming Gloria Vanderbilt Cooper

NEW YORK (UPI)—She looks like a frightened debutante when she must make a public appearance, although it is close to 30 years, four husbands and as many children since she was a deb.

The tiny, timorous smile on the face of an otherwise poised, accomplished woman marks the charm of Glorida Vanderbilt, now 44, and the wife of the writer, Wyatt Cooper. She in turn is establishing herself as a fine artist.

The Coopers, walking into a room, look like the "beautiful people" at age 20, she in a little girl red-and-white checked dress with high neck, long sleeves and ruffles, he in a meticulously tailored off-white Nehru suit.

CLOSE UP, the lines around Mrs. Cooper's eyes reveal the years and the troubles that have gone by, the turbulence that preceded today's tranquility.

The past included a bitter battle for custody of the heiress when she was 10, as her mother, Glorida Morgan Vanderbilt, and her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, now deceased, scuffled on the front pages with Mrs. Whitney the winner.

At 17 the little rich girl married Hollywood agent Pat DiCicco, divorcing him two years later. Then she wed aging maestro Leopold Stokowski and bore him two sons, Stanley, now 17, and Christopher, now 16.

Like an echo from the past, there was another well-publicized custody battle for the boys, with their mother charging that Stokowski was really 85 years old, rather than the 77 he claimed. The boys now live with the Coopers.

AFTER STOWOWSKI came the childless marriage to director Sidney Lumet, another divorce, then marriage to Cooper in 1963. Of her life now she says:

"We have two small boys. Carter Vanderbilt Cooper is three and one-half years old and Anderson Hays Cooper is one. I'm surrounded by men now, with my four sons, so we're gong to try once more for a girl. Then I guess I'll have to stop. But it would be nice to have a girl—to sort of have somebody on my side."

Mrs. Cooper, speaking in her low, carefully tuned voice, said she maintains an artist's studio five blocks from her town house on Manhattan's East Side.

"I GET TO the studio every morning by eight," she said, "and I work at my painting for eight hours straight until the light goes."

Her husband works in his study at home, turning out copy for such magazines as "Esquire" and working on a novel called "Mirror Mirror."

"It's funny and serious and it's about contemporary life in New York today," his wife said.

Mrs. Cooper at one time combined careers as an actress, playwright and painter, but explained that today things are different, saying:

"NOW I JUST paint. I feel I really know myself now. I just started painting more and more until that was all I was doing. And also, I guess being successful at it helped.

"Of course, I never could do it without my husband. He enjoys my work so. He loves it, and it gives him such pleasure. I couldn't do it without him."

Mrs. Cooper, who had her first one-woman art show in 1954, concentrated on straight painting until two years ago when she began to create collages of paints, paper and scraps of assorted materials.

"I got very excited about collages," she said. "I feel it's a new form of decorative art and I'm always looking for new ways of working."

SHE ALSO TAKES time out for decorating and she spoke enthusiastically when she said:

"In Southampton I put wallpaper on the floor of the bedroom and dressing room. It's just to die over; it's so pretty. You put down the wallpaper — mine is violets and leaves—and then you put six coats of varnish over that and polish it with butcher's wax. I have the same wallpaper on the ceiling and walls and the woodwork is painted white.

SPEAKING ABOUT her oldest son, Stanley, a college freshman, she said:

"Stan hasn't decided what he wants to do yet. I think so many people feel this way, what with the ghastly war. God, it's a terribly tough time for young people. Stan feels this war is immoral. Fortunately the question of the draft hasn't come up yet. I don't know what he will do when it does."

The Coopers both were active supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Asked about her own hopes for the future, she echoed: "What do I wish for my life from now on?"

THEN SHE answered: "More of the same, I hope."

She was asked about the Social Register and the New York society into which she was born.

"I think it's absurd," she said. "I mean, who thinks that way?"

WHEN MR. AND Mrs. Wyatt Cooper enter a room everyone turns around. She is the former Gloria Vanderbilt, the heiress whose life has been plagued with child custody suits and divorces. Buyers Unmoved By Display Of Nudity At House Of Dior

LONDON (UPI)—The House of Christian Dior tried out seethrough tops in London yesterday in the apparent belief the British are more ready for nude fashion than the French.

Dior's special London collection, which is different from the Paris one, contained two completely see-though blouses. The models wore body stockings underneath but need not have bothered because these were so filmy they hid nothing.

They were otherwise clad in short black velvet knickerbockers with a bow on each side of the thigh.

Dior's baring of the bust was a surprise in that the Paris collection did not. In Paris, the see-though fashions were the realm of designers Yves St. Laurent and Andre Courreges. But Jorn Langberg, who designs the Dior collection of highpriced ready to wear clothes for London, apparently decided this city could take it.

Buyers and press at the showing not only took it but seemed utterly unmoved by the display, as with a similarly seethrough creation at a British fashion show Monday.

The two models appeared together in their knickerbockers, one with a black blouse and one in white. The blouses had puffy sleeves, caught at tight, wide cuffs. A few big black and white sequins dotted the blouses, but in none of the appropriate places.

A small crowd did gather outside when one of the models went into the street to be photographed on the sidewalk.

Main theme of the collection was a medieval look with tweed tunics, leather tabards and capes, helmet hats, chain belts and chain mail evening dresses.

These chain mail evening dresses, made of all-over embroidery, were rather seethrough themselves when viewed at close quarters.

So was a short black lace dress made on one gossamer thin layer of fabric, revealing every curve of the figure beneath but this was clothed in an adequate body stocking.

ATOLL GOWN

A full length evening dress from Eleanora Garnett's Rome collection for fall and winter combines green chiffon with coral material. Called "Azolla," which means atoll, the dress features bodice and shoulder straps embroidered in coral color.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Could She Possibly Have Stayed In The Dark For Three Years?

DEAR HELEN:

It was love at first sight, but I'll have to admit after three years, I'm still in the dark. He told me right away he was married but not happy. Several times I saw him with a woman I assumed was his wife, but later on he told me she was his girl friend — they'd been going steady for two years.

Shortly afterwards we started going steady, or so I thought. Once he even filed for divorce, but dropped it. His wife and ex-girl friend have keys to his car and can use it any time. I'm not allowed.

I'm not permitted to ask him questions about other women, but I'm third degreed, every move I make. If he calls and the line is busy, I'm accused of talking to another man. He doesn't like to be seen in public with me.

Anything and everything I do is wrong. I don't season the food right, have poor taste, am "getting fat" when I gain one pound. I bought him a watch for Christmas and he gave it back with the implication that it wasn't as good as the one his girl friend bought him. The shirts I gave him "itched."

I believe he enjoys having women fight over him. At age 44, shouldn't he be ready to settle for one? Oh yes, he does say he loves me, but only when he's drunk. Is it time to take off the blinders, or should I stay in the dark and hope for the best? — THREE YEAR WAIT

DEAR TYW:

Be honest. The blinders came off long ago. Your real question is: Should I settle for a bad bargain or risk being manless?

My answer is: You're manless now. Dump this poor facsimile, and go shopping while there's still time. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

"The Girls" complained that waitresses hate women. I gather she means waiters too. I am one of the latter, not American born, but now a citizen. I am a little tired of people using the word "hate" for such little things. When they go out for a good time, they shouldn't look for faults to complain about.

We who wait tables are concerned with serving the public fast and well, and we don't "hate" special groups. What "The Girls" don't realize is that, when a table of six or seven people ask for "separate checks," many delays are created, plus the risk of charging the wrong items to the wrong persons. If we gave them separate checks they'd no doubt change their complaint to "slow service." However, if they ask for separate checks, we don't "hate" them — even when we can spot immediately what kind of gratuity to expect: In restaurant lingo, "86 or n/g". — GUS.

DEAR HELEN:

We waitresses don't hate women, but they do confuse us. When we ask if they want separate checks, almost always they say "no" if they really do, anl "Yes" if they don't. So many times, after the order, they decide to "go Dutch," which of course they'd planned to do all along but nobody dared speak up about separate checks. So you have to unscramble the bill for them. Or, if you write out a half dozen checks, one gal will say, "It's on me," and again, the waitress must do some quick adding. — WAITRESS.

DEAR HELEN:

"The Girls" are right about waitresses favoring men. We call our reservations in ahead of time, but we women are still waiting while men are served and gone. When we ask, nine times out of ten the waitresses tell us they do not give separate checks.

Perhaps we get second class service because women are assumed to be tight with a tip. Waitresses should stop to think: Maybe the service makes us that way. — CAREER GIRL.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Tin Pan Alley Tunes Return With Tunesmith Mable Wayne

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS
Associated Press Writer

There is no reprise for Bonnie Parker, but the tunes which backgrounded her blazing exploits are headed for another hearing.

"People are ready for ballads again," says Mabel Wayne, composer of such 1930 hits as "In a Little Spanish Town," "Romona," "Ragamuffin Romeo."

"It's not only the craze for the things of the '30's, though that helps," she explains. "I think people, particularly the younger generation, are searching for the sentimentality of those bygone eras."

The petite blonde tunesmith has just come out of a 20-year retirement to write once again the ballads and waltzes that characterized the Bonnie Parker era.

If it had been up to Miss Wayne, however, she would have let someone else recreate the musical spirit of the '30s. A year ago, she says, she was content in retirement. Sunning herself on the beach, fussing over her toy gray French poodle — "my only child," in her luxury New York hotel apartment, doing volunteer work, she thought the world of Tin Pan Alley was far behind her.

Then a friend, the widow of lyricist Irving Kahal, coaxed her into writing the music for one of his unpublished lyrics. That torch song, "Here's Looking at You," which Miss Wayne terms a tribute to Kahal's memory, is scheduled to be published shortly.

Although she feels that there still is prejudice against working women ("men are always jealous of women in the same field"), Miss Wayne is impressed with the progress women have made in gaining equality in Tin Pan Alley.

"When I first started, women composers were a definite novelty," she recalls. "One or two had published a song but I was the first gal to really crack the barrier . . . the first woman to be credited with a string of successes."

At that time, she claims, it was practically impossible for a woman to get her foot in a music publisher's door.

"Men songwriters hung out at bars with other music people and could suggest their ideas in an informal atmosphere. A woman never went to bars, then.

"I was lucky. I had a lot of guts and knew a lot of people in the business because of my show business background."

In her early teens she had run away from home with a girl friend to join the chorus line of a Broadway theater.

"I hated dancing," she comments. "My only dream was to see my name on a piece of sheet music."

Despite her lack of formal training — only 3 years of piano — Miss Wayne's dream has long since been fulfilled. While still in her teens she had countless successes: "Don't Wake Me Up, Let Me Dream" written during an unhappy teen marriage; "Ramona," which took only 20 minutes to write and "In a Little Spanish Town," in which she introduced the syncopated waltz. After she wrote the music for "It Happened in Monterrey" for Paul Whiteman's biographical film (Billy Rose wrote the words), Tin Pan Alley bestowed upon her the title of Waltz Queen.

"But I was temperamental," she says. "I wanted to prove I could do something else." So she wrote a foxtrot, "Little Man You've Had a Busy Day," and a torch song, "I Understand," which is now being reissued as are several other of her melodies, including "A Dreamer's Holiday."

Then, just as suddenly as she started, Miss Wayne stopped writing music. "I didn't think the public wanted to listen to my style of song anymore."

A few years later rock 'n' roll became popular and though she says she liked some of it, "I couldn't write that type of music."

Anyway, she claims, "since I'm such a lazy person basically I was delighted to have no formal work commitments. I studied astrology and numerology, traveled quite a bit."

Miss Wayne never visited any Spanish-type town, either in Spain or in Mexico. In fact the author of "It Happened in Monterrey" — that's in Mexico — never even saw Monterey, Calif., though at one time she lived less than 100 miles away. Her inspiration, she says, came from the Spanish architecture around Hollywood.

"I would have loved to have toured Spain or Mexico," she says defensively. Then after a few minutes reflection, she admits, "No I wouldn't want to go there, I don't want to ruin my illusions."

The newlyweds are on a wedding trip to Sonora following a garden reception at the home of the bride's parents. They will reside in Kentfield.

He is the brother of Mrs. Donald Hanne of San Anselmo, Mrs. Orlie Albert, Sunnyvale, and Mrs. Harry Linstrom of Denver, Colo.

Squeeze Peel

Lemonade can be made with more flavor-strength from fewer lemons by using the peel as well as the juice. Grate peel and blend with sugar to absorb and intensify the flavor before adding juice and water to taste. For greatest flavor extraction, boil peel in sugar syrup. To make a pitcher of 6 to 8 lemonade servings, use peel of 2 lemons with 1 cup each of sugar and water; boil 7 minutes; cool. Stir in 1 cup of lemon juice and 4 cups of water. Serve on ice cubes.

ON THE AGENDA

Barbecue To Launch Year For Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae

A steak barbecue will initiate a significant year of activity for Marin County Alumnae Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma Saturday evening. Husbands and escorts will join Kappas in welcoming new Marinites who are alumnae of the sorority around braziers at the Benjamin Ostlinds' residence on La Crescenta Way, San Rafael, for the 6 p.m. dinner party.

Anticipating a centennial celebration of the nearly 100-year-old national fraternity, Marin alumnae will, in the coming year, join Kappas on U.S. and Canadian campuses and some 70,000 living alumnae around the world in building a Centennial Fund. The $500,000 national goal will provide scholarships in the broad field of rehabilitation, Kappa's prime philanthropic interest, to qualified women on each of the 94 campuses where there are Kappa Kappa Gamma chapters.

Accepting reservations for the year's first event is Mrs. John W. Nixon, chairman and vice president, of 102 Lucas Park Drive, San Rafael. Mrs. Thomas L. Shaw, association president, and her new executive board will welcome new and returning alumnae, serving as hostesses for the activity.

Serving with Mrs. Shaw of Lucas Valley are Mrs. Paul Ogden, secretary; Mrs. Austin Forward, treasurer; Mrs. William Dow, community services; Mrs. William Losee, hospitality; Mrs. James Laible, nominating; Mrs. Robert Mills and Mrs. Lyle Martin, Panhellenic and recommendations; Mrs. Eugene Carver, parliamentarian; Mrs. Louis Przetak, finance; Mrs. David Francis, program; Mrs. Richard Miller, directory; Mrs. Theodore Martin, centennial; Mrs. Benjamin Ostlind, bridge; Mrs. Mercer Smith, centennial blouse sales; Mrs. Stephen Sischo, magazine sales, and Mrs. Charles Carle, publicity.

Four Marin women were among the new members welcomed by the president, Mrs. Sherman Leland Jr. They are Mesdames Barney Mills of Tiburon, Bruce Sanborn Jr. of Belvedere, Paul Stanley of Sausalito and Thomas Terry of Ross.

The new members will work in the volunteer program of the hospital and assist with the 1969 Mardi Gras Ball.

A BACK TO SCHOOL Gin Fizz brunch will be served to the public by members of the Woodacre Improvement-Recreational Club Sunday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the club. Chairman of the brunch is Mrs. Alex Thomas of Woodacre. Assisting Mrs. Thomas in the club kitchen will be Mesdames Stanley Dentkos and Rodney Thorsen.

THE NOVATO BRANCH of the American Association of University Women will have its annual tea at the home of Mrs. Robert Wilkes in Novato at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Various sections of the organization will have displays and art objects on view. Mesdames John Colistra and Richard Shuck are in charge of this part of the program.

The Novato branch was organized five years ago and the tea will have an anniversary theme. Thirty charter members will be honored.

Women in the Novato area who have a degree from an accredited college are being invited to attend the tea. Mrs. Nathan Kaufman, membership chairman, may be contacted for information. Mesdames Marvin Lemons and Richard Pearce are tea chairmen.

THE SAUSALITO Woman's Club will have its second annual Angel Island Picnic and Elephant Train tour tomorrow sponsored by the garden section.

Members are invited to bring guests for the outing, which will start at 10 a.m. with everyone meeting at the Angel Island Ferry in Tiburon.

Reservations chairmen are Mesdames R. E. Cruikshank, Wint F. Saint and C. W. Henderson.

Housewives May Become Aides To Public School Teachers

Mill Valley area housewives and mothers who have as much as two hours a week to devote to helping schools, teachers and children are urged by Mrs. John V. Buckley to become teacher aides.

Mrs. Buckley, who is volunteer aide coordinator for the Mill Valley School District, says the program was so very successful last school year that teachers are asking for more help this year.

Volunteers assist in many ways — as aides in the classrooms or outside the classrooms, in clerical duties such as correcting papers or typing teaching materials, thus freeing teachers' time for actual teaching.

Because service is the primary responsibility of the teacher aide program and because volunteers are placed only upon request, the most important qualifications for a volunteer are willingness to do what is needed and dependability.

Just as in the nurses' aide, or Pink Lady, program in hospitals, cooperation, neatness of appearance and respect for professional standards are more important than special skills. College education is not necessary.

Mrs. Buckley says that things teachers ask volunteers to do are varied.

The first is assisting individual students or small groups of them. Aides may help with practice of oral work, listen to children read or read to them, work with audio-visual equipment, drill on numbers or spelling and assist with handwriting or tutoring in specific subjects. They may even help on the playground or with physical exercises.

The second kind of task is assisting the teacher. Work may include housekeeping duties, preparing of master carbons and other materials, arranging bulletin boards, making maps and checking answers on objective tests.

Many teachers need help in teaching reading, spelling, math, foreign languages, science, art, drama and music. Some need a helping hand with general assistance, such as circulating to answer questions while children do assignments, correcting spelling papers, reading manuals and work sheets and explaining the corrections to students individually and assisting those who are working on special projects.

The aide may also accompany the class on field trips or provide accompaniment for singing and dancing. Most volunteers do a variety of the above named tasks. They are not expected to handle discipline.

Anyone interested in becoming an aide may call Mrs. Buckley at her home in Mill Valley after 6 p.m. or may see her personally at her office in Park School in Mill Valley between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon.

Barnacle Sitters

BOOTHBAY HARBOR — The sardine herring regards the plankton-sized young (larva) of the barnacle as a great delicacy, but to the sardine fisherman the tiny organism is an economic menace.

Processors will not buy fish that have fed heavily, as the heat of the canning process causes the stomachs to split open. Confronted by a good supply of barnacle larvae, sardines tend to gorge themselves.

A barnacle monitoring program, carried on by the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries biological laboratory at Boothbay Harbor, helps fishermen avoid infested areas where the catch is likely to be unmarketable.

Less Than 18%

While food expenditures in total increased in 1967, the proportion of disposable income spent for food continued its steady decline. Food purchases now take less than 18 per cent of the wage-earners's disposable income, the lowest in history.

How can this be? This country's standard of living is going up faster than the cost of living. Personal income is moving up at a faster pace than food costs.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Cabaret' Rates High In All Departments

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — The true worth of any theatrical production lies in our ability to relate it to ourselves and our world. On this basis "Cabaret," which opened at the Curran Theater last night, rates high.

The third offering of the Civic Light Opera stems from John Van Druten's "I Am A Camera," which in turn was adapted from Christopher Isherwood's stories titled, "Prater Violet." It is an intensely human story set in 1929-1930 Germany, when the people dismissed the Nazi movement as something that would casually pass on.

TO THE PRESENT

As the "Cabaret" company sings "Tomorrow Belongs To Me," with the cast's only Nazi, hand high, in the forestage, it takes a closed mind indeed not to relate the situation to the present. There is no violence in the story — only a brick-broken window —but hindsight imbues the whole plot with terror.

Only the American boy, Cliff Bradshaw, sees the impending disaster. Herr Schulz (Leo Fuchs) is a Jewish merchant who believes the German people will not succumb to Hitler's song; Fraulein Schneider (Signe Hasso) will swing with any tide to keep herself afloat; Sally Bowles, the English cafe singer (Melissa Hart) is a butterfly. All are foredoomed.

BRECHT OVERTONES

Director Harold Prince has staged the show with Brechtian overtones; a master of ceremonies with a clown face, music by John Kander which is raucous at times, lyrical at others; lights which flash into the audience to end scenes.

This is an unusually good road company. Many of its players have impressive credits in various resident theaters around the country and their training is evident. Although the first act drags a little, this may be only a first night lapse. The second half booms along with excellent pace.

Outstanding in the big cast is Robert Salvio as the emcee. Singing, dancing, joking, his clown is a movingly tragic figure even as he makes you laugh.

BRINGS VITALITY

Miss Hart, a virtual unknown, brings great vitality to the role of Sally. Her most famous number, the title song, has been done to death by everyone from Ethel Merman to Louis Armstrong, and it is refreshing to hear Miss Hart's deliberate undervaluation of "Cabaret."

David Rounds does fine work as the Nazi, Catherine Gaffigan's streetwalker is good, while Gene Rupert as Cliff seems a bit TV soap-opera-ish. Miss Hasso and Fuchs play their roles like the meticulous old pros they are.

"Cabaret" is the best musical I've seen at the Curran in several seasons. I recommend it highly, playing nightly at 8:30 except Monday for the next seven weeks.

Sand Artist Will Have Marin Exhibit

"Art In Sand," a bas relief exhibition by Langston Bowen of El Granada, San Mateo County, will be shown Saturday and Sunday at the home of Dr. William Scott, 369 Ferndale Avenue, Mill Valley, from 2 to 7 p.m.

Bowen, presently teaching public school in Pacifica, has shown his work in Mexico City, Seattle, San Francisco, Tokyo and last year in Addis Abeba, Ethiopia. His technique is based upon use of sand, rocks and charcoal using their natural beauty to the best advantage.

Mrs. Hodgson is the originator and director of Marin's Ballet-Acquacade.

The students who will audition Saturday are all Marin residents with a minimum of four years study. Ranging from 14 to 18 years of age, they include Nancy Taverna, Becky Jones, Meredith Mills, Cindy Lucas, and Carol Brannan, all of San Rafael; David Roxander White of Corte Madera; Bonnie Bent and Meribeth Patterson of Novato, and Holly and Laurie Berryman of Mill Valley.

Detailed information about the chorus may be obtained by calling director Winifred Baker (Mrs. William H. Baker) of 16 Highland Avenue, San Rafael.

TOUGH STUDENT LIFE

Marinite Impressions Of Japan

By ALAN JONES

Despite all the talk about academic pressures, American students have it soft compared to the youth of Japan.

That's the word from a recently returned group of six Marin teen-agers who spent five weeks in Japan, some of it living with Japanese families who have children of comparable ages.

The six boys are all members of the Marin branch of the San Francisco Young Men's Christian Association, which holds an annual exchange with the Osaka YMCA. This year 17 American youths went to Japan, next year a Japanese group will come to the Bay Area.

Although Japanese students were on summer vacation while the Americans were there, they were already studying for fall classes, said Rick Scott of 3 Allen Lane, Ross.

Scott said Japanese students may study for years for a single examination. Competition is fierce for entry into Japan's crowded universities, and two years of university education is a minimum for any decent job, he said.

The YMCA group, bearing a letter of greeting from Mayor Joseph L. Alioto to San Francisco's sister city of Osaka, met Osaka's mayor and other dignitaries, then spread out to live with YMCA-affiliated families in the area for 10 days.

From there, they toured other parts of Japan and spent a week at a new YMCA camp on the Inland Sea, where the entertainment included giant spiders, roaches and scorpions.

The host families were Christian, but most of modern Japan has little religious affiliation, the Marin youths said.

As part of an ancient religious ceremony, one family rid its house of spirits by lighting candles on miniature sail boats and floating the boats down a stream, said Tom Anderson of 13 Peacock Lane, San Rafael.

Other Marinites on the trip were Tom Ferguson of 284 San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere; Austin Lea of 111 Woodland Road, Kentfield; John Sisson of 99 Lyford Drive, Belvedere; and Peter Treanor of 64 Dominican Drive, San Rafael.

The group attended a peace festival ceremony on Aug. 6 at ground zero in Hiroshima, on the anniversary of the first atomic bomb dropped in combat.

Japanese students are politically active, Scott said. Sisson and Ferguson saw the Zengakuren student party in two pitched battles with police.

But discussion with the American youths was limited, apparently by Japanese politeness. Students seemingly "didn't want to embarrass us by talking about Vietnam," Scott said.

Anderson, however, said some of the Americans had limited debates with Japanese students about Vietnam, but language barriers made it difficult to carry them through.

The Japanese do seem to be nearly unanimous in wanting U.S. bases out of Japan and in wanting Okinawa returned to Japanese control, Scott said.

William Maier, San Anselmo real estate broker who helped chaperone the group, said the Americans were impressed by the way Japanese family life centers around the children. "There's an acceptance of the children by the adults," Maier said, something rare in this country.

The youngsters ate Japanese food — heavy on raw fish — and thrived on it.

Japanese home life is becoming more westernized, Maier said, with many houses now a mixture of Japanese and western styles.

Most of the youths were given the best bedroom, sleeping on tatami mats on the floor — while the rest of the family often slept in western style beds.

Western plumbing has made only scanty inroads, Scott said, but on the other hand none of the group had any personal experience with Japan's famed communal bathing.

Most patrons at the communal baths, Scott said, are the men of the family, who go there in the evening much as an Englishman goes to his pub.

The youths were impressed by the great density of the population in Japan, and with the careful tending and care of every square foot of available land.

While trains and subways were jammed, they were fast, clean and invariably on time to the second, Maier said.

Do any of the boys want to go back to Japan? "We'd leave right now," Scott said, and the others nodded agreement.

The boys and their families got a chance to relive, if not revisit, Japan last night when they met at the Loch Lomond Yacht Club to compare experiences and look at a few thousand pictures and slides.

Johnson Likes New Portrait

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new portrait of President Johnson is finished and, unlike the one he called "the ugliest thing I ever saw," Johnson likes it.

The portrait of a drawn, standing president that drew Johnson's ire was painted by Peter Hurd. It was rejected by the White House early in 1967.

The new portrait, which was announced approved yesterday, shows Johnson seated with the dome of the Capitol, where he was a congressman for 24 years, in the background.

The artist, Madam Elizabeth Shoumatoff of Locust Valley, Long Island, N.Y., began work in late April and completed the 31-by 26-inch canvas in late July after seven sittings.

Panel To Discuss Disarm Policy

Changes in police technique in Marin, as proposed by Charles Warren Callister of Tiburon, will be discussed from 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow on the KTIM Sounding Board.

Callister, who has called for disarmament of local policemen, will be on the panel, along with Mrs. Bella Aaron, vice chairman of the Marin County Human Rights Commission and chairman of its police-community relations committee; Alan E. Regan of Tiburon; and Sanford Anixter of Belvedere, a volunteer in the Marin sheriff's department.

Questions will be accepted during the broadcast tomorrow. The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated by tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Innocent Plea

Donald Ray Spears, 21, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of forgery Aug. 30 in San Rafael. Preliminary hearing was set for 1:30 p.m. Sept. 26.

Jury Tentatively Set In Dual Murder Trial

SAN JOSE (AP)—A jury of eight men and four women has been tentatively seated in the murder trial of Leonard Maine and Thomas Braun.

Each side has used only 13 of its 30 peremptory challenges and selection of a panel was far from complete.

Two men and a woman who said they had preconceived ideas involving the defendants, were dismissed for cause as the trial resumed yesterday following a recess.

The jury selection had been interrupted after a defense attorney, John Poulos, broke a leg while deer hunting on the Labor Day weekend.

Maine and Braun, both 20 and from Ritzville, Wash., are accused of killing Timothy Luce, 17, on Aug. 21, 1967 near Ukiah. They also are charged with raping, kidnaping and attempting to murder his girl friend, Susan Bartolomei, now 18.

The trial was moved here on a change of venue when the state Supreme Court held the defendants couldn't get a fair trial in Mendocino County.

Athletics Sessions Set

A wide range of athletic instruction will be offered to youngsters in grades four through eight by Redwood High School on Saturday mornings again this year, according to Richard Hart, director of recreation.

Registration will take place from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday in the high school gym.

Classes being offered include tennis, swimming, team sports, golf, gymnastics, badminton, tumbling, trampoline and folk dancing.

People who know their apples are calling California apples "ugly." It's all part of a conspiracy started by apple lovers. In fact they're crazy about the juicy flavor of our apples. Crazy enough to call them "ugly." And that's pretty smart. Especially when they move out of the market so fast.

PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE

Deputy Striving To Narrow Gap In Community Relations

By JOANNE GRANT
(Second of two articles)

The formidable wall between police and people has had a few flakes knocked away in Marin City.

Slowly, tenaciously chipping away at the barricade is William J. Dews, Marin sheriff's deputy assigned full time to police-community relations.

Dews donned street clothes and started walking when he took the people-to-people assignment March 1, 1967.

There was suspicion and misunderstanding at first — Dews had been a regular deputy in Marin City for more than three years and people were accustomed to seeing him in uniform in a patrol car.

They were puzzled when he began making frequent visits to public gathering places, stopping to talk on the street and attending meetings of local organizations.

Those still are part of his self-selected duties. He also is available for answering questions, as a friendly chaperone for teen dances, as a job finder and as a friend.

The 34-year-old father of six is especially interested in young people and frequently works with them, both on and off duty.

Currently, his free time project is negotiation with a San Francisco labor union to find jobs.

"When I started, the kids had just sort of been abandoned. People would take them so far and then stop," Dews said as he described his work with young people.

Marin City Residents generally agree that Dews is doing a good job.

But just as many agreee that the real question is what effect this has on how they feel about other officers.

"One man is not going to change the feeling of the community toward police — there is very real prejudice among some of the officers," one resident explained.

Dews assignment does include training other officers in community relations, but as one Marin Citian wondered, "What kind of a committment do his fellow officers have?"

"They must be more than just trained," said Bella Aaron, chairman of the Police-Community Relations Committee of the Human Rights Commission.

Dews was trained in the community relations section of the Can Francisco Police Department and spent time in other Bay Area departments to study their methods.

He is continuing his training in special meetings sponsored by the Northern California Police-Community Relations Association.

After he attends the periodic sessions, he passes on what he has learned to other members of the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos is pleased with the work of the one-man community relations bureau and is warm in his praise of Dews. "He has done an outstanding job," Mountanos said.

However, the sheriff realizes that one man can't do it all. The first step he would like to take is to add a man to the bureau, hopefully by January if the board of supervisors approves.

Both Mountanos and Dews hope a separate office can be established in Marin City, away from the sheriff's substation, to give residents an even easier feeling about contacting Dews.

Several cities in Marin County have discussed community relations within their police departments, but only Sausalito has a man specifically assigned.

He is Capt. James D. Wright, who serves as police-community relations officer in addition to his regular duties with the police department.

Wright was assigned to the post about 18 months ago and is a charter member of the Northern California Police-Community Relations Association.

Playing Field

The Gallinas Village Community Services District board will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at McPhail School, Santa Venetia, to plan for other uses of the Adrian-Rosal playing field. The group will consider changing the field from its baseball orientation to quieter types of activities.

Extra Flood Funding Gets Another Veto

The Larkspur Chamber of Commerce voted yesterday to oppose changes in the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control project estimated to cost an additional $100,000 unless Kent Woodlands residents are willing to pay for them.

Residents of Kent Woodlands have asked, instead of the original plan of cementing Tamalpais Creek, that an underground drainage system be installed under Woodland Avenue.

The Army Corps of Engineers, carrying out the multi-million dollar project, is agreeable to the change but has said that the additional cost will have to be paid locally.

The flood control advisory board has voted against having the expense borne by the flood control zone, which includes Larkspur, Corte Madera, Ross and unincorporated areas in Kentfield.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors last week was in favor of the change but made no decision as to where the money was coming from.

Spain now has a social security system.

Sausalito Underwater Acreage Is Sold

Sausalito Properties has sold the heart of its Sausalito waterfront holdings to Zacks, Inc. of Sausalito.

The deeds of trust for 4.4 acres of underwater property between Litho and Locust streets and Humboldt and Railroad avenues were recorded with the Marin County Recorder's Office late Friday afternoon.

Sausalito Properties still retains ownership of four underwater blocks between Litho and Napa streets, six blocks between Locust and Johnson streets and two blocks between Donahue Street and Railroad Avenue outboard of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor. The Sausalito Properties land is generally bounded by Bridgeway to the west and Railroad Avenue to the east.

The first parcel, one underwater block of 2.2 acres bounded by Litho, Locust, Donahue and Humboldt, has a fair market value listing in the Marin County Assessor's Office of $71,700, and a deed of trust for $142,000 was recorded.

The second parcel, also a 2.2-acre underwater block directly outboard of the first parcel, has a fair market value listing of $16,400, and a deed of trust for $30,000 was recorded.

No documentary transfer tax stamps were affixed to the deeds upon request of Zacks. (A deed of trust is a lien against property stating that money is owed on the property.)

The first parcel has a higher fair market value because it is partially filled, the assessors office said yesterday.

A quit claim to any rights or privileges to the property was also filed Friday by Sausalito Marine Corp. which has been leasing a portion from Sausalito Properties.

Sam Zakessian, president of Zacks, Inc., also owns several parcels of land along the Sausalito waterfront on Caledonia Street and Bridgeway, including one block between Turney and Pine streets where Zack's restaurant is located.

Sausalito Properties, headed by E. Elmore Hutchinson, Alexander M. Young and the late John Lord King, purchased the property in the early 1960s with plans to fill and develop it into a commercial residential area of waterfront hotels, motels apartments and shops.

The City of Sausalito turned down the plans in 1964 and enacted a moritorium on bay fill within the city limits to prevent the developers from filling the prime underwater area.

Since then the corporation officers have periodically threatened to sell off the property in bits and pieces if the city did not enact a development plan for the waterfront. However, this is the corporation's first actual sale of any of its waterfront land.

Representatives of Zacks, and Sausalito Properties, were unavailable today for comment on plans for the 4.4 acres.

Youth Held On Sale Of Drugs

David Eugene Smith, 18, of Mill Valley, was held in County Jail today in lieu of $1,000 bail after appearing in Marin Superior Court this morning to face four marijuana charges.

A bench warrant was issued for Smith after he failed to appear July 22 for trial.

Smith was ordered to stand trial Sept. 30, same date set for Robert Allen Gerard, 26, of Sausalito, charged with him in two of the offenses.

Woman Is Pulled From Truck's Path

An alert tow truck driver yesterday pulled a woman motorist from the path of an oncoming truck a moment before it smashed into the tow truck on the Richmond-San Rafael bridge.

The tow driver and the woman escaped with minor injuries but the accident at 8:30 a.m. shut down morning rush-hour traffic on the bridge for two hours as all three westbound lanes were blocked.

The accident was hatched when Mrs. Myrtle Moore, 54, of Oakland, stopped her car on the bridge with a flat tire. Tow truck driver Floyd Thomas Paige Jr., 23, of San Francisco, arrived a moment later.

The two were standing between the car and tow truck when Paige saw a tractor-trailer truck approaching and snatched Mrs. Moore from its path.

The tractor-trailer, driven by Max Blaine Farnsworth, 49, of Santa Rosa, hit the tow truck and then knocked Paige into the bridge railing, but Paige was able to run along the bridge to warn oncoming traffic.

Farnsworth's truck jackknifed across all three lanes of traffic. The rear wheels and axle were sheared off Paige's tow truck, which slowed its removal.

Paige and Mrs. Moore were treated for bruises at Brookside Hospital in San Pablo. Farnsworth was not hurt.

Novato Rules Lodge's Street Use Not Legal

Members of the Novato Moose Lodge and service vehicles to the lodge may not use Hayden Drive in the future.

A petition from 18 residents along Hayden Drive which runs to the rear of the lodge, formerly the Hilltop restaurant, petitioned the city to stop the cabs and trucks from using that street.

The city staff reported last night to the Novato City Council that, according to a 1945 decision of the county planning commission, the building could not be served from Hayden Drive. It must be served from its private road off Lamont Avenue. City Clerk Clark M. Palmer Jr. said that the 1945 decision still holds.

The city informed the lodge to close off the entrance or the city would erect a barricade there and charge it to the lodge. The council agreed to wait until its Sept. 24 meeting to give the lodge time to act.

The Novato City Council Also:

CABLE — Approved transfer of the television cable franchise from Western California Telephone Co. to General Telephone and Electronics Co., Western's parent company. It also heard from Councilman M. G. (Babe) Silva that all telephone companies had been stopped from installing such service pending a jurisdiction decision by the Federal Communications Commission on who will control them.

VACATIONS — Protested the Marin County Board of Supervisors granting three-week vacations on one year of service. The council's decision was protested by L. Charles Smith of the Central Labor Council who had negotiated with the county for this vacation clause.

STUDY — Heard a report from City Mgr. J. Julian Baget that the application for federal funds for the downtown study would not be acted on until November.

SAFETY — Approved the agreement with the Novato Unified School District for the creation of a safety council and accepted the $200 from the safety committee toward the payment of a safety officer. It also heard that Mrs. Carolyn Crabtree had been named to the safety committee from the North Marin Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

RACIAL EQUALITY — On request of L. Charles Smith of the Novatans for Racial Equality, set Oct. 1 for a work session with that group and the Marin County Human Rights Commission to see if the Novato council could do anything in that field. Date of the meeting is subject to change if all parties cannot attend.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Leo Mindling from the city beautification committee and Harry Locke from the building codes advisory commission. Locke had protested that there were not enough licensed builders on the commission. The council ordered that a change be prepared for its Sept. 24 meeting, adding the duties of an appeal committee to those of the building codes advisory committee.

INITIATIVE — Went on record as opposing the Watson amendment on the Nov. 5 ballot, which would limit property tax to 1 per cent of the true value of the property.

BILLS — Approved the payment of $72,437 in bills and $64,350 in salaries.

CLERK — Named Mrs. Peggy Lehigh as acting city clerk after Baget leaves Friday. All other duties of the city manager are to be assumed by the council until it names an acting city manager or hires a new one.

Historical Society Speaker Announced

Dr. Albert Shumate, past president of the California Historical Society, will be the guest speaker at the Marin Historical Society's annual meeting in the San Rafael Improvement Club, Fifth and H streets, Sept. 18 at 8 p.m.

Dr. Shumate's subject will be "The George Gordon Story," based upon Gertrude Atherton's first fact-and-faction novel. His talk will be preceded by a brief business meeting and election of officers, said Frank Galli, president of the society.

Sixth Time This Year For Burglar

Riegger called sheriff's deputies Monday to report that, for the sixth time this year, burglars have entered his home and carried off expensive electronic equipment.

This time the take was a television, tape recorder and stereophonic turner, worth more than $600, he said. Entrance was made by prying open a window of the house, officers said.

Other burglaries reported by the sheriff today included:

The theft of a gun, television, camera, clothing and cigarette lighters from the houseboat of Grosvenor Farwell at Gate 5, outside Sausalito, sometime during the past three weeks.

The theft of tools worth $125 from John J. Kull's car, parked in his driveway at 125 Evergreen Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, during the Labor Day weekend. Kull reported the theft Monday.

Theft of $5 in change from Robert G. Johnson's home at 2502 Las Gallinas, Marinwood, sometime Monday. The thief pried a window, officers said.

Bureau Against Grape Boycott

The Marin County Farm Bureau agreed yesterday to try to offset the California grape boycott.

Members approved a committee to contact stores and other grape buyers in Marin to counteract the boycott.

Mrs. Lois Parks was named chairman of the committee and authorized to pick other members.

Station Turned Down Next To Library Site

By THERON A. NEWELL

The Novato City Council last night denied the application for a service station adjacent to the proposed Novato branch of the Marin County Library, but not before it made some barbed remarks about Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows.

Gerald G. Hoytt of Hoytt Enterprises, Richmond, who sold the library site to the county, asked for a service station on the northwest corner of Novato Boulevard and Seventh Street, adjacent to the library. This had been approved by the Novato Planning Commission by a 3-2 vote.

SMALL BOMB

Betty Machado, former candidate for the council, dropped a small bomb into the meeting when she produced a letter written by Barrows on Nov. 24, 1967, stating that four county officials agreed "that a service station would be wholly acceptable and compatible usage located adjacent to the branch library."

Councilman Douglas M. Merrill said he was surprised and upset over the letter.

"The statement is inappropriate because they are usurping our authority over land use," Merrill said.

SURPRISED

"I'm surprised" said Councilman J. Wayne Womack.

"I'm shocked," said Councilman Joseph Gargiulo.

"He (Barrows) distorted the picture."

"The letter was used for the purpose to mislead Hoytt," said Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva.

James F. McConnell of 653 McClay Road, who was chairman of the library site committee and also the library architect selection committee, said he had not seen the letter before yesterday. "It was obviously written as a means to negotiate the purchase of the site," he said.

In the letter, Barrows said that he had met with Supervisor William Gnoss, county librarian Virginia Keating and county right-of-way agent Robert Middagh to reach the decision that the service station would be acceptable. The letter also said that Hoytt could use the letter "in any way you see fit in any public discussions of the proposed development of the corner parcel."

Last night was the first time that the Novato City Council had heard of the letter. Asst. Planning Director Warren Baker said that the planning commission had knowledge of it when it considered the matter, but that it had not been passed on to the council.

The council also received nine letters of protest against the service station, including letters from the Novato Garden Club, Novato Book club and Novato Beautification Committee. It also received a petition against it with 10 signatures. Six persons spoke against it.

Councilman Womack was concerned that the other three corners of the intersection might also be used for service stations. He wondered what the city would eventually accept on that intersection.

The vote for the denial of the service station was 4-1 with Womack dissenting. Womack then moved that the city staff and planning commission work with Hoytt to see what could be put on that corner. That motion passed 5-0.

Case Continued

Preliminary hearing for Charles Ames Wright, 21, of Inverness, was continued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to 2 p.m. Dec. 5. Wright is charged with possession of marijuana Dec. 21 in Mill Valley.

Novato Gives Baget Plaque Of City Hall

A plaque of the Novato City Hall was presented to City Mgr. J. Julien Baget last night at the beginning of his last council meeting as manager of Novato.

Mayor Harley McAskill presented the plaque to Baget for his eight years of service as Novato's first city manager, serving from September 1960 to September 1968.

"This man will be darned difficult to replace," McAskill said.

Badget recalled how he had started his job in an empty bank building sitting on an apple box. "It was exciting to see the start of a new city and I hope you never lose the excitement of a new city," he said.

The plaque was a round painting by Novato artist Carl Rangell of the city hall mounted on a square of wood. The city hall was formerly the Presbyterian Church acquired while Baget was city manager.

Rangell included the mail box which is no longer there and omitted the new monument to Novato servicemen. He also placed it on the wrong street. On the street sign in front of the city hall, plain as can be, is written "Machin" which is a block away. "The city hall faces Sherman Avenue.

Plan Chief Is Hired For Novato

The 32-year-old man who is planning director for the City and County of Klamath Falls, Ore., last night was hired as the head of the planning department for the City of Novato.

He is Brian W. Mattson, who will take over the position on or before Oct. 15. He was appointed by City Mgr. J. Julien Baget as his last official act as city manager, following a closed meeting with the council. The appointment was unanimously ratified by the council. Mattson's salary will be $1,055 per month.

A native of Wisconsin, he holds a bachelor's degree in landscape architecture from Michigan State University. He has been associate planner and planning director for Yakima, Wash., planning director for Manitowoc, Wis., and in Klamath Falls where he went to work in March 1964.

He is married and has five children.

Novato has not had a planning director since it fired Mark Philip David last February.

Bill To Aid Recreation Derailed By Bureaucracy

What looked like a thoroughly innocuous bill—but one that could, in the long run, be of considerable benefit to Californians through providing new recreation areas—was introduced in the Legislature by State Sen. John F. McCarthy at behest of boards of supervisors of Marin and Napa counties.

It is a bit hard to understand Gov. Ronald Reagan's veto of the measure.

McCARTHY'S BILL (SB 559) provided that "recreational uses, such as walkways, pathways, access points and view areas, shall be given consideration in any flood control or water conservation program" undertaken by the state. It went on to say that "when engineering and economic features of the project make it practicable, adequate provisions shall be made for such public recreational uses."

It did not say the state would buy any extra land for recreation. It did not commit the state to spend any additional money for that purpose—although it opened the way to do so. It simply said recreational aspects of water and flood control projects should not be ignored.

THE BILL PASSED the Assembly 63 to 0 and the Senate 28 to 0—showing plainly enough that none of the legislators saw anything controversial in it.

The state Department of Water Resources and Department of Finance didn't like it, however. Their representatives opposed it in committee on the grounds that it represented potential additional costs to the state.

Their arguments made no impression on the legislators; but they apparently made a very strong impression on Governor Reagan—for he vetoed the bill.

Senator McCarthy has been urged to seek an over-ride of the veto during the current veto session of the Legislature. The unanimous votes of both houses for the measure would make this appear easy to do. However, so many other matters undone in the regular session are before the legislators now that overriding of any veto appears unlikely.

THE VETO POINTS UP two things: the difficulty of any sane approach to conservation and recreation, and the thwarting of the people—as expressed through their legislators—by bureaucracy.

At all levels from city councils right up to the federal government, proposals are presented almost constantly for costly acquisition of lands for recreation use. Some of them are pushed even when the recreational use of the land is minimal or questionable—the Franks Valley shoreline purchase for Mount Tamalpais State Park being a recent case in point.

Yet when an approach calling for inter-bureau cooperation to preserve or create recreational land at least cost is proposed, it gets vetoed.

THE GOVERNOR, of course, has the power of veto to offset partisan or extreme actions of the Legislature. But for him to use such power on a measure that passed both houses unanimously and that contains nothing partisan, spiteful or extreme is surprising. It may be that Governor Reagan places the wishes of his bureaucracies above the desires of the public or the Legislature. So it would seem in this case.

If he does, he had better inform himself anew on the role of government—and on his own role as governor.

Attorney General Clark Finds Self In Middle Of Conflict

WASHINGTON — Quiet-mannered, soft-spoken with only a trace of his Texas origins, that this man should be one of the targets on whom apostles of "law and order" rain hail and brimstone is a measure of how deep are the troubles of a troubled time. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has become a symbol for the whole spectrum — from the racists who follow George Wallace to the champions of Mayor Daley's police — of what is wrong with law enforcement in this country.

Richard M. Nixon devoted five paragraphs in his acceptance speech to proclaiming that he would bring in a new attorney general who would do the things essential to insure that "the wave of crime is not going to be the wave of the future." While it was not a direct attack, plainly by implication Clark had failed to do these things; and Nixon got a big hand from the Republicans at Miami Beach.

Clark himself seems somewhat surprised to find himself in the eye of the storm raging over law enforcement, charged with coddling criminals and fiddling as the lawless roam the streets with murder, rape and arson daily occurrences in every city. But holding stubbornly to his conviction that the processes of law must not be superseded by the passions of the moment he shows no signs of changing his ways.

THE KEY PIECE is Stokely Carmichael and the demand for his inflammatory revolutionary speeches in Hanoi, Havana and other Communist capitals.

The texts of those speeches are in the files of the FBI. Arrest Carmichael for inciting to riot, and conceivably a court of first jurisdiction would convict. The case would then go to the Supreme Court, where the conviction would almost certainly be thrown out under the First Amendment guarantee of freedom of speech.

That would, in turn, set off a new wave of hostility toward the high court. This is one of Clark's primary concerns. And here the drama centers on the confirmation of Abe Fortas to be chief justice of the United States. As the President's principal law officer, Clark is directly involved in this bitter controversy. Despite all signs to the contrary the Attorney General believes Fortas will be confirmed.

AT 40, the attorney general, embattled as few of his predecessors have been, has spent hundreds of hours on what has become a major objective — the police systems of the large cities and the prevention of riots. He frequently confers with police chiefs and mayors around the country, stressing the importance of trained, alert police who neither overact or underact in the prevention of riots.

One of the charges leveled against Clark is failing to prosecute organized crime, the syndicate, Cosa Nostra. In statistics released the other day he reported record indictments totaling 1,166 in organized crime cases in the fiscal year ending June 30. Of 210 known or suspected members of Cosa Nostra indicted or convicted during the past 13 years, 48 were indicted or convicted during the last fiscal year, according to Calrk's figures. Beefing up the organized crime section of Justice's criminal division began when Robert F. Kennedy became attorney general in 1961 and it has continued until today 70 lawyers are on the job.

The thicket of controversy is tangled for the quiet-spoken attorney general. He is determined not to become embroiled in the political campaign yet as the angry charges fly, he can hardly stand aloof.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Don't Knock Health Associations

I am not at all pleased with your editorial of Sept. 5, "Organization Explosion." This is one time in my life I wish I were a gifted writer so that I could express my deep hurt.

Thank the good Lord there are and have been national health organizations and local chapters to help all of us! The people who volunteer themselves to these groups do so with sincerity and strong purpose. They help to educate the public about many dreaded diseases and raise funds for research and help provide local clinics to those who are in need. I assume you have not had an opportunity to serve one of them, for if you had you would know it is not the easiest of tasks — it is not social — and you do not gain any personal prestige by doing it — you give of yourself unselfishly so that others can have a life!

Thanks to the Tuberculosis Association many lives have been saved that otherwise might not have known they were affected with TB. I was motherless at two because massive testing in those days was not possible as it is today.

You attack the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. Their members are as devoted as the other 11 major national health foundations. I am a member of this group because I care . . . It is not pleasant to see a tiny one starving and gasping for breath — looking out of a window to a world possibly they never will grow up in . . .

Organizations are plentiful, volunteers are so few who have a real purpose, don't knock them . . . Help us, please.

DOROTHY J. FRAUENS

Cystic Fibrosis Mention Resented

What you must have thought was a very clever editorial (Sept. 5) in protest to Marin's "organization explosion" only succeeded in making me see red. Although I cannot speak for the other groups cited, I do resent your tossing fund-raising charity organizations in alongside of hobbies and government commissions — especially the Marin chapter of Cystic Fibrosis.

. . . I would like to state that our small chapter is composed of busy housewives and career people who somehow find extra time to devote to furthering the cause against CF. Many are parents of CF children, which of course doubles their interest and desire for fruitful results in our efforts. . . .

Our purpose is to make the public more aware of just what CF is, how it can be detected, and finally to raise funds to find a cure. We are not covered or aided in any way by such well-known organizations as United Crusade, so it is solely up to us to distribute information and raise funds. . . .

For one, I am proud to be a member of an organization that feels "its mission is of an over-riding importance to mankind." Maybe our goal is not of that magnitude but if we can help just a few Marin kids afflicted with cystic fibrosis I would feel totally gratified.

Meals For Millions Still Needs Help

On behalf of the Marin Chapter of Meals For Millions, I'd like to thank you for your recent story of our efforts to aid the starving people of Biafra.

Because of your story, we have received and are still receiving many contributions. Thus more shipments of high protein multi purpose food are being delivered to Biafra.

Unfortunately, the situation there will remain critical for an indefinite period, so almost needless to say, further donations are desperately needed.

Does Sonoma Board Own Access Land?

Recently the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors refused to place on the November ballot a measure requiring the county to establish access corridors to publicly owned tidelands, although 11,500 signatures were obtained and only 6,300 were needed.

Do members of the board own the land adjoining the tidelands? Without access roads the tidelands will become private beaches. What can we do?

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Daley May Use Hearing To Put TV On Defensive

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

A public review of the "fairness doctrine" administered by the Federal Communications Commission is now being set up by the Senate communications subcommittee. Under that doctrine the FCC requires that broadcasters give fair treatment to all sides of controversial questions.

Commission spokesmen and network representatives have been tentatively scheduled to testify at the hearings. However, subcommittee chairman John O. Pastore, D-R.I., will not refuse if Mayor Daley asks to present his charges of unfair coverage.

"This man has been widely criticized. I think he should have a chance to make his case," says Pastore.

DALEY CONTENDS that the networks unfairly portrayed the actions of Chicago police in enforcing convention security measures and controlling young anti-war protestors who gathered in Chicago.

The subcommittee's hearings were originally aimed at another sort of televised violence — the murder and mayhem portrayed nightly in regular TV programs. That subject will still get attention in the hearings.

The scope of the inquiry was broadened, however, in the wake of the cconvention controversy, and an unpublicized incident played a part in that decision.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS — Congress, which is famous for spending freely while its members talk economy, has been in no hurry to extend the life of one agency which pours millions of dollars into the federal treasury every year.

The agency is the Renegotiation Board, which has power to review payments on certain government contracts and recover profits found to be excessive. The board has saved the taxpayers nearly $1 billion since 1951. A predecessor recovered about $11 billion from defense contractors in World War II.

A three-year extension for the powers of the board passed the House, but it is now bogged down in the legislative mill. The Senate Finance Committee has added irrelevant amendments with respect to the "dumping" of imports and international coffee prices.

The delay is nothing new. Extension bills have been delayed in the past by the behind-the-scenes efforts of big government suppliers who would like to eliminate the board's review process and avoid any loss of profits, however excessive.

The big contractors would be especially happy to see the Renegotiation Board die now, with government procurement programs inflated by the demands of the war in Vietnam.

State Proposes Milk Pooling Plan To End Discrimination

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — An extensive change in California's milk marketing program is being proposed by the state Department of Agriculture, which director Earl Coke says "could be most important since the first state-administered marketing programs began over 30 years ago."

Coke has announced that a proposed milk pooling plan has been mailed to producers of fluid mlik for their review and approval or disapproval.

The pooling plan, he said, is the culmination of nearly 10 years of effort on the part of dairy farm leaders to effectuate an equal system of marketing.

The department of agriculture was given authority to work out the plan by a measure enacted by the 1967 legislature, authored by Assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, D-Norwalk, who is a dairyman himself.

Hearings have been held for several months, and the current plan, director Coke said, is the fifth version to be considered. Ballots to producers have been mailed, and dairymen will have until Nov. 8 to file their votes.

Under the proposed plan, a single milk pool would be set up in California. Each dairy farmer would be allocated a specified quantity of milk to produce as his share of the class I fluid milk or cream market.

The allocation would be based on each dairyman's history of production and sales during the last six months of 1966, or during the calendar year of 1967, whichever the producer chose.

Objective of the plan is to bring about a more equitable system of usage and payment allocatinns to dairymen for their commercial sales of market milk.

Distributors now may choose from which producers they will obtain supplies of class I or market milk. The present system, it is contended, results in some producers not in the milk trust ring being required to sell the greater part of their product at a lesser price than Class I.

Should the pool be put into effect by the department of agriculture, every dairyman would have equal opportunity to sell his allocated proportion of Class I and market milk at the prices established by the department after hearings on pricing.

While the new plan has little, if anything to do with the retail price of milk the housewife pays, it at least might give some assurance of equity in the production end of the business.

Rising Costs Mitigate Against Efforts Of Poor

(Reprinted from Detroit Free Press)

The poor man who would like to be self-sufficient has a problem. Every time he reaches for the strap by which he can pull himself up to self-respect, society raises it a little higher and gives him all the more reason to remain dependent on the obvious dole.

Why should he struggle up to self-respect and self-support? We penalize his earnings. We raise the rent in public housing projects so that those who are deemed able to pay must pay more. We give free lunches to the poor child, but we charge the not-quite-poor child a steadily rising price for his lunch.

And then we sit in our self-righteous splendor and wonder why so many fall back into perpetual dependency. How unutterably blind we are! From the welfare program itself, to the public housing program, to the public schools and back again, we put obstacles in the way of initiative.

THIS, OF COURSE, is what the whole new wave of criticism of the welfare "system" is about. Every politician pays lip service to it, even if he ritualistically denounces anything smacking of a "guaranteed minimum income." But somehow we go on raising the barriers.

This is precisely what is happening now, in an effort to balance the budget of the city of Detroit's public housing program. Rents will go up an average of $10 a month. For perhaps one-third of the residents of public housing, this will simply mean that one government agency is paying another government agency more money. But what of the family that has increased its earnings enough that it is deemed able to pay its rent? Another brick is being mortared onto the top of the wall against its becoming self-sufficient.

IT IS IRONIC indeed that the federal government has now forced the Detroit Housing Commission to raise these rents. Balance the budget, huh? And increase the sense of dependency of more people in public housing, raise the cost of welfare support and drive the whole vicious spiral higher and higher.

It may be said that, since the federal government is the landllord, and since public housing is a subsidy anyhow, the change really means that those who can still pay will be less dependent now than before. But they will also be tempted to drop the effort and let the government bear the whole brunt.

They will, moreover, think less of themselves. And what you think of yourself has a great deal to do with whether you climb out of poverty and decide to look for something better than public housing anyhow.

Plan And Police Kept Traffic Unsnarled For Art Festival

One of Greyhound's buses was missing for two hours during last year's Sausalito Arts Festival when it got stuck in the molasses-slow flow of traffic on Bridgeway.

Cars were backed up from the San Francisco approach of the Golden Gate Bridge to the Sausalito Lateral.

Patterson came up with a plan:

Northbound traffic, entering from the Sausalito Lateral, was allowed to turn left up to and including Princess Street, but past that street could only turn right or continue through.

Traffic on San Carlos Avenue between Bulkley Avenue and Bridgeway was blocked off.

Between Napa and Johnson streets, Caledonia was one-way southbound and Bridgeway one-way northbound, leaving a lane on Bridgeway for buses and emergency vehicles to get through rapidly.

Free parking was provided at Martin Luther King School, with a shuttle bus available between the school and the festival.

Sausalito Police Chief Edward S. Kreins put 18 men, nine at a time, on traffic detail to implement the plan.

THE RESULT was the central section of Bridgeway remained relatively unclogged. Cars circled Bridgeway and Caledonia like they were in an Idlewild Airport holding pattern, peeling off from the stack to get to yacht harbors or continuing down to the school parking lot or out of Sausalito's northern exit.

Police said some cars circled several times before realizing what was going on.

Meantime, back in the hills, the foxy ones were merrily chasing each other over curvy streets and unpaved roads to find a way down to the festival, trying to avoid the "traffic problem" below and creating their own traffic problem in the process.

IF THE TRAFFIC jam wasn't bad, the people jam at the Bank of America parking lot on Bridgeway, where the festival was staged, was.

Booths were small, close together and aisles narrow. But there was one compensation: if you couldn't see the exhibits, you could see the people surrounding you, and many in boots and beads, headbands and miniscule skirts were as interesting as the art.

In the long run the traffic plan brought a few complaints from hill dwellers who had a slight problem getting to or from their residences.

And at the festival itself, the loud music got a return blast from Belvedere City Councilman Merritt K. Ruddock, who said the noise could be heard clear across the water.

But, other than that, things seemed to work out well.

Most people trying to get to the festival got there — 22,000 of them in fact.

Russ Find Excuse For Invasion -One Guess Where They Got It

WASHINGTON — It's hard to believe the Soviet Union would invade a country the size of Czechoslovakia without a decent cover story. Originally, if you recall, the Russians announced they were going into the country with other Warsaw Pact troops at the request of Czechoslovak leaders. But someone goofed, because when Russians were asked at the United Nations who the Czech leaders were, they couldn't come up with one name.

Then the Russians changed their story and said they were invading Czechoslovakia to prevent the Czechs from being overrun by the West Germans. When this one was sent up the flag pole and no one saluted, the Soviet finally said it had invaded Czechoslovakia to protect the Czechs from themselves.

FOR SOME REASON the world hasn't bought it, and so the Russians are still hard at work in the Kremlin trying to figure out a story that will justify their occupation.

I have the minutes of the last meeting of the "Central Committee in Charge of Invading Small Countries."

"Comrad Petrov, it has been three weeks now and we still haven't been able to explain what we're doing in Czechoslovakia."

"I am well aware of that, Comrade Stumpnitch, and I assure you everyone in the fiction division of the Soviet Writers' Union is working on it. As a matter of fact, I have just been given a plan by Boris Bognaski that I wish to submit to the committee."

"Proceed."

"BOGNASKI SUGGESTS we announce that the reason the Soviets invade Czechoslovakia was to scout the Czech Olympic team for the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City."

"You must be kidding, Petrov."

"I'm not. We should say that the Soviet soldiers manning the tanks are really Russian track men in disguise, who didn't want to call attention to the real purpose of their visit."

"That's the worst cover story we've heard so far, Petrov, and we've heard some pretty bad ones. Hasn't anyone been able to find one person in Prague who will say he asked us to come into the country?"

"We've found one."

"GREAT! THAT'S ALL we need is one. Who is he?"

"The Soviet ambassador to Czechoslovakia."

"Holy Lenin, what kind of a Kremlin do we have, if we can't even come up with a good excuse for invading a lousy little country like Czechosolvakia? What happens when we invade a big country?"

"Comrade Sorovensky, why couldn't we say we wnet into Czechoslovakia to prevent an American-Zionist-Maoist-Fascist-counterrevolutionary plot?"

"We have said, it, you idiot. But no one believes us. Even the Russian people don't believe us."

"To think there would ever be a credibility gap in the Soviet Union!"

"You're all a bunch of stupid hard-line Communists. Here we have 600,000 troops sitting in Czechoslovakia and no one knows what we're doing there."

"COULDN'T WE SAY we're there for rest and recreation?"

"No, we can't. Now let's start from the beginning. Why did we sent our troops in?"

"To preserve law and order."

"That's not bad. And why did they fire on the population?"

"That's not bad. And why did they fire on the population?"

"Because our soliders were provoked, spit on, cursed, and people threw rotten fish and beer cans on them from hotel windows."

"Of course. And we only used as much force as necessary to restore order."

"That's good. Now what about all the arrests we made?"

"We only arrested those people who, in the opinion of our troops, were disturbing the peace."

"Beautiful, Comrade Rushenko. Where did you get the idea?"

"From watching the Democratic national convention on television."

Daley's Report Called 'Dishonest, Incorrect'

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of antiwar demonstrations during the Democratic convention in Chicago have termed "dishonest and incorrect" Mayor Richard J. Daley's account of police action.

David Dellinger, chairman of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, a coalition of 100 antiwar groups, told newsmen yesterday: "I think the brutality that took place has been not adequately but partially documented in the press."

Mayor Daley has issued a 15,000-word report on the disorders defending police action and contending that "terrorists" deliberately provoked overreaction.

Dellinger said the committee had unsuccessfully sought for two months for permission from the Chicago authorities "for normal and orderly outlets for protests."

"One of our chief concerns is that our whole purpose is going to Chicago has dropped out of the picture," he said. "It is our position that what happened in Chicago goes on in Saigon all the time."

A characteristic of a police state, Dellinger said, "is to smear the victims after brutalizing them so its appears justified."

Appointee Sets Two Records

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—David J. Sanchez Jr. is not only the first Mexican - American to be named to San Francisco's Board of Education. At 29, he is also its youngest member in history.

Mayor Joseph Alioto appointed Sanchez yesterday.

Checks Strayed Or Stolen?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Postal inspectors are rechecking the route that should have been followed by a bag of Social Security checks worth about $250,000 that disappeared between San Francisco and Sacramento.

The 2,500 checks, ranging from $95 to $105 each, were mailed Aug. 30 from the Treasury Department office in San Francisco. Postal authorities are uncertain whether they were mis-routed or stolen.

Postal Inspector James V. P. Conway said yesterday, "I would hate to see the havoc that would result if it (the bag) was, in fact, stolen." He said the checks would be relatively easy for a professional forger to cash.

Hearing Date Set

Preliminary hearing for Richard Lawrence Boom, 24, of Petaluma, was continued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to 2 p.m. Oct. 8. He is charged with a July 1 burglary in San Rafael.

Government, Not Family, Authorizes Use Of Heart

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The use of an African woman's heart in South Africa's most recent transplant operation was authorized by the government, not by a member of her family, the medical superintendent at Groote Schuur Hospital says.

Dr. Jacobus Burger said that the identity of the woman, whose heart was transplanted into a white ex-policeman, was not known to the hospital and that consent for a post-mortem following her death Saturday came from the health department inspector of anatomy in Cape Town.

This, Burger said, gave him authority for the removal of tissue—the heart—from the body.

The operation was performed by the pioneer transplant team headed by Dr. Christiaan Barnard.

Burger's statement conflicted with that of Dr. B.M. Nel, head of the hospital's outpatient department. He said Monday that the woman's name was known to the hospital. When asked if this meant that her family's consent to the transplant was obtained, he replied, I don't know anything about the consent."

Bernard said yesterday that "nothing irregular was done" in his third transplant. The heart was put into the chest of Pieter Johannes Smith, 52.

Russian Tourists Arrive In Far North

MOSCOW (AP) — Three hundred Soviet tourists with a taste for ice sailed far into the Arctic Sea yesterday, setting "a record of sorts," Tass reported.

The Soviet news agency said the tourists, who reached Franz Josef Land, had arrived at the "northernmost point in the history of tourism." They visited there with the crew shooting the Soviet-Italian movie "Red Tent" on polar exploration.

Bridgeway Project To Traffic Expert

Preliminary drawings for Phase II of the widening of Bridgeway will be submitted to an expert traffic engineer, Sausalito councilmen decided last night.

Councilman Alexander R. Imlay initiated council action because: "It would be good to have a double check on the plans."

"I am still concerned that there is very little separation between the northbound lane and pedestrian traffic," he remarked. "Also there is a question whether the benches should be facing in or out."

Councilman George C. Hoffman joined in: "I think we could be vilified for putting those benches in not facing the view."

"I would like to have some expert advice on how high that center strip should be," added Councilman Jan Paul Dyk.

The council agreed unanimously to ask consulting traffic engineer D. Jackson Faustman of Sacramento to review the plans with the fee to come out of unallocated reserves.

Imlay also suggested that Mayor Earl F. Dunphy check a statement to be prepared by local group of the National Council for a Responsible Firearms Policy and, if he saw fit, to have the city of Sausalito join in sponsoring the statement favoring the Marin County gun control measure on the November ballot.

The council authorized the mayor to do so, since the filing date for arguments in connection with the November ballot is Monday, a day before the next council meeting.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

USE PERMIT — Approved application of Leo Krikorian for a conditional use permit for a work studio for sculpture, art and handicrafts at 1915 Bridgeway.

HEARING — Set a public hearing for Oct. 1 on a petition by Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) for several variances at the Valhalla Inn, 201 Bridgeway.

PLUMBING — Adopted the Uniform Plumbing Code of 1967 with minor changes.

NO PARKING — Asked the city attorney to draw up an ordinance establishing a no parking zone on the lower end of Glen Drive.

JAYWALKING — Introduced an ordinance that would prohibit jaywalking on Bridgeway between Princess and Johnson streets.

PARKING — Suggested that parking stalls in front of the 7/11 shopping center at 1905 Bridgeway be realigned in answer to a proposal by owners of the center to change the traffic pattern and parking plan in front.

TREE — Decided to retain a Monterey pine at Currey and Platt avenues and Monte Mar Drive whose roots had been encroaching on a sewer line and spend $250 to realign the sewer. Dunphy and Councilman Robin Sweeny voted against saving the tree.

TRESPASSING — Introduced an ordinance prohibiting certain trespassing on city property.

TOW-AWAY — Adopted an ordinance creating tow-away zones within existing no parking zones on Caledonia Street on the side of the Marin Theater.

HORSE TAXI—Asked the city manager to inform Robert Tokarsky and Klause Kment that the city does not want to grant a permit for horse-drawn carriage taxi service.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned in respect to the memory of Henry J. Meyer and W. Robert Miller.

Reorganization Of Panel Slated

The police community relations committee of the Human Rights Commission will meet at 8 p.m. today in Room 426 at the Civic Center for reorganization, chairman Bella Aaron announced.

"It's going to be a new committee made up of law officers and citizens, about half and half," said Mrs. Aaron.

She said the group will discuss such topics as police community training and policies on the use of firearms.

Jail Term Given On Theft Charge

Clara Jean Roberson, 28, of Oakland, was sentenced yesterday in Marin Superior Court to six months in county jail for petty theft with a prior conviction.

Miss Roberson was arrested during a theft and shooting incident in Sausalito July 30. Warren Wilson, 20, of Oakland, has been charged with armed robbery in the same case.

Landing Site For Bay Tour Boat Dunked

A public hearing was set for Oct. 1.

The Sausallito Planning Commission had approved 4-1 the request, an amendment of an earlier application which had been approved by the commission for a landing site on the sandspit north of the Spinnaker restaurant.

PLAN AMENDED

The application was amended when owners of the Spinnaker said they did not want the tour boats so close.

The company proposes to operate one round trip daily from San Francisco during the summer and "on call" service the rest of the year.

In granting the request, the planning commission had set up as conditions that there be no loudspeaker or amplification systems, that an identification sign be allowed but no advertising signs and that the permit be terminated if the Sausalito Yacht Club and the Trade Fair slip were removed.

But other aspects concerned councilmen and citizens.

"I don't think we should put it there unless we dump all our plans for an open water concept," said Councilman Jan Paul Dyk who led the attack. "I don't think we should bind ourselves to a downtown location. There must be other spots."

WALKING TOURISTS

Councilman Robin Sweeny added: "Maybe the tourists should walk a little further."

Mayor Earl F. Dunphy remarked: "I think we all agree we would just as soon have them come by boat as auto."

"I think it would add congestion and block the view," said Councilman George R. Hoffman.

Councilman Alexander R. Imlay pointed out "they do have the right to come, so says the Public Utilities Commission."

Speaking from the audience, William Gillespie, head of the Sausalito Yacht Club, said he preferred the landing site to be on the south side of the Trade Fair because of the small boat operations of the club.

Robert A. Van Blaricom of Tiburon, former commodore of the club, agreed, adding: "The view would be more open and also we hope to be able to put a breakwater on the north side of the Trade Fair some day."

Neither had appeared before the planning commission when the landing site was under discussion.

Mrs. Margaret Great of Sausalito said that a landing site on the north side, with children in small boats nearby, "would create a great safety hazard."

It was then the council unanimously voted to hold a public hearing.

Guilty Pleas In Burglaries

George Michael Stiltner, 21, of Kentfield, and Roger Wayne Ploof, 18, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to an assortment of charges, most of them stemming from burglaries last spring.

Ploof pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property May 27, and to burglaries March 27 in Kent Woodlands and in Paradise Cay.

Stiltner pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property May 27 and to possessing a check May 9 with intent to defraud.

Sentencing was set for Sept. 30.

Fortas Chief Justice Vote Due Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee agreed unanimously today to vote next Tuesday on President Johnson's nomination of Abe Fortas to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren.

The committee also, while awaiting word on whether Fortas will return for further questioning, decided to go ahead with further hearings on his nomination.

Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford will be invited to testify, committee members reported, and subpoenas will be issued for four other witnesses.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Warren Christopher advised the committee that Fortas had not been informed until this morning that some committee members wished to question him further.

Fortas is vacationing in Connecticut, but Christopher said that he was returning to Washington and would be here tonight.

Parties File For Ballot Place

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Peace and Freedom and Coalition parties have filed petitions with the secretary of state, bringing to five the number of parties seeking to be added to the state ballot for the November presidential election.

On the filing deadline Monday, the Courage party, backing former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace for president, and the Socialist Labor and Socialist Workers parties presented their petition signatures.

The two other groups mailed their signatures before midnight Monday and thus were accepted for examination, a spokesman for the secretary of state's office said yesterday. The petitions must be signed by 12,000 registered voters.

Double Life Saving Task

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP) — Chuck Havel saved the lives of two persons when he pulled Mrs. Gloydoth Pennington from her auto, submerged in the South Umpqua River, early Monday.

Mrs. Pennington, who is 17, gave birth to a daughter yesterday in Roseburg Hospital.

He revived her with artificial respiration, and state police took her to the hospital for treatment of a fractured collar bone.

Hospital officials said the 6-pound 9-ounce baby was one week overdue.

Prince Andrew Goes To Boarding School

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip are interrupting their summer holiday to take their 8-year-old son Prince Andrew to boarding school.

The royal couple will leave Thursday by train to enroll Andrew in Heatherdown Preparatory School, near Windsor Castle west of London. The queen and her husband will fly back to Scotland Friday.

Honeymoon Cruise Is A Disaster

Mr. and Mrs. James Burke of 8 Mooring Road were off the coast of Point Blanc in the Antioch area when, around midnight Friday in winds up to 45 knots, they nearly collided with the freighter. "We signaled SOS with our light and yelled at them with the bullhorn, to avoid a collision," Burke explained. The boat floundered as waves carried away the rudder.

Officers on the freigter notified the Coast Guard, but they were unable to attempt a rescue because of the wind. After floundering for several hours, the anchor parted and the boat rammed against rocks on a levy. Scrambling to safety on shore, the couple also rescued two cats, a rooster and a hen that were aboard.

Burke said he would attempt to salvage part of the boat, but felt it would be a complete loss. A Navy veteran of World War II and Korea, he is now serving as a merchant marine and is home on disability leave with an injury suffered in Vietnam.

Prison Guard Is Stabbed

Raymond R. Klein, 25, of 147 Piper Court, Fairfax, was treated at the prison hospital for a stab wound of the abdomen and transferred to Marin General Hospital in satisfactory condition.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Klein and some fellow officers had completed body searching Charles W. Evans, 22, convicted of second degree murder in Los Angeles, when he allegedly reached back into his cell and stabbed Klein with a sharpened bedspring.

Evans will be brought before the prison disciplinary board as the principal suspect in the assault. He is serving five years to life on the murder charge and six to 10 years on an assault with a deadly weapon conviction.

Hearing Slated In Attack Case

A 17-year-old Marin City youth charged with raping a 26-year-old hitchhiker in Sonoma County Thursday night is scheduled to appear in Sonoma County Juvenile Court Monday at 10 a.m., according to the Sonoma County district attorney's office.

Public Defender Marteen Miller's office will represent the Marin boy, currently held in Sonoma Juvenile Home.

A Portland, Ore., woman told Sonoma sheriff's officers that the boy picked her up near Sausalito, drove to a spot on the Petaluma-Valley Ford Road and raped her.

We save lives almost the same way.

With a safer windshield made by Libbey-Owens-Ford. It bulges on impact to cushion the shock. Available for replacement in all U.S. cars back through 1960.

Tough Task Ahead For Terra Linda Gridders

(First in a series on Marin County Athletic League football prospects.)

By GARY TISCHLER

For two years now and under two different head coaches, the Terra Linda Trojans have come up with a piece of the Marin County Athletic League football title.

The title formula has been fairly simple — a nucleus of experienced linemen that spearheaded a rock-hard, sharp-cracking defense and paved the way for do-the-job offenses.

The road to a third straight title sharing or even a shot at the top spot will be somewhat rocky this time round. That grand old nucleus simply isn't there, at least not in the quantity and experience of past seasons.

Only three starters return from last year's squad that rampaged through the MCAL season without giving up a touchdown and compiled an 8-1 over-all mark.

Nineteen players, eight of them lettermen with various amounts of experience, return but very few are linemen.

Strangely enough, Terra Linda coach Don Lucas, who produced a championship here in his first try at the helm, is reasonably optimistic, although he's not predicting a title. He's sort of staring into a very murky crystal ball.

"I don't know exactly how we'll do, but we'll be tough," he said. "We may not win it outright, but we'll have something to say about who does win it."

The Trojans lost all but the split ends off their 1968 offensive line and all of a superb front wall on defense, a list that includes such names as Bruce Kilby, Larry Collins, Greg Barker, Bill Saleme, Dane Larsen, Mike Skeen as well as offensive stars Rod Powell, Keith Stirling, Dave Edson and Mark Buckley.

The three returning starters are swift halfback Dan McGinnis; John Dohn, a very tough linebacker, and defensive halfback Ken Lazzarini.

Graduation was not the only factor in the Trojans' lack of veterans. Two fine backs are missing — Gary Trono, who chose not to come out for football and Gary Sager, who moved to New Jersey. Promising lineman Jim Smith is out with a knee injury and Ed Breeze, a 6-foot-1-inch, 190 pound tacklee, moved to San Francisco.

"We're really a young ballclub," Lucas said. "We have some kids who have played on undefeated jayvee or frosh teams who have a winning tradition. They're hitters. They'll pop. They have enthusiasm, and talent. But it's sort of a case of enthusiasm over realism right now."

Lucas is not exactly pushing the point but he has a couple of quarterbacks who can throw the ball, an unusual embarrassment of riches at ground-loving Terra Linda.

Jerry Goodrick, a 6-2, 180-pound senior squadsman who saw some impressive action last year and Tom Jackson, a talented sophomore are battling for the signal-calling job.

"I think they can probably throw as well as most quarterbacks in the league. It's just a matter of experience," Lucas said.

In a league that includes chuckers like Tamalpais' Don Mackin, Redwood's Jim Peters and Novato's Russ Dillon, that's saying a lot.

The backfield has punch with veterans like McGinnis, Dohn, who will also play fullback, Jack Mansur and Rich Pensebene.

Steve Boyd and Jack Dennis, both seniors with experience, will be at tight ends. Another veteran end is Dewey Forry, a 180-pound senior. Adding punch to the offense will be junior Steve McLain, who Lucas says is the closest back to a Stirling that the Trojans have.

"We may be passing a lot," Lucas said. "We may not. We will be more capable of doing it, if we have to."

The pick is from a slim corps of semi-experienced players and jayvees. The best may turn out to be veteran 6-0, 190-pound tackle Carl Hicks, guard Craig Christophson, and Garry Grossi as well as the likes of Jim Barker, brother of Greg, a solid.

WE DREAM OF GENIE—The Terra Linda Trojans, defending co-champions of the Marin County Athletic League, get in solid shape as they try for a third straight piece of the title by working out on the Excer-Genies during a pre-season practice session at Terra Linda High School.

Motorcycle Course Is Fast Success

SPORTS IN SHORTS . . .

Zoom-zoom. Beep-beep. Marin Motorcycle Association's public course in safe and sane handling of the motorized two-wheelers, scheduled to start Sept. 22, has gone over with a bang, and I don't mean a backfire. In the first 24 hours after the announcement appeared in the I-J last week, some 60 men, women and children enrolled in the classes — ranging in ages from 12 to 44 years. Most enrollees were teeners, but there were about a half dozen women and several men. Congrats to the MMA for a service long overdue in Marin. And now, gangway while I don my leather jacket, golden earrings, mount my trusty Yamaha 100 and go roaring off in a cloud of dust.

APPARENTLY FED up to here with the failures of the 49ers, several pro football filberts hereabouts have switched allegiance and called this department requesting ticket and transportation information about the champeen Oakland Raiders.

A Raiders Boosters Club

Yes, Virginia, there is a Raiders Boosters Club in Marin County with headquarters at Wiltshire Towers in San Rafael. Shaun Wiltshire is working in conjunction with the Raiders' public relations department and has planned several junkets to the Oakland Coliseum aboard his scarlet red, double-decker London bus. Contact Shaun or Mrs. Robinson at the Towers for reservations.

THERE WERE a few local angles in last weekend's relay swim from the Farallon Islands to Aquatic Park between the Dolphins Club and South End Rowing Club.

Army Lt. Col. Stewart Evans of Santa Venetia, the only person ever to swim solo from the Farallones to the mainland, led the Dolphins to their convincing victory. Norm Petersen of Fairfax swam the anchor leg for the South Enders but was forced by the swift waters to quit at the Golden Gate Bridge. He was fit to be tide.

From Mat To Swimming Pool

Coach and manager of the South Enders was big Tom Rice of Kentfield, the former pro wrestler who has turned to distance swimming for kicks.

I DON'T know what Coach Muster has up his sleeve at San Rafael High this football season, but apparently he has high hopes for his Bulldogs. Else who would Muster schedule a November game against San Francisco's perennially-powerful St. Ignatius High?

As S.I. coach Vince Trigali puts it: "Frankly, I get worried whenever an out-of-town coach calls me to schedule a game. With our winning reputation, schools love to knock us off and they don't schedule us unless they feel they have a real good chance. I'd like to know what Muster's got over there at San Rafael."

Quite A Gate Attraction

Besides the chance for a prestigious upset, schools like to play S.I. for the gate attraction. Last year, for example, Drake-S.I. drew 5,000 at Kentfield which ain't bad for a practice game.

If these booboos were fact, UCLA would have the best of it. Simpson still has a year of eligibility while Beban has been graduated.

Pros Rap Tennis Rules

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI)—The U.S. Pro Tennis Championships — probably the "longest" tournament in history — was finally completed yesterday.

But the pros spent more time complaining about the money won by "registered" players in the U.S. Open at Forest Hills last week than in talking about the windup of the tourney at Longwood Cricket Club which was rained out short of completion last June.

NO AMATEURS

There were no amateurs, registered or otherwise, in evidence as Rod Laver won his fourth U.S. professional crown in five years and Tony Roche climbed into the third place in the final standings yesterday.

But although they had the last of the $32,000 in prize money to themselves, winners Laver and Roche and losers John Newcombe and Cliff Drysdale were still seething from their losses, both tennis and financial, in the U.S. Open at Forest Hills.

"It's ridiculous, that's all it is," Laver said after pocketing the last of the $8,000 first prize in the one-day tournament wrapup.

Newcombe, beaten 6-4, 6-4, 9-7 by Laver in the Longwood title match, agreed with the veteran pro and added a warning that the professionals might pass up future open tournaments unless the financial difference between the pro and the amateur was clarified. But all four players who wound up the New England Merchants National Bank's annual championship insisted they would play in the Los Angeles Open starting next weekend.

At Forest Hills, N.Y., Stan Smith and Bob Lutz, both of Pasadena, whipped singles champ Arthur Ashe and pro Andres Gimeno of Spain, 11-9, 6-1, 7-5 for the U.S. Doubles crown, winding up the U.S. Open Tennis Tournament.

Giants Send Juan Out For No. 26

ATLANTA (UPI)—The word is that the St. Louis Cardinals are 8-5 favorites in the World Series but they still must handle the slight detail of cinching the National League pennant.

Their "magic number" remained hanging at six today after they bowed to the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-0, last night while the San Francisco Giants were beating Atlanta, 4-2.

As a result, the Giants trailed the Cards by 10½ games today with 15 to play on the Cardinals' slate. Any combiination of St. Louis wins and Giant losses which add up to six will mean that the Cards have won the flag and the Giants are out of it.

But while St. Louis was bowing to Los Angeles for the second straight time, the Giants downed Atlanta on the strength of Willie McCovey's three run homer. "Stretch" unloaded with two aboard for his 33rd of the season in the third inning at the expense of rookie Al Santorini who was making his first major league start.

Lefty Mike McCormick, taking over for Bob Bolin in the third after the tall righthander was dazed by a line drive off the bat of Felipe Alou, allowed only a pair of singles in the 6⅓ innings worked as he lifted his season mark to 11-14.

Juan Marichal (25-7), whose chances of winning 30 have virtually vanished, goes after 26 tonight when he faces the Braves' Pat Jarvis (15-9).

49ers Cut Two More Players

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—The San Francisco 49ers cut their seventh and eighth round draft picks yesterday to get down to the NFL 40-man squad limit.

These were flanker Leo Johnson from Tennessee State and defensive tackle Charlie Brown from Augustana.

The word from Baltimore still was that Johnny Unitas has a sore elbow so that ex-49er Earl Morrall or jack-of-all-trades Tom Matte could at least start in Sunday's opener. The 49er coaching staff says they'll believe it when they see it.

Tam Swim Meet This Weekend

The Tamalpais Swim Club "A" meet ill be held at Tamalpais High School Saturday and Sunday.

Battling for top team trophies in addition to the host team will be Marin County powerhouses like the Marin Swim Club and the San Rafael Swim Club as well as teams from outside the county including the San Francisco Parks and Recreation team, the Napa Seahawks and the Santa Rosa Neptunes.

Trials begin at 9 a.m. each morning. Admission is free.

A's To Wind Up Their Homestand

OAKLAND (UPI) — Ninth inning lightning nearly wrecked the Oakland Athletics again last night but Jack Aker rushed in for some clutch relief hurling to assure them a 5-3 win over Boston and the A's biggest number of triumphs in 16 long season.

Aker subdued the resurgent Red Sox for the Athletics' 75th victory of 1968. This is the most the club has won since 1952 when it collected 79 decisions as the Philadelphia Athletics under Manager Jimmy Dykes.

Aker hurled the last two-thirds of the ninth to help Lew Krausse notch his 10th decision of the year against as many setbacks.

Krausse was riding on a 5-1 lead going into the ninth. Then the Sox rallied for two runs. Before it was over, Aker moved in with one down after Krausse gave up singles to Carl Yastrzemski and Ken Harrelson, a walk and a run-scoring single by Russ Gibson.

George Scott's sacrifice fly off Aker scored Boston's third run of the contest but then right fielder Reggie Jackson made a shoestring catch of pinch hitter Dalton Jones' sinking liner to end it.

Soccer Playoffs Get Under Way

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The four division champions will be in action tonight as the North American Soccer League playoffs get under way.

The Cleveland Stokers, Lakes Division winners, will entertain the Atlanta Chiefs, Atlantic Division titlists, while the San Diego Toros who took Pacific Division honors, will play at Kansas City against the Gulf Division champion Spurs.

Cleveland will play at Atlanta Saturday afternoon in a nationally televised match (CBS) in the second game of the Eastern Conference series. Kansas City visits San Diego Monday night in the West.

Bright Predictions For Olympic Trackmen

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE (UPI) — Jim Hines had his birthday present today and an illuminating prediction for United States chances in the Olympic track and field competition next month.

"I predict the U.S. will finish one-two-three in the 100 meter dash," said Hines, moments after he had shaded friendly rivals Charlie Greene and Mel Pender in the classic century dash at the trials here yesterday. "We have a lot of power and I think we can do it."

Hines, darting out of the blocks through slanting shadows on the 7,377-foot high Echo Summit track, burst into a narrow lead after 60 meters and then hung on to nip Greene, who was clocked in 10.1 seconds. Pender, the Army captain who didn't think he had a chance, bested Ronnie Ray Smith, Clyde Glosson and Bill Hurd for third place, then collapsed on the track from a cramp.

"I knew I had to do my very best in a field such as that," said Pender. "And my best just barely was good enough. I'm real happy I made the Olympic team. This is a big thrill for me and caps my career."

Hines' time of 10 flat tied the recognized world record he shares with six others. Jim, Greene and Smith have a pending 9.9 mark achieved at the National AAU Championships last June.

Pender, Smith, Glosson and Hurd all were clocked in 10.2. Smith thus gained an alternate spot on the Olympic team and possiblle starting assignments at Mexico City in relays races.

Dave Maggard, whose competitive career comes to an end with the Mexico City games, finished second to George Woods and just ahead of world record holder Randy Matson in the shot put. Then the veteran campaigner predicted the U.S. also will make a sweep in the shot.

"I see no reason why we won't finish in the first three places," said Maggard, who already has been hired as an assistant track coach at the University of California. "On any given day, I think Randy, George and I could beat anyone in the world. We're all throwing very well now, and if we keep up the pace I look for us to sweep."

Coach Payton Jordan is as pleased as can be with the way the Yank team is shaping up.

"I think the boys have forgotten all about the altitude thing," said Jordan, "and now are really concentrating on doing the very best that they can. I honestly think we may take the best team ever to the Olympics this year. I'm really excited about all this."

The 100 and shot put were the only finals on yesterday's schedule. Today, though, there will be finals in the discus, 400 meter hurdles and the 800 meter run.

Redhead Blows His Top, But Only Temporarily

ATLANTA—A very ususual thing happened in Busch Memorial Stadium during the weekend series between the Giants and Cardinals. Red Schoendienst almost blew his top. Normally, Schoendienst is a smiling, easy-going redhead.

But when the Cardinals went for a double dip in the doubleheader that opened the series — a most unusual happening in itself since Bob Gibson pitched the first game — Schoendienst fumed. He was mad.

As one of the baseball writers who travel with the Cardinals said: "Redheads get mad, not angry, and Schoendienst was madder than I've ever seen him."

THERE WAS no mistaking the fact that Schoendienst was more than displeased at the way his world champs played. It was difficult to believe that Schoendienst was talking about the Cardinals when he said:

"If I wasn't with this club — if I was just sitting in the stands — I'd be sick. The way we played, it'd make anybody sick.

"And don't give me that stuff about the field being rough (the football Cardinals had just played a preseason game in Busch Stadium). I didn't see it was so rough for Hal Lanier."

LANIER MADE several spectacular plays during the series, one a game-saver for Juan Marichal on a backhand stop and throw from the deep shortstop hole that nipped Curt Flood, a real flyer, and cut off a couple of runs.

Schoendienst's indirect compliment to Lanier was meant as a rebuff for his own shortstop, Dal Maxvill, who messed up two double plays in the series. Schoendienst was so mad at Maxvill that he replaced him in the third game with Dick Schofield.

ACTUALLY, MAXVILL was in need of a rest. He was the only Cardinal who played in every game during the recent marathon test of the champs — 58 games in 56 days without a day off.

Schoendienst, of course, was aware of this. Nevertheless, the manager of the Cardinals couldn't let the sloppy play pass without comment. It's against his nature to tolerate sloppiness in silence. But usually his criticism is restrained.

This time it was caustic and he wanted the entire team to know he was mad. It's only a temporary madness that soon will turn to joy when the Cardinals put the clincher on their second successive National League pennant under the redhead's direction.

Raiders Open With 3-Game Road Trip

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders will leave Friday for the three-game road swing which opens the American Football League title defense.

Their first stop is at lightly regarded Buffalo where it now appears they will face ex-Raider Tommy Flores at quarterback for the Bills.

Jack Kemp is out for the season and young Don Darragh won the starting berth last Sunday against Boston. But Flores has been on the inactive list but is reported ready to go again.

They'll head for Texas soon after the Miami game to get ready for a battle with Houston in the Astrodome. This appears the toughest test for the Raiders of the three. Not only may the players be itching to get home by then, but Oakland has not played on the synthetic turf of the Astrodome and it presents special problems to teams not used to it.

While the right shoulder does dip lower than the left during the approach, the difference should not be great. If you are consistently bowling to the left, it may be because you're allowing your right shoulder to dip too low. Have someone check you in action.

Young Pitcher Throttles Reds

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Houston Astros have a curious attitude toward Don Wilson, who in two seasons has pitched a no-hitter, tied the major league record of 18 strikeouts in a nine-inning game and demonstrated that he can overpower the best hitters in baseball.

They think he'll be a dandy when he learns how to pitch.

A 6-foot, 3-inch, 205-pound native of Monroe, La., Wilson has a high-rising fast ball, a good slider, an even temperament and an erratic history of being either very good or very bad. All in all, it's not a bad record for a 23-year old righthander who bought a baseball during his rookie season so he could get it autographed by Willie Mays, Hank Aaron and other stars.

Wilson had another of his very good nights yesterday when he pitched a six-hitter and struck out 16 batters as the Astros beat the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 in the first game of a doubleheader. The Reds won the second game 4-3 on a bases-filed single by Alex Johnson with two out in the ninth inning.

Wilson, who pitched a no-hitter as a rookie against the Atlanta Braves on June 18, 1967 and struck out 18 Reds last July 14, fanned eight of the last 11 he faced last night in scoring his 13th victory against 14 losses. He was 10-9 last year.

Jose Herrera hit a two-run tie-breaking double in the fifth inning and Wilson got stronger in the late innings, capping his performance by striking out the side in the ninth. Johnny Bench homered for the Reds' first run in the second inning and singles by Tony Perez and Hal McRae and a wild pitch produced their second run in the fifth.

Johnson delivered his 12th-game-winning hit of the season in the ninth inning of the second game after Steve Shea filled the bases on two walks and a hit batsman. Clay Carroll was the winning pitcher after Mel Queen, making his first start since May 26, was tagged for homers by Jim Wynn, Doug Rader and Norm Miller during 7 1-3 innings.

The Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0, the San Francisco Giants beat the Braves 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs romped over the New York Mets 8-1 in other National League games. Philadelphia at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Bill Singer scattered nine hits and touched off a two-run rally in the third inning with a single to win his 11th game for the Dodgers, who beat the Cardinals for the second straight time. Steve Carlton failed to finish his fifth straight game and suffered his 11th loss against 12 wins. The shutout was the 163rd of the N.L. season — one short of the major league record set by the N.L. in 1908.

Billy Williams drove in six runs with three homers, giving him a record-tying five homers in two games, and raised his league-leading run batted in total to 94 in pacing the Cubs to their victory behind the eight-hit pitching of Bill Hands. Dick Selma suffered his ninth loss for the Mets.

Pro Football Experiment Proves Point

NEW YORK (AP) — Pro Football's Pressure Point Experiment has had its run—and proved its point.

There no longer is any doubt that it is easier to kick a conversion than add on a point-after-touchdown by passing or running from the two-yard line.

And by proving that point, the experiment has opened the door to a small controversy in which players, coaches and owners are beginning to line up for or against the rule, basically along similar lines.

ADDS EXCITEMENT

Those in favor of the rule feel it adds excitment to the game and is a device that will eliminate ties. Those opposed to the rule feel it adds danger to an already dangerous profession and that it cheapens the touchdown.

The rule was adopted by the American and National football leagues for use in inter-league exhibition games and abolished the traditional conversion kick, making it mandatory that teams either pass or run from the two-yard line to get their extra point.

The point was simple: The conversion kick was becoming too automatic, with AFL and NFL kickers succeeding about 98 per cent of the time, and consequently a dull play.

56.6 PER CENT

With the Pressure Point in use during the 23 exhibition games, there were 97 extra-point attempts by running or passing, 55 successful and 42 that failed—or 56.6 per cent made.

Breaking that down further: Of the 97 attempts, 62 were by passing and 35 by running, with the average for success just about the same. Of the passing attempts, 35 were successful, 27 failed—for 56.5 per cent. Of the running attempts, 20 were successful, 15 failed—for 57.1 per cent.

"I like it, from the standpoint it may eliminate tie games," says Houston Coach Wally Lemm, whose Oilers defeated New Orleans 24-23 by running for the winning point with time running out in the fourth period. "It makes the extra point more important. You have to work for it."

"MORE MONEY"

"They're going to have to do one of two things," says San Diego quarterback John Hadl, "either take this rule out or pay us more money. If you don't make it, someone will say it was a bad call or bad pass, which is fine if it's part of the job. But if it is, I want to get paid for it."

"It increases the value of a field goal compared to a touchdown," sayd Baltimore Coach Don Shula. "Under the present system, with the placekick almost automatic, a touchdown is worth seven points, and tops two field goals by one point. But under this rule half of your touchdowns figure to be six points and can be canceled out by two field goals."

EXTRA RISK

"It's just one extra risk of getting injured," says Kansas City running back Mike Garrett. "Running at the goal line is the toughest play of them all. Kicking for the point is much easier."

And that's where it all stands now. For the regular season, all experiments are off, with the AFL and NFL using their existing rules.

But there's little doubt that this experiment will get more laboratory time in the future. That's as certain as the conversion kick is automatic.

Stanford Gridder Suffers Injuries

His condition was not diagnosed immediately.

Countdown Reaches One For Arm-Weary McLain

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The countdown is now down to one for arm-weary Denny McLain, who sounds like he's tired but plays like he's worth the $100,000 he's going to demand this winter.

"I don't feel any pressure but I'm tired, very tired," the Detroit Tigers' ace righthander claimed last night.

But that was after he became the first 29-game winner in the major leagues since 1944 and moved to the threshold of becoming the first 30-game winner in the majors since 1934. And he tossed in a triple and two singles to back up his nine-hit pitching effort.

The California Angels were the victim as they were bombed 7-2 by the Tigers while McLain coasted to his triumph that boosted his record to 29-5. McLain goes for No. 30 in Detroit against Oakland in a nationally televised game Saturday afternoon.

"I was shocked," McLain admitted after he boomed a triple to the base of the wall at the 406-mark in the third inning and scored on Dick McAuliffe's single. McLain then cracked a bases-loaded, two-run single during the four-run fourth inning that knocked out loser Andy Messersmith.

McLain is usually a weak-hitting pitcher who's noted mainly for laying down sacrifice bunts—he has 15 this year. It was the first triple of his career and the first time he's collected three hits in one game.

Asked about the kind of salary he's going to ask for next season, McLain grinned, "I'll give you three guesses and you can start with six figures." If he gets the $100,000, it'll mean about a $70,000 raise.

McLain credited his "control" for his record. "Control and concentration are the big things with me. I don't think I've got an overpowering pitch," he said.

Manager Mayo Smith was impressed with McLain even though he was rocked for sixth innings homer by Rick Reichardt and Tom Satriano. "He did pretty well against these young Angels, he'll take a kid and eat him up." The victory moved Detroit 8 1-2 games ahead of rained out Baltimore.

McLain is the majors first 29-game winner since Hal Newhouser posted a 29-4 mark for Detroit in 1944. Dizzy Dean in 1934 was 30-7 for the last 30-victory season and that was a year the Tigers and Cardinals played in the World Series. The last American Leaguer to win 30 was Lefty Grove, who posted a 31-4 mark in 1931.

McLain has made 37 starts and completed 26 of them. He's 17-1 on the road and 12-4 at home. He struck out 12 and walked only one in his latest complete game.

McLain figures to get four more starts including Saturday's game and could hit 33-and only has to break even to reach 31.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York swept a doubleheader from Chicago 2-1 and 5-0, Cleveland topped Minnesota 6-2 and Oakland beat Boston 5-3. The Baltimore Washington game was rained out.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Only One Minor Change In Weather Warnings

There's a minor change in the wording of the Coast Guard's weather warning system—it went into effect March 1—that has many boaters confused. They tend to read much more into the change than is really there.

All that has happened is that the warning which used to be described as a "Whole Gale Warning" is now referred to as "Storm Warning." It is broadcast by radio, and the signals are hoisted near boating areas when winds of 54 mph or more are expected. All other terms in the weather warning system remain the same.

The reason for the change in terminology was that many people confused the "gale" and "while gale" warnings. So the archaic and confusing expression had been dropped.

These are the current weather warning signals now being used:

SMALL CRAFT: One red pennant displayed by day, or a red light over a white light at night. This signal is flown, or announced by radio, when winds as high as 33 knots, (38 mph) are forecast, and sea or lake conditions are considered dangerous to small pleasure craft in the area.

GALE WARNING: Two red pennants displayed by day or a white over a red light at night. This indicated winds from 34 to 47 knots (39 to 53 mph) forecast.

STORM WARNING: This was the one formerly called "Whole Gale Warning." The signal is one square red flag with a black center by day, or two red lights at night. It indicates that winds af 48 knots (54 mph) and above are forecast.

HURRICANE WARNING: This warning is broadcast and the signals flown only in connection with a tropical cyclone or hurricane and indicates wind velocities of 64 knots (72 mph) or more. The signal is two square red flags with black centers during the day and a white light between two red lights at night.

Q. I've been boating 40 years and never saw a storm warning signal anywhere. Where are they flown?

A. Points where the flags or lights are hoisted are usually Coast Guard establishments, municipal piers, marinas and yacht clubs. There are several thousand places around the coasts and lakes.

Q. Is it illegal to ignore the Coast Guard warnings?

A. No, they are just a service.

Q. I'm told thunderstorms can be forecast easily. Is this so?

A. There's no instant course in meterology or weather forecasting, but if you see a very rapid build-up of cumulus (white Fluffy) clouds to a great height, then the the top flattens out into an anvil shape, that's a thunderhead, and, under it, a thunderstorm is likely occuring.

Q. What is a line squall?

A. A line squall or squall line is a sort of string of thunderstorms occuring along an extensive front. For boaters it is an extremely dangerous weather phenomenon. When one is in sight, sailboats should be down to minimum sail to keep head into the wind, or preferably bare poles — with the engine running.

Q. What causes a tornado? Do they occur over lakes?

A. A tornado is another product of the thunderstorm formation — a rapid heating and rising of air. They do not form as such over a body of water, generally, but can most certainly out over water.

Marin Tars Pin 1968 Hopes On Tough Defensive Squad

By KIMO CAMPBELL

After about a week of practice, the 1968 College of Marin football team still resembles a car with strong brakes but balky accelerator.

The Tar's defense, which came on strong late last season as the Mariners racked up their best record ever, (8-1-1) should be almost as tough this fall. But the entire starting offense has departed, and Coach Dick Read has some tinkering to do before anything close to last fall's long-gaining attack can be expected.

Read was fairly happy with last Saturday's controlled scrimmage with Chabot College, saying, "We did some things well, but we also made a few mistakes." A stuttering offense is par for the course in the first weeks of practice, and the Marin mentor hopes to acheive some polish in another scrimmage tonight at College of Marin Stadium against Diablo Valley College starting about 7 o'clock.

Having lost some of the best ballcarriers and pass receivers in the school's history, Read must turn to freshmen and reserves for his year's attacking strength. Gone are halfback Tim Harr, now at the University of Utah; super end Honor Jackson, speedback Dean Lazzerini, record setting quarterback Bill Ingram and hard-running Dick Otis.

He is the only signal caller with experience, and the job is his to win or lose. Two newcomers are in contention, but most of Read's hopes rest with Sabuco. "He's got to come to the party," says Read. "If he's inconsistent, we'll be the same way. He's green, but improved — a really good kid, and he'll get better."

A mixed bag of running backs will line up behind Sabuco. Tim Garvin, a former Terra Linda star, is the best bet to lead the ground assault. A quick, elusive 170-pounder, Garvin rates just a little below Harr in the coach's estimation.

Power will come from Jim Finnegan, Marin Catholic's chunky star, and Mike Fowler of Tamalpais, both freshmen. Other runners are veterans Gary Dinkel and Mike Mazzoni and two of last year's Terra Linda standouts, Keith Stirling and Rod Powell. Like the rest of the offensive unit, the running back spots are up for grabs and any combination could start the opener at San Jose City College Sept. 21.

GOOD RECEIVERS

Receiving, while lacking the blazing abilities of Honor Jackson, should be better than respectable. Len Pieri returns at end, joined by Kenny Lampert, a 1965 player just out of the service, Bill Poole, switched from defense, and Sam Crowell, a 1966 all-star at San Rafael High who transferred to Marin from San Jose State.

The rebuilt offensive line will be shifted around a good deal, but currently lists Charley Keppel, frosh from Redwood, and Doug Guillion, who played at Washington of San Francisco, at guards, vet Trevor Benedict at center, with Chris Klyse, a 1967 all-star at San Rafael, and Ron Heidinger, off Novato's 1965 championship team, at tackles.

The defense looks promising, with tackles Tom Heacox and Rich Woodall back, as well as Bill Hickerson, who is both a superb linebacker and a fine placekicker. Charley Collins of San Rafael (200 pounds) and Dennis Quinn of Tam and USF are at ends, while Art Langhoff of Tam has looked good at line backer.

Another useful addition is Ben Smith (6-4, 268) who played at Washington of San Francisco. Smith is one of four players at or above the 250-pound level, and may turn out to be the best.

RETOOLED SECONDARY

Kark Stein, last year's All-Golden Valley cornerback, must anchor a retooled secondary. Jim Taylor, a Terra Linda alum, and veteran Mark Stemple are others who figure. There will doubtless be position shifts and some backs now on offense may end up knocking down passes instead of taking handoffs.

With a new, tougher league to play in, the fledgling Camino Norte Conference, the young Tars will have to learn fast, although they have a few weeks to learn against non-league foes before heading into the "for keeps" games. Read feels that his club "has a lot more depth this year, more usable players — and our first and second strings are a lot closer in ability — just how good that ability is, we don't know yet."

It seems to me . . .

by Lou Concilio

FLOCK GATHERING AIN'T EASY

I sometimes envy the hell-for-brimstone preacher who can spellbind a crowd and literally drive large groups to instant salvation. A mass production do-gooder, as it were. And, what a salesman! What a sales record he could achieve with a big ticket item! I envy him not for his trade, particularly, but for his ability to sell himself.

If one can sell himself, he can sell anything along with it as a sideline. The main item has to be self, though, because without it, his line of goods will attract only a few for only a brief while. A man with plain goods and a good self-sell will prosper more often and a lot longer than the guy with fancy wares and a hollow pitch.

In my case, I have discovered the most difficult task I face is the one of selling my line to my own people. To too many of my cohorts of very short acquaintance I am a bit unreal. I fit rather badly in pre-conceived molds. I am a maverick before the word became a TV series. I am all this, and yet, I seem to pop up and back, and people, in bunches, like me, and I like them in even bigger bunches and with probably greater fervor.

An automobile man, mold-type, is supposed to be cynical first, and world-wise second. He is committed to the hard-sell and the firm belief in the common denominator of "mooch" for everyone who responds to his come-on ads. He extends no credit to his employees because he scrapes too close to bottom to recruit them, and them that come to him know too well their great Messiah.

The moldy, mold-type reaches for the big gross, the maximum interest rate and the minimum after-sale service. To him repeat business means an uncomfortable period following a snack of radishes. He relies on the short memories of the well-stung and the long lines of the new arrivals into his trade area, and he can't be bothered cultivating the acres of diamonds in his own service department.

This grasper appears again and again, usually grinning broadly every ten minutes on your boob-tube, and pollutes whatever entertainment value that re-re-run might have held for you. He bellows, roars, smiles, and hides his horns, and lures enough of you to his lair, to keep him going for a time. The, suddenly, he disappears, and customers and bankers lick their wounded pocketbooks—and, suddenly, then, there is another one with another toothsome smile and a very familiar script to reach for you again.

My fellow workers do discover, eventually, I have no TV aspirations. They find, too, I really do not want to be the richest and the fastest on the block. That I get my kicks from the good words of people who remember me with kindly thoughts, and I get some kicks, too, from black figures on financial statements. And, I can enjoy both, 'cause they are not mutually exclusive. Good folks can't mind a guy making a buck as long as he doesn't make with 50 cents worth of service.

To so many people of Marin who know me, know I believe all this, and I make it work. To my associates and employees at my new dealership, Marin Dodge, this fact has become apparent. To any one, employee or Marin neighbor who still doubts, ask anyone who knows.

HOW TO PLAY

Comfortable Play Not Always Best For Awkward Situation

As we observed earlier in the week, life would be comfortable if you could always find a book bid to describe your hand.

The same observation holds true in the play of the cards: the most comfortable play will not always see you through an awkward situation.

LEADS KING

Los Angeles expert Paul Soloway led the king of clubs from the West hand against Billy Eisenberg's contract of four spades. See if you can pick the correct card for East to play at the first trick.

'BOOK' PLAY

The "book" play is the third-highest card (the five in this case). The fact that the deuce (lowest card) does not appear on the trick is supposed to encourage your partner to continue the suit. Then you play your second-highest card (the seven in this hand), and the fact that you have played first low and then high is supposed to discourage your partner from continuing.

UNFOUNDED SUSPICION

Don Krauss duly played the five of clubs at the first trick, but Soloway looked at the trick suspiciously. A club continuation would set up a trick for South if he had started with Q-6-2 of clubs. If South held the ace of hearts and Q-6-2 of clubs, only an immediate switch to hearts would preserve the defensive heart trick.

RAISED HEARTS

Remembering that his partner had raised hearts, West shifted to a low heart at the second trick. Eisenberg politely refrained from smiling as he ran three hearts to discard the losing club from dummy and thus made his contract.

East should play the seven of clubs at the first trick to make sure that his signal is readable. When West continues with the ace of clubs, East can afford to drop the queen. With two club tricks safely stashed away the defenders can relax and defeat the contract with a trump and a diamond.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ K 6 5 4 2
♡ A K 9

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. If your spades had better intermediate cards, such as K-10-9-4-2 you might open with one spade, but it would still be a borderline opening bid.

Enrollment Rise

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Enrollment in India's primary schools has jumped from 19,150,000 in 1951 to 51,500,000 in 1966, according to the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). By the end of a current five-year plan it is estimated that 91 per cent of India's 6-10 age group will be receiving education.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 11, the 225th day of 1968 with 111 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Saturn and Venus.

American short story writer O. Henry whose real name was William Porter was born Sept. 11, 1862.

On this day in history:

In 1963, all 18 persons aboard an Italian Airlines Viscount died when it crashed near New Delhi.

Power Of Mutual Funds Arouses Stock Watchdogs

By IRWIN FRANK
AP Business Editor

NEW YORK — An increase of about 80 per cent in the number of big block trades on the New York Stock Exchange has aroused the concern and interest of the President, the securities and Exchange Commission and a university professor.

The big blocks—exchanges of 10,000 shares or more—are traded as much as 50 or more times a day and can affect the price of one or more stocks. The stock market ticker carries to all parts of the country the information on the big trades—mostly by the institutional investors—and one stock goes up two points, another down one, up one-half, down two.

The extremely rapid turnover caused by the buy-sell, buy-sell activity of the mutual funds—one type of institutional power—has caused most market watchers to become anxious.

Early this year the report hit Wall Street that earnings of "Automatic" would be disappointing. The funds began a quick selloff, getting rid of about half their holdings.

In the first quarter of the year various funds sold 34,800 shares of "Automatic," 17,640 shares, 32,160, 108,152, 59,650, 98,652. There was some buying, but not enough to counter the effect of the dumping by the funds.

The funds, with billions of dollars in the market, have hit other companies and industries hard. Their power has caused government officials and Wall Street observers to grow more and more concerned. And as the power of the funds increase the concern has grown to such extent that three separate investigations have been launched or are planned. Probers will look into the power and effect not only of the mutual funds but also of all institutional investment organizations.

Mutual funds have attracted the most attention because of their almost fantastic growth and because of the nature of some of their operations. The funds have grown from $500 million 28 years ago to nearly $50 billion.

Many persons who watch the market are concerned that the institutions buy and sell in such large blocks that their actions—even though not collusive—can have a major effect on the stock prices.

Manuel F. Cohen, chairman of the SEC, said the stock exchange is "an auction market which was built to take care of random orders coming from all over the world in small numbers." He said it was not designed for funds which deal in 25,000 share lots.

One of the effects that will be studied is the action the funds have based on their acting on information made available to them by the same source—major research organizations that sell their services to large investors.

The funds are not content to sit back and watch their investment earn 6 per cent. Many are looking and trading for short-term gains, willing to jump in and out of a stock within weeks for a fast 20 per cent gain.

A survey of 171 of the largest funds for the first quarter of 1968 by Facts on the Funds, Inc., shows that funds held 30.5 per cent of the stock in Great Western Financial, 28.5 per cent of Control Data, 24 per cent of Burroughs Corp., 27 per cent of Collins Radio, and 30.1 per cent of Studebaker-Worthington.

Twenty or 40 funds may own the stock but they tend to act on the information provided to them by private research firms, information that is not made available to the small investor. If the funds decided to sell their stock in a particular company, they could have the same effect as they had on "Automatic."

The biggest question today on Wall Street, at the Securities and Exchange Commission and in the minds of small investors is: What are the institutions doing to the market?

The question takes on tremendous importance when it is realized that 24 million Americans hold stocks either directly or through funds.

The fact that these institutions—mutual funds, pensions, insurance companies, trusts, college endowments—own about 40 per cent of all stock on the New York Stock Exchange gives dimension to the situation that some observers consider disturbing. They ask:

Do mutual funds and other institutions, because of their great power and active trading, cause stock prices to be highly volatile?

Are the institutions, by their great concentration of wealth, making the price of some stocks rise and fall by their trading?

Is there a danger that the institutions can manipulate the market?

The President, Cohen, the U.S. Senate and the university professor propose to get the answers to all or some of these questions in investigations now under way or planned.

President Johnson on July 29 signed a resolution which authorizes a study of the impact on the securities market of large institutional investors. The authorization contemplates the expenditure of $875,000 on the study.

The growth in institutional investing has been a "dramatic phenomenon" that "requires very careful attention," Johnson said. "I hope the study will help us to nip any problem in the bud—to prevent any trouble before it starts."

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, takes the same position as the President. "I'm not saying (the activity of the funds) is wrong or harmful, but I believe we ought to study the impact of it," he says.

The SEC is holding hearings in Washington on fees charged by the major stock exchanges. Those hearings will go into the matter of mutual funds.

Do the institutions make the market?

"At particular times and in particular industries there is no doubt that the actions by the managers of institutional investors affects the market," Cohen says.

"It is less clear that their activities materially affect the market over the long run," he adds.

He is concerned that the tremendous appetite of the institutions for stock "may be out stripping the supply of securities which could have an affect on the market over the long turn.

"It is important to emphasize that even if there is some basis for this conclusion there can be no assurance that this activity will raise prices or that stock market prices will not go up and down, sometimes sharply, as they have in the past," Cohen said.

How big is the demand of the institutions for stock?

James C. McCullough, an economist with the investment counselling firm of Scudder, Stevens & Clark, points out that the institutions will buy $9.2 billion in stock this year while only $6.1 billion in new issues will be put on the market.

In 1973, McCullough says, the institutions will buy $15.3 billion in stock against a flow of $7.8 billion in new stock.

The full meaning of this, he says, is that the funds will be buying stock away from individuals.

The third probe is headed by Prof. Irwin Friend, an economist at University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School. Three professors of finance and economics began a study in June of the significance of mutual funds and other institutional pools of capital. This study will end in September 1969.

Robert W. Haack, president of the New York Stock Exchange, as far back as November of last year suggested that a study be conducted of the effect investing institutions have on the stock market.

Cohen said that just the "normal operations" of the funds "can affect the market and have affected the market in particular securities."

He said that "whether or not there is any attempt to act unlawfully, the mere existence of these people and their activities and the fact that these managers look over one another's shoulder—and there are services that make their living only in providing information on whatever everybody's doing—so that they move in concert almost, but not concert in the invidious sense."

Cohen's concern over managers of funds acting in the same way at the same time was put into colorful language by Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohu & Stetson. "When a couple of fund managers want to get out of the same stock at the same time, it's like the Green Bay line hitting a revolving door. There's nothing to do but stay out of the way and hope the door can be repaired."

Despite the argument over whether fund trading had an effect, there is no question at all about the increase in fund trading.

In the second quarter of 1968 there were 2,953 transactions on the New York exchange involving 10,000 shares or more. This is 1,303 more large block trades than in the similar quarter of 1967, or an increase within one year of 79 per cent in large block trades. There were only 399 big blocks traded in the last quarter of 1964.

These big block transactions accounted for 8.8 per cent of exchange volume in the second quarter compared to 6.4 per cent in the same quarter of 1967. In 1965, big block trades accounted for only 3 per cent of the exchange's volume.

The funds, according to calculations of Capital Gains Research Bureau, Inc., own $48.4 billion worth of stock and this is expected to increase to over $100 billion by 1975. The total value of stocks on the New York exchange is estimated at $621 billion.

INVESTING

Two Firms Tune To Tomorrow

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. For the past 20 years I have owner a corner grocery. Now at 50 I want to plan toward retiring. I have small amounts of Rowan Drilling and Delta Airlines, savings, adequate life insurance and a good income. What stocks should I purchase with $3,000 now available, plus $100 a month thereafter? — P.S.

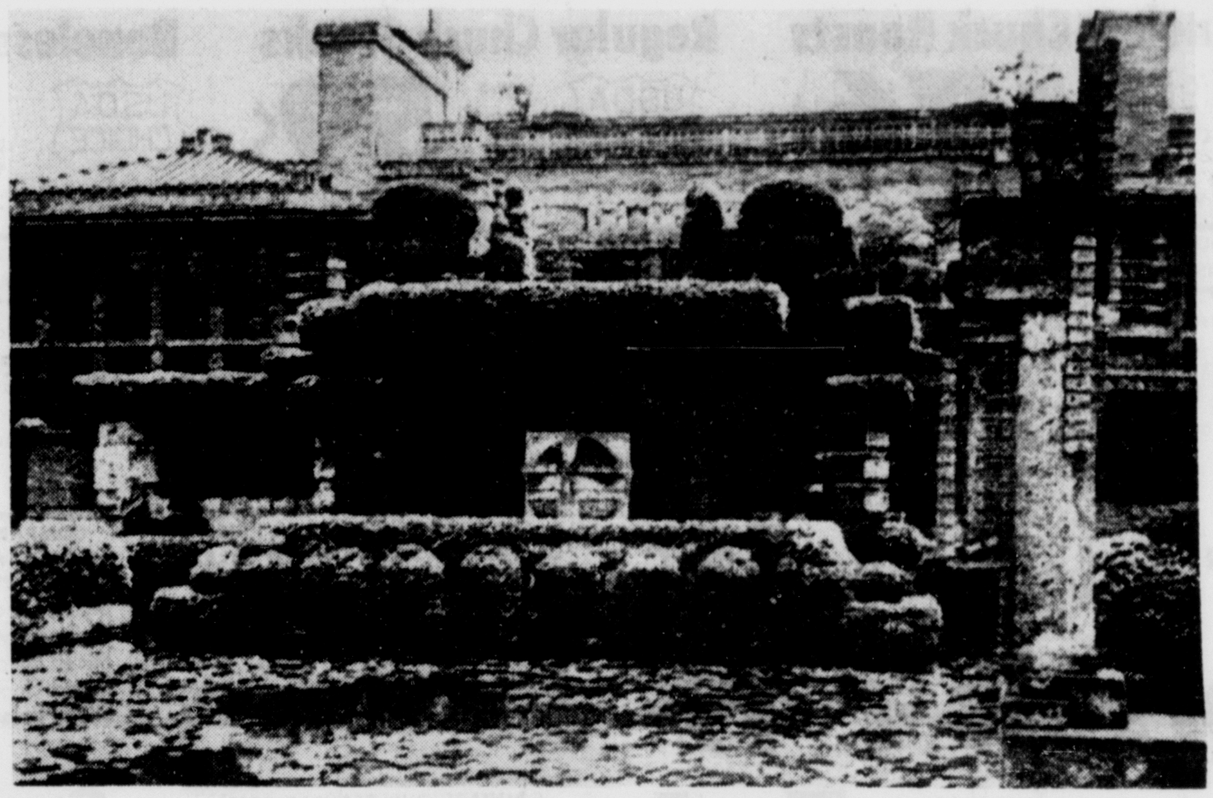
A. Initially let me comment on your present holdings. Rowan, in a joint venture, has begun a seismic survey of 85,000 acres in offshore Alaska, exploring for heavy minerals. Shares should be held on the basis of the general interest now centered on Alaska and its minerals. As a result of the CAB report on Trans Pacific routes, Delta's long-range outlook is somewhat clouded, but shares are a short-term hold on earnings recovery.

Cash now available should be divided among the stocks mentioned below with monthly purchases supplementing your initial investment. Dillingham Corp., which I have reviewed in more detail in the past, is technically oriented and psychologically attuned to ocean-related activities.

In view of this, the company stands to benefit from increasing interest and money being channeled in this area. KDI Corp. is another company tuned to the wavelengths of the future. Among its various areas of operation are air and water pollution control, environmental testing for defense and aerospace programs and academic, technical and physical education.

Q. I am 17 and have $500 to invest. I would like stocks with a good growth rate as I do not need income. Must I buy through my parents? — P.L.

A. Yes, until you are 21 your purchases will come under the Uniform Gift to Minors Act (or similar acts in three states). Your choice of goals is correct, and to implement your program Wang Laboratories would be a good choice. Earnings for its fiscal year ended June reached $1.05 a share from 52 cents in fiscal 1967. A recently introduced calculator can be programmed to perform problems requiring up to 640 steps.



TOKYO LANDMARK ON THE WAY OUT

A new Imperial Hotel, now under construction in Tokyo, will rank as the largest in the Orient when completed in 1970. The artist's conception (lower photo) shows the new 17-story $55 million building. The original Imperial Hotel (top) was designed by Frank Lloyd Wright and completed in 1923. The new and old Imperials will have a total of 1,600 rooms. (AP Wirephoto).

Companies Form Marcor Inc.

CHICAGO (BW) — Formation of a new corporation to be known as Marcor Inc. has been disclosed as Montgomery Ward and Container Corp. of America filed Marcor Inc. as the name of their proposed new parent corporation with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

If stockholders of both companies approve the affiliation based on the 1967 results — Montgomery Ward 1967 sales, $1.88 billion; Container Corp. 1967 sales, $463 million — Marcor would have a total sales volume of $2.35 billion.

Stockholders of both companies presently are to meet Oct. 31 to authorize transactions that will combine the two companies as wholly owned and autonomously managed subsidiaries of Marcor Inc.

World's First Solid-State Money Bill Changer Near

PALO ALTO (BW) — The world's first solid-state electronic currency changer capable of distinguishing between $1 and $5 bills and making correct change for either has been perfected by Micro-Magnetic Industries, Inc.

The new changer is designed for high-volume vending operations, such as employee lunch rooms in big plants and heavy-traffic public recreation facilities.

It employs a single bill validator that distinguishes between $1 and $5 bills automatically and returns correct change for either denomination. Change for a $5 bill includes $1 in coins and four $1 bills.

The machine can be set up to make change in virtually any combination of coins the operator desires.

The new changer's bill validating unit will not accept bills of any denomination other than $1 and $5, nor will it accept anything but authentic U. S. currency.

The validating unit makes a series of optical, mechanical and electronic checks of each bill inserted into the machine. The bill must pass the entire series of tests to be accepted. Tests are such that only authentic currency can satisfy all of them.

Stamps Firm To Buy Company

NEW YORK — Sperry and Hutchinson Co. and Western Girl, Inc., of San Francisco have announced that the two companies have reached an agreement in principal on a plan for the acquisition by S&H of the business of Western Girl and its afilliated companies for not less than 75,000 or more than 150,000 shares of S&H common stock.

The plan is subject to approval by the board of directors of S&H and to the execution of a definitive agreement satisfactory to both parties.

Housing Council Sees Major Building Slice

NEW YORK (BW)—In little more than a decade a dozen of North America's leading housing producers will be building nearly 7 per cent of the nation's new housing.

Nationally the housing industry has approximately 80,000 home builders.

This year the 12 council members will build and sell more than 25,000 units with sales of nearly $600 milion representing about 2 per cent of the nation's projected 1.4 million housing starts.

This is a 284 per cent increase in production and sales since 1960.

During the same eight-year period, the industry as a whole has fluctuated from no increase to a high 27 per cent when 1.6 million units were produced in 1963.

"This year members of the council project increases over 1967 ranging from 20 per cent to more than 100 per cent," said Richard M. Wasserman, a member of the council's board of directors.

"On an average, the members believe these projections could increase an additional 15 per cent were an adequate labor force available to build the housing. The entire industry, however anticipates little or no increase this year."

Stock Sale

ERIE, Pa. (BW) — American Sterilizer Co. has announced the filing of a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission for sale of 43,000 shares of common stock. AMSCO is the parent corporation of G. K. Turner Associates of Palo Alto.

Investment Fund Declares Dividend

Directors of Investment Indicators Fund, San Rafael-based mutual fund, have declared a dividend of 81.2 cents per share on the capital stock, payable Sept. 20 to shareholders of record Sept. 3.

The dividend, representing 76.9 cents per share accumulated net realized capital gains and 4.3 cents per share net income from investment for the fiscal year ended June 30, will be disbursed in cash, except to those shareholders who have instructed the fund to issue additional shares in lieu of cash.

Apartments Decision Is Postponed

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night deferred decision until Sept. 24 on a proposal to place two-story apartment structures on Warner Court.

Owner Steele Holman said he wants to add the structures to the rear of existing, one-level apartments on two lots now, but acknowledged he may propose similar additions for other lots on the court in the future.

Holman owns six of the eight lots on the street and said he is considering purchase of the other two.

City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner recommended the Sept. 24 public hearing on the proposal, saying Holman needs a variance because the existing structures constitute non-conforming uses.

Built before sideyard setbacks were required, their setbacks are less than five feet in some places, he said. Holman said plans for the new structures include the required sideyard space.

Buildings on adjacent streets are single-story, Hotchner said.

The commission also set public hearings Oct. 8 on a proposed street naming policy and a proposal to change the name of Meyer Service Road, annexed in 1967. The name is too similar to another city street — Meyer Road — Hotchner said. What is more, residents in the area list their street address as Redwood Highway. That is not satisfactory either, the planner said.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

ADDITION — Gave architectural approval for a 10,000-square-foot addition to Bergman Manufacturing Co. building at 632 Irwin Street on condition that the electronic specialty company provide more off-street parking for its employees.

WAREHOUSE — Granted architectural approval for a 12,700-square-foot office and warehouse building at 47 Paul Drive.

CARS — Renewed for five years a permit to Doug Dicker for use of land at 980 Francisco Boulevard as a used car lot and sales pavillion, on condition that he add 180 feet of curb and gutter in front of the land.

GIRLS — Agreed that a home at 614 C Street may be used as an office for the local Camp Fire Girls.

OFFICE — Approved use of a presently undeveloped lot at 117 Paul Drive for office space, once a building is constructed.

PERMIT — Renewed the permit of Martin Kirschenbaum for use of a building at 1353 Lincoln Avenue for office work and symposiums.

BILLIARDS — Recommended the city council renew the use permit for a billiard parlor at 509 Francisco Boulevard.

PARKING — Approved plans for parking area and storage building at 220 Shaver Street at the rear of the Pacific Telephone Co. building.

Joseph J. Garbarino and Carl S. Brown were absent.

Trophy Case Purchase Is Requested

Marinwood park and recreation commissioners last night asked the Marinwood Community Services District Board to consider purchase of a trophy cabinet to display the trophies won by the undefeated swim team, the Water Devils.

The commissioners, headed by Chairman Ralph E. Tischbern, also recommended that the board investigate the cost and feasibility of a footbridge across the creek between the tennis court area and Miller Creek School.

Recreation director William A. Gordon announced that more than 300 persons attended last Sunday's barbecue for the Water Devils undefeated champions of the Marin Swim League.

Outstanding swimmer awards went to Susan Marion and Robert Obermeyer and sportsmanship awards to Eve Obermeyer and Kevin Sindelar. Each member of the swim team received a gold championship ribbon. Mrs. E. A. Overmyer was general chairman of the barbecue.

The swim team will continue to meet on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 4 to 6 p.m. through September.

More Liberal Sign Policy In The Works

I-J Special Report

PETALUMA — The conviction last month of a former Novato resident for displaying political signs on his house has triggered an amendment liberalizing the City of Petaluma's sign ordinance.

The conviction of Eulon O. Stanley, however, is not affected by the amendment, City Atty. Edouard E. Robert said. "We have no ax to grind, but his conviction is up to the courts now," said Robert.

Stanley has appealed his local municipal court conviction.

He was given 90 days probation Aug. 28 by visiting Judge David R. Baty of Point Reyes Station.

He said the dogs may have been given hamburger which contained the poison between 4 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. He said a cat and a dog had died in the past three months under similar circumstances.

Hub Council Names Race Relations Unit

The San Anselmo City Council last night passed over most of the earlier applicants, including a Negro College of Marin student, and appointed a group of five Caucasians and two Negroes to its newly created committee for race relations.

The "miniboard" was created to assist the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

Appointed to the new board were Mrs. Virna Chrest, a housewife; Richard Kienst, bakery owner; Mary Hedin, College of Marin instructor and wife of a physician; Dr. Festus Adebonojo, Negro pediatrician; Lamar Hale, Negro Pacific Gas and Electric Co. employee; Edward Cunningham, San Rafael High School teacher, and Bishop William McDonald, pastor of St. Anselm's Chruch.

Only Mrs. Chrest and Cunningham had been among the nine applicants proposed at the Aug. 27 council meeting. One of the applicants at that time, College of Marin student Michael Pradia spoke heatedly of racial discrimination in San Anselmo.

In other action last night the council decided not to discuss gun control legislation because of the county-wide measure on the Nov. 5 ballot. Although four of the councilmen said they felt gun control should be at the federal or state level, Mayor Duane C. Ragan indicated he doesn't think such laws will be effective as criminals will not register guns.

"Whatever the people of San Anselmo want they will get, however," the mayor added, indicated the council will pass such legislation if the voters show approval.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

CULVERT — Approved an 18-inch culvert at Ivy Lane and Scenic Avenue requested by Robert Cary.

REGIONAL — Reiterated its position that a Bay Area regional organization should deal only with regional problems and should operate with existing taxes.

GUARD RAIL — Discussed a possible guard rail or culvert on the Miracel Mile and a fence on Center Boulevard and agreed to bring the matters up again on Sept. 17.

SIGNS — Postponed to Sept. 24 discussion of sign variances for service stations.

GARBAGE — Adopted higher garbage rates for the city with a 3-2 vote, Councilmen James F. Reed and Kenneth L. Anderson voting no.

STREETS — Set a public hearing at 8 p.m. Sept. 17 at Wade Thomas School on the proposed widening of Center and Sir Francis Drake boulevards and the revamping of the Hub.

Joyriding Brings 30 Days In Jail

George Hugh Arendt and Marc D. Crook, 20-year-old sailors from the aircraft carrier Coral Sea, have pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to charges of joyriding June 3 in a car owned by Donna Tennant of San Rafael.

Car theft charges against the two were dismissed. They were sentenced Thursday to 30 days in jail, with credit for time already served, and probation for 90 days. Each was ordered to make restitution of $37.50.

School Boards Official To Speak

Joseph M. Brooks, executive secretary of the California School Boards Association, will speak at tonight's meeting of the Dixie School District Board of Trustees.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the district office at 35 Trellis Drive, Terra Linda.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis said the speaker will discuss policies and practices of the California School Boards Association.

The superintendent will ask for a review of the district's $3,927,479 budget in the light of enrollment figures this term.

Other items on the agenda include calling for bids for four trailers to be used as speech therapy classrooms and a request for two additional teachers because of an expected pupil increase in grades six through eight.

Resignation Is Accepted

The resignation of Irene L. Busch, the only woman on the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission, was accepted last night by the city council.

Mayor Duane C. Ragan said that the council plans to replace Mrs. Busch with another woman, and that persons interested in serving on the commission should apply to city administrator-controller Alfred C. Kaeppel.

Mrs. Busch said in her letter of resignation that she is no longer able to devote sufficient time to the commission.

Unemployment Rate Reaches Low Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped to 3.5 per cent of the total labor force in August, touching a 17-year low for the fourth time in 1968, the Labor Department said today.

The number of jobless persons declined 450,000 to 2.8 million, nearly double the expected August drop.

"The unemployment rate once again equaled the Korean war-era low reached in January, April and May of this year," the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

At the same time, nonfarm payroll employment climbed 200,000 more than usual to an August high of 68.6 million. When farm workers and the self-employed are added, the nation's total of employed in August was 77.4 million.

The August job increases were largely in trade, service jobs and state and local governments.

The drop in unemployment, down from 3.7 per cent in July, largely reflected a drop in the number of women and teen-agers seeking jobs, the bureau said.
